THE CHINESE WORLD ORDER

Thirteen scholars from half a dozen countries examine the foreign relations of the Chinese empire before the present century, showing that Sinocentrism has had an abiding influence on China's political attitudes, and is a major force in explaining Peking's behavior today. Harvard East Asian Series, 32. $10.00

AGREEMENTS OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA, 1949-1967

A Calendar

This invaluable book presents a chronological listing of all reported agreements concluded by the People's Republic of China up to Sept. 30, 1967, and is the most complete listing of Communist Chinese agreements in print. Harvard Studies in East Asian Law, 3. $12.50

PARTY RIVALRY AND POLITICAL CHANGE IN TAISHŌ JAPAN

In a comprehensive analysis of the establishment of two-party politics in early 20th-century Japan, the author examines the politicians' tactical and policy objectives within the context of their own aims rather than in terms of their failure to fulfill democratic ideals. Harvard East Asian Series, 35. $6.95

THE ROAD FROM ISOLATION

The Campaign of the American Committee for Non-Participation in Japanese Aggression, 1938-1941

This history of the committee which campaigned for the removal of America's economic support of Japan presents a valuable study of the early stages of the evolution of American thought from isolationism to international involvement. *Harvard East Asian Monographs, 25. The Chinese Labor Movement 1919-1927

Jean Chesneaux. Translated from the French by H. M. Wright. This detailed history traces the course of the Chinese labor movement from the early years of the twentieth century to the destruction of the Shanghai Left by Chiang Kai-shek's forces in April 1927. It emphasizes sociological, economic, and demographic aspects of the movement. The author's aim is to supply a firm documentary basis for our knowledge of Chinese industrial and labor history up to 1927. Most of the documentation has never before been used, and the book has also benefited from material collected during the author's stay in the People's Republic of China in 1957. $15.00

Tales of Ise

LYRICAL EPISODES FROM TENTH-CENTURY JAPAN

Translated and with an Introduction by Helen Craig McCullough. This anonymous classic is the oldest and most important representative of a Japanese genre known as uta monogatari, a traditional literary form that foreshadowed what was perhaps the most important literary phenomenon of the Heian period, the flowering of true prose literature. Tales of Ise consists of more than 200 poems, each provided with a fictional prose setting. The poems deal with all the chief topics of Japanese court poetry and include all or most of the surviving works of a major poet, Ariwara Narihira (825-880), one of the great figures of Japanese literature. August. About $7.50

A Chinese Lineage Village: Sheung Shui

Hugh D. R. Baker. The lineage village, all of whose family heads bear the same surname and theoretically descend from the same ancestor, is a common type of community in South China. This detailed study focuses upon the effect of modern change, both internal and external, on the village of Sheung Shui in the New Territories region of Hong Kong. The village is viewed both as a self-contained unit and as a part of a wider society, as a kinship-ritual group and as a community. A lengthy geographical and historical introduction relates Sheung Shui to its environment and to other similar and dissimilar villages. $10.00

An Introduction to Japanese Court Poetry

Earl Miner. The poetry written by the Japanese imperial court between A.D. 550 and 1350 is one of the greatest literatures of the world. This volume is at once a condensation, a reorganization, and an extension (to A.D. 1500) of Japanese Court Poetry (1961) by the author and Robert H. Brower. The approach to the poems is essentially critical, and draws on the findings of recent Japanese scholarship. Cloth, $6.00; paper, $1.95

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF CHUANG TZU

TRANSLATED BY BURTON WATSON

As one of the two great Taoist texts, the Chuang Tzu holds an important place in the history of Chinese philosophical thought. Its mystic and poetic quality has always appealed to minds troubled and perplexed by the human condition. This new, unabridged translation by Burton Watson is a scholarly version that preserves the brilliant wit, paradox, and poetic quality of the original. Twentieth-century readers will welcome a new English version of this two-thousand-year-old classic.

Number LXXX in the Records of Civilization and one of the Translations from the Oriental Classics. $10.00

THE ROMANCE OF THE WESTERN CHAMBER (HSI HSIANG CHI)

TRANSLATED BY S. I. HSIUNG

For nearly eight centuries in China the play Hsi Hsiang Chi has delighted generation after generation of playgoers and readers. In four parts and a continuation, the drama relates the wooing and winning of the beautiful Ts'ui Ying-ying by the young scholar Chang Chün-ji. The trio of major characters is completed by Hung Niang, the quick-witted maid who acts as a go-between for the lovers.

This edition, reissued for the Columbia College Program of Translations from the Oriental Classics, contains a critical introduction by C. T. Hsia, and is illustrated with Yü-Wên-su's sixteenth-century copies of the original drawings by Chien Ku (Su-pao) of Chang Chow. cloth $10.00; paper $2.75

THE CLASSIC CHINESE NOVEL: A CRITICAL INTRODUCTION

C. T. HSIA

Six major Chinese novels are the subject of this evaluative study. In turn, Professor Hsia takes up The Romance of the Three Kingdoms (San-kuo chih yen-i, 14th century); The Water Margin, or All Men Are Brothers (Shui hu chuan, 14th century); Journey to the West, or Monkey (Hsi-yu-chi, 16th century); Chin P'ing Mei (The Golden Lotus, 16th century); The Scholars (Ju-lin wai-shih, 18th century); and Dream of the Red Chamber (Hung-lou meng, 18th century). The book also contains an Introduction by Professor Hsia, an extensive bibliography, and a glossary.

Catalogue of the SINGAPORE/MALAYSIA Collection

University of Singapore Library

This catalog represents approximately 7,500 cataloged items of material relating to the Malaysian and Singapore areas. It is particularly strong in source material tracing the various aspects of development of the Malayan States, Singapore and the Bornean regions (excluding Brunei and Indonesian Borneo) from their founding through the period of colonial government up to independence and after. Much of this source material consists of microfilmed items of public records, government documents, rare serials, newspapers and manuscripts. Titles are mostly in English and bear imprint dates from as early as 1596. The catalog is essentially a classified one, using the Library of Congress classification system. An alphabetical author sequence with cross-references to main entries has been created for its publication. Analytical entries are provided for book chapters, special issues of journals and individual conference papers.

Southeast Asia Collection, Yale University Library

There are at present over 3,800 serials dealing with Southeast Asia in the Yale Library system. This serials collection is notable for its holdings of government documents, society publications, and limited editions of materials published before 1945 in all languages. This checklist includes all serials which deal with Southeast Asia, printed as well as on microform, which have been cataloged before August 1966. Holdings cataloged after that date are given only for those serials housed in the main library.

Checklist by author or title, estimated 5,000 cards, and Index by country of origin, approximately 3,240 entries; 1 volume

CHRISTIANITY ENCOUNTERS JAPAN

by Joseph J. Spae

gr 8, 285 p., cloth, $6.00, available July 15, 1968, LC:68-25500

Dr Spae's new book is a sequel to his Christian Corridors to Japan. The author's method is interdisciplinary: sociology, japanology and theology combine toward a convincing description of Japan's religious climate with special emphasis upon Christianity's role within Japan's religious evolution. The work is based upon an abundance of primary source material and incorporates the latest bibliographical data on the subject of Christianity's encounter with Japan.

THE FORMATIVE PHASE, 1857-1948; SECOND EDITION

By KHALID B. SAYEED, Queen's University, Ontario; foreword by GEORGE CUNNINGHAM. This new edition of Professor Sayeed's classic political study of the forces that contributed to the making of Pakistan takes the story to 1948. Two chapters have been entirely rewritten, and the complete text has been brought up to date. Besides consulting previously unknown English and Urdu works, the author has had unique access to diaries, personal letters, and other written records, furnished to him by former governors, administrators, and cabinet ministers. Parts III and IV of the first edition will appear later, in revised form, as a separate book. $6.75

Malayan Federalism, 1945-1963

A STUDY OF FEDERAL PROBLEMS IN A PLURAL SOCIETY

By B. SIMANDJUNTAK, University of Sidney. The author examines the reasons for introducing federalism into Malaya, the working of that system up to 1963, and the problems posed by the plural society in its implementation. Different aspects of these problems are discussed: the fear of the Chinese and Malays that the educational system will destroy their language and culture; finance, economics, and citizenship; and the contending political parties. $6.40

Far Eastern Affairs

Edited by G. F. HUDSON, St. Antony's College, Oxford. The main emphasis of the work of St. Antony's College has been in the fields of modern history and international affairs. The college organizes a number of regular Seminars at which papers, produced by its members or by visiting experts from other institutions, are read. This series was started in order to preserve and present a selection of this work, and this volume of contributions includes seven papers on topics in Far Eastern Affairs from 1871 to 1954. The papers include: "Rumors of a Japanese-German Understanding during the First World War," "The Ideology of Socialist groups and parties in Japan since 1945," and "The Chinese People's Liberation Army and the Great Cultural Revolution." 2 halftones, 2 figures. THE IMPACT AND AFTERMATH OF COLONIAL RULE

By SIR RICHARD ALLEN, British Ambassador to Burma, 1956-1962. Although this book begins with the early history of Malaya, Singapore, and Indonesia, it concentrates on events after the defeat of Japan. Particular attention is paid to the formation of Malaya and its growth into Malaysia, the secession of Singapore, and Sukarno's campaign of confrontation and his subsequent downfall, relating these events to the wider context of Western interests and concerns. $8.80

Studies in the Institutional History of Early Modern Japan

EDITED BY JOHN W. HALL AND MARIUS B. JANSEN

This study contains 21 essays by leading historians on the Tokugawa Period (1600-1868), eight of which have never before been published. The papers show that in many institutional aspects Japan was far from backward before the Meiji Period, and that many of the pre-conditions of modernization were present and developing much earlier than has generally been believed.

The Congress Party of India The Dynamics of One-Party Democracy

STANLEY A. KOCHANЕК

By tracing the path of the Congress Party's development since Indian independence, Professor Kochanek demonstrates the reasons for its success. He focuses mainly on the development of the party at a national level and analyzes the nature and source of party support and leadership. A postscript to the book deals with the 1967 elections, which the author regards as a turning point in post-independence Indian politics.

VIETNAM: A Political History

By Joseph Buttinger

This long-needed compact history of Vietnam from earliest times to the present is a brilliant condensation of Mr. Buttinger's highly acclaimed The Smaller Dragon and his definitive two-volume Vietnam: A Dragon Embattled. Incisive and fact-filled, Vietnam: A Political History not only captures the panoramic sweep of the original trilogy, but goes a step further toward bringing understanding of the tangled issues at stake in that war-torn land today: An objective new critical analysis of "The Americanization of Vietnam"—from the fall of Diem to the brink of possible settlement in mid-1968—concludes this unmatched political history.

Arthur Schlesinger, Jr.

said of the two-volume history:

"No work available in English sketches with such clarity and authority the life of a tragic country and the background of a tragic war."
