An Economic and Social History

Robert W. July

A descriptive and interpretive account of Early African economic and social history by the author of the highly successful History of the African People. Beginning with the climate and terrain, July develops the history of each occupational class of African people—the farmers, the herders, the traders—relating their economic pursuits, social structures and institutions. Precolonial Africa covers all regions and peoples of the continent; maps aid in understanding the geographical context.

RUSSIA under the Old Regime

RICHARD PIPES

A highly original and important work covering the period from the ninth century to the 1880s, Russia Under the Old Regime is the first thorough analysis of the growth of the Russian state and the unique role it played in managing Russian society.

"A brilliant and provocative analysis . . . in which the wisdom of the standard authorities blends with new insights gained from a knowledge of total power as it manifests itself in our own era."

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French. They should not exceed about 6000 words (excluding footnotes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Contributors are asked to observe closely the conventions listed in the Notes for Contributors, Vol. XV, pp. 173-4. It is essential that contributors observe these conventions, as the Journal now goes straight into page proof. This severely limits the number of corrections which are possible.

Page proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the page proofs, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Additional separates may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the galley proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.
