

ROMAN SOCIETY

HUGH LAST AND DONALD ATKINSON FUNDS

Applications for grants are invited for financial assistance towards the undertaking, completion or publication of work that relates to any of the general scholarly purposes of the Roman Society, which are to promote the study of the history, archaeology, literature and art of Italy and the Roman Empire, from the earliest times down to about A.D. 700. In addition, postgraduate students may apply for small grants for visits to conferences and for other research expenses. Grants for the organisation of conferences, colloquia and symposia will be considered only in exceptional circumstances.

Applications, together with two references, should be made before 15 January and sent to the Secretary, Roman Society, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU. It is the responsibility of applicants to arrange for their references to reach the Society by the same date. Application forms may be obtained from the Secretary.

SCHOOLS COMMITTEE

The Society's Schools Committee makes grants to schools to help promote the teaching of Latin and Roman studies. Most of the grants are awarded for the purchase of textbooks and other books on Roman topics, but the Committee also makes awards to groups and schools organising lectures or study days on Roman themes. Applications from schools planning to start courses in Latin are particularly welcome.

The annual budget is c. £6,000, and the usual level of award is £50 to £350. The Committee meets three times a year. Applications should be sent to the Secretary, Roman Society, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU to arrive by 1 February, 1 July or 1 November in any year. There is no special application form, but applicants should provide information about the level of their departmental budget, the type of courses taught, and in the case of applications for books, a list of the books wanted with their prices.

REPRESENTATION OF THE SOCIETY ABROAD

The Council of the Society invites applications from members to attend a conference of a sister body in another country or to undertake a lecture tour as an official representative of the Society. The Society is willing to pay up to a maximum of £500 for a single conference or lecture tour, to help cover the travel costs. The delegate will be required to submit a report to Council on the state of Roman studies in the country concerned. Preference will be given to a delegate going to a country where the subject may benefit from the Society's representation.

Applications should be sent to the Secretary, at least six months before the conference or lecture tour, for approval by Council.

ARCHAEOLOGY COMMITTEE

The Archaeology Committee was formed in 1993. Its brief was to organise a regular conference to act 'as a forum where those interested in the archaeology of the Roman Empire and those more specifically concerned with Roman Britain' could come together. This initiative has led to a highly successful series of international, biennial conferences, the first four being held in the Universities of Reading, Nottingham, Durham and Glasgow respectively. The fifth will be in the University of Leicester from Thursday 3 to Sunday 6 April 2003; further details are available from Professor D.J. Mattingly or Dr S.T. James, School of Archaeological Studies, University of Leicester, University Road, Leicester LE1 7RH; e-mail: djm7@leicester.ac.uk or stj3@le.ac.uk ; fax 0116 252 5005.

The Committee also acts as a conduit through which the Society's advisory role in archaeological matters, as one of the national period societies, can be fulfilled. It considers reports and responds as appropriate.

The current members are: Dr I.P. Haynes (Chairman), Miss L. Allason-Jones (Secretary), Mr P.M. Booth, Mr R.J. Brewer, Miss A.J. Claridge, Dr J. Davies, Dr A.S. Esmonde Cleary, Dr H.E.M. Cool, Dr W.S. Hanson, Dr R.C. Hingley, Dr S. James, Dr P.C. Roberts, Dr S.A. Scott, Mr A.R. Wilmott and a representative of the Theoretical Roman Archaeology Conference.

HELLENIC AND ROMAN SOCIETIES SLIDES COLLECTION

The Slides Collection contains over 6,700 coloured 35 mm slides covering a wide variety of subjects, including sites on the Greek mainland, the Greek islands, Cyprus, Rome, Italy and the Roman Empire, Etruscan tomb paintings, Greek vases, Roman frescoes and mosaics, the Roman army, and Roman Britain. Slides of artefacts form a large part of the collection and include bronzes, jewellery and vases as well as maps, plans, models and reconstructions. A computerised subject index is available. A Greek Slide Catalogue is available at £7.50, a Roman Slide Catalogue at £6.50 or both for £12 (postage £1 extra for each catalogue).

Individual slides and sets with notes may be hired. Filmstrips are available for sale. Further details may be obtained from the Keeper of Slides or from the website: <http://www.sas.ac.uk/icls/library/slides.htm>.

Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU
President: Professor C.J. Rowe

The Society for the Promotion of Hellenic Studies, generally known as the Hellenic Society, was founded in 1879 to advance the study of Greek language, literature, history, art and archaeology in the Ancient, Byzantine and Modern periods. It has done this ever since by various means, chief among them being the annual publication of the Journal of Hellenic Studies and, since the 1950s, its supplement, Archaeological Reports. All members receive both these publications annually. Occasional monographs are published, the latest being Greek Scripts: an illustrated introduction, edd. P. Easterling and C. Handley (2001, 72 pp., numerous illus., paperback, ISBN 0 902984 17 9), available at £15/US$30 to Society members.

The Society also helps to maintain the Joint Library on the third floor of Senate House, in conjunction with the Roman Society and the Institute of Classical Studies. Membership of the Hellenic Society allows the reader to borrow (within the UK) up to four books at a time, either in person or by post. Members may also borrow slides from the Joint Library's extensive collection.

The Society also arranges an annual lecture series in London, holds occasional receptions and other meetings, and helps to arrange other lectures in collaboration with the various local branches of the Classical Association. A programme of all these lectures and other meetings is circulated to UK members in September. The Society holds a list of lecturers on topics in Hellenic Studies, which is supplied to Classical Associations and others to help them plan their own lecture programmes.

The Society aims to help those engaged in Hellenic Studies at all levels, and to this end it makes grants to schools, colleges, universities and individual students.

Membership is open to all, and there is a reduced rate for students. For current subscription rates and all further information please contact: The Secretary, Hellenic Society, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU (tel: +44 (0)20 7862-8730, fax: +44 (0)20 7862 8731, e-mail: hellenic@sas.ac.uk, web-site: www.sas.ac.uk/icls/hellenic).

The Classical Association

The Classical Association has a worldwide membership and is open to all who value the study of the languages, literature, and civilisations of ancient Greece and Rome. It creates opportunities for friendly exchange and co-operation among classicists, encourages scholarship through its journals and other publications, and supports classics in schools and universities. Every year it holds an annual conference, and it sponsors branches all over the country which put on programmes of lectures and other activities.

The Classical Association has about 4,000 members. The annual subscription is £8; life membership is £105 for those aged 65 or over. Members receive The Presidential Address once a year and a newsletter, CA News, twice a year. They may also subscribe at substantially reduced cost to the Classical Association journals Classical Quarterly, Classical Review, and Greece and Rome.

Applications for membership and subscriptions (cheques payable to 'The Classical Association') should be sent to the Secretary, Room 323, Senate House, Malet Street, London WC1E 7HU (tel: 020 7862 8706, fax: 020 7862 8729, e-mail: croberts@sas.ac.uk, web-site: www.sas.ac.uk/icls/classass). The Secretary can also give information about journal subscription rates, and about the Association's other publications, including the Greece and Rome supplements New Surveys in the Classics.

Virgil on the Nature of Things

The Georgics, Lucretius and the Didactic Tradition

Monica R. Gale

This book explores the relationship between the Georgics and earlier works in the didactic tradition. It is the first comprehensive study of Virgil's use of Lucretian themes, imagery, ideas and language; it also proposes a new reading of the poem as a whole.

Latin Language and Latin Culture

From Ancient to Modern Times

Joseph Farrell

A examination of stereotypical ideas about the Latin language and their effect on how Latin literature is read. The book offers a different view of Latin as a language and as a vehicle for cultural practice. The argument ranges over texts in Latin from antiquity to the twentieth century.

Virgil and the Augustan Reception

Richard F. Thomas

Richard Thomas examines the ideological reception of Virgil at specific moments in the last two millennia. It looks at different 'encounters' with Virgil's Aeneid and ends with an examination of the ways successive ages have tried to make the Aeneid conform to their upbeat expectations of this poet.

Plebs and Politics in the Late Roman Republic

Henrik Mouritsen

This book deals with popular political participation in republican Rome and contributes to an ongoing debate about the role of the people in the running of the Roman state. It approaches the issue from a practical perspective, looking at the way political meetings and assemblies functioned.

ROMAN HANDWRITING AT THE TIME OF CHRIST

Paul Berry

Readers will find that the latest book by Paul Berry, Roman Handwriting at the Time of Christ, is his best to date. In a series of well-organized chapters, the reader is taken on a guided tour of the various parts of the Roman world of the 1st century. The text is illustrated not by indistinct photographs, but by exact ink reproductions of the Latin letter forms written at the time. The facsimiles of the penmanship styles are of the highest clarity, and are accompanied by parallel restatements of the original scripts, in modern typeface. English translations are also joined to each specimen. As a result, the lay reader is able to follow every exhibit with a growing sense of excitement.

- Robert J. Edgeworth, Department of Classics, Louisiana State University

A unique view of the Roman Empire during the 1st century A.D. The author has gathered Latin scripts from scattered provinces of the Commonwealth. Few such examples have survived in more than fragmentary condition, yet the specimens are shown to possess a remarkable regularity. The stylistic variations range from the formal alphabet of a professional scribe to the freehand penmanship of a Roman centurion. This is a valuable sourcebook, with an extended bibliography. The selections that are reproduced, many of them published here for the first time, draw together references which, before, had been available only from widely separated archives.

- Frank T. Coulson, Department of Classics, Ohio State University

Paul Berry's Roman Handwriting at the Time of Christ offers a fascinating survey of the informal Latin handwriting used in the 1st century A.D. The work draws on examples from Britain, Gaul, Mesopotamia, Palestine, Egypt and Italy to show not only the variety, but the consistency of script Latin through the length of the Empire.

Samples taken from either east or west in the Commonwealth illustrate that Roman penmanship was universally recognized in countries around the Mediterranean basin and far beyond. For scholars who work with Latin script, and its social context, Berry's monograph provides a valuable new resource.

- Philip Freeman, Department of Classics, Washington University

This monograph is critical for any discussion regarding the language of the earliest Church: whether Greek or Latin. The author demonstrates that script Latin was universally recognized throughout the Empire, from Britain in the west to the Persian Gulf in the east. Using the far flung evidence of 1st century Roman handwriting - many of the examples never published before - it is shown that Latin would have been the carrying vehicle for the New Testament from the earliest age of Christianity.

ROME, THE GREEK WORLD, AND THE EAST

Volume 1: The Roman Republic and the Augustan Revolution

FERGUS MILLAR

“Millar is one of the greatest of today’s ancient historians. This volume not only displays the consistent development of his thought on the Roman Republic, its nature, and its structures, but presents the challenges to accepted views that have emerged over the years from this perceptive and thorough-going writer.”
—John Richardson, University of Edinburgh

“Anyone interested in ancient history will wish to have this collection of Millar’s essays on their shelf. He has made an enormous contribution to our understanding of the Roman empire in all its richness and diversity. His introductory essay provides an overview of where Roman history is going and how his own work fits in the larger picture.”—Philip A. Stadter, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Imperialism and Jewish Society, 200 B.C.E. to 640 C.E.

Seth Schwartz

This provocative new history of Palestinian Jewish society in antiquity marks the first comprehensive effort to gauge the effects of imperial domination on this people. Probing more than eight centuries of Persian, Greek, and Roman rule, Seth Schwartz reaches some startling conclusions—foremost among them that the Christianization of the Roman Empire generated the most fundamental features of medieval and modern Jewish life.

Roman Honor

The Fire in the Bones

Carlin A. Barton

Barton offers the most complex understanding to date of the emotional and spiritual life of the ancient Romans. Her provocative and original inquiry focuses on the sentiments of honor that shaped the Romans' sense of themselves and their society. She brings Roman society to life, elucidating the complex relation between the inner life of its citizens and its social fabric.

Horace and the Gift Economy of Patronage

Phebe Lowell Bowditch

This innovative study explores selected odes and epistles by the late-first-century poet Horace in light of modern anthropological and literary theory. Bowditch looks in particular at how the relationship between Horace and his patron Maecenas is reflected in these poems. The book also demonstrates the relevance of New Historist and Marxist critical paradigms for Roman studies.

Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies

The Society is the leading organisation in the United Kingdom for those interested in the study of Rome and the Roman Empire. Its scope is wide, covering Roman history, archaeology, literature and art down to about A.D. 700. It has a broadly based membership, drawn from over forty countries and from all ages and walks of life.

The Society supports

- an extensive programme of publication:
 - two annual publications—the Journal of Roman Studies, which contains articles and book reviews dealing with the Roman world in general, and Britannia, which has articles and reviews specifically on Roman Britain
 - two monograph series—the JRS and Britannia monographs (for further details see inside back cover)
- a library of around 100,000 volumes and 540 current periodicals, maintained jointly with the Hellenic Society and in conjunction with the University of London's Institute of Classical Studies. It has an international reputation as one of the world's foremost Classics lending libraries. It also houses a lending collection of over 6,700 slides
- summer schools, etc. by the annual award of grants
- archaeology, through grants for excavations and by organising a biennial conference
- schools, by the award of grants to help the teaching of all aspects of the Roman world
- a programme of public lectures in London, and others outside London arranged with local branches of the Classical Association

Membership is open to all; no entrance fee or professional qualification is required. Members are entitled to:

- receive annually either the JRS or Britannia or both
- receive advance notice of forthcoming monographs at special offer prices
- use the library and borrow the Society's books and slides, either in person or by post, while living or resident in the UK
- attend the Society's lectures and other events, of which a programme is circulated in September
- purchase back issues of the journals (see inside back cover)
