

SELECTIONS FROM THE AMERICAN JOURNAL OF INTERNATIONAL LAW: FUTURE IMPLICATIONS OF THE IRAQ CONFLICT

Will military action in Iraq in spring 2003 lead to fundamental transformation or possible destruction of the UN Charter system of law on the use of force? This inaugural Selections* contains more than a dozen essays on the Iraq conflict—all with an eye to the future—written by a distinguished group of scholars and attorneys, including Eyal Benvenisti, Todd F. Buchwald, Richard A. Falk, Tom J. Farer, Thomas M. Franck, Richard N. Gardner, Thomas D. Grant, Miriam Sapiro, David J. Scheffer, Carsten Stahn, Jane E. Stromseth, Ruth Wedgwood, John Yoo, and the Legal Adviser of the U.S. Department of State, William H. Taft IV. Originally appearing in an Agora in the July and October 2003 issues of the American Journal of International Law, these contributions are supplemented by the six relevant UN resolutions and other materials, making Selections an excellent classroom tool.

*The new Selections from the American Journal of International Law series combines articles, primary source materials, and other information from the AJIL and other resources to provide a comprehensive examination of a specific, timely issue affecting international law.

About the Treatise:

This respected treatise provides unparalleled guidance to one of today's most complex and diverse areas of legal practice, international commercial arbitration. The World Arbitration Reporter (WAR) is the only integrated reference work containing international treaties and national legislation from more than 135 countries as well as annotated rules of procedure of international and national arbitral institutions. Every text is accompanied by insightful introductions and practical commentaries by internationally renowned experts.

Explanatory notes, references to other source materials, bibliographies, and a special subject index are included for comparative research.

In addition, the WAR provides commentary and analysis on all source materials related to international arbitration. To that end, WAR provides not only introductions to all source materials that describe the context in which they originated but also detailed analytical commentaries and comprehensive bibliographies and indexes.

Code numbers corresponding to the WAR's classification system are included in the margin of each set of rules, allowing for ease of reference to specific subject matters and to other volumes of the Reporter.

VOLUME 1: INTERNATIONAL LEGAL FRAMEWORK

Covers every international convention and treaty, with notes and commentaries on history, status, influence, and pitfalls of each convention of the law and practice of commercial arbitration. It contains general international conventions; other international sources; regional treaties and arrangements; bilateral treaties on commercial arbitration, treaties on settlement of investment disputes, arrangements on the execution of arbitral awards, and contributions of non-governmental organizations to the development of the law and practice of international commercial arbitration.

VOLUME 2, 2A, AND 2B: NATIONAL LEGISLATION

Comprehensive coverage of commercial arbitration in every country where such legislation is available. Concentrates on national law and contains texts of legislation, including explanatory notes, headnotes, commentaries, references to other source materials, bibliographies and a special subject index.

Texts in foreign languages have been translated into English. These volumes provide reports on more than one hundred countries. An introductory note, supplying background and listing multilateral and bilateral treaties, precedes each text. Information on arbitration institutions is also provided.

Legislative provisions are accompanied by index numbers for ease of reference to subject matter and to related material in WAR. Each text is followed by a commentary that examines areas of arbitration law judged to be important to practitioners, students, and scholars. In order to promote uniformity of information provided and ease of use, the structure of each commentary is the same.

The reports conclude with references to published arbitral awards and court decisions, with brief indications of their subject matter. A bibliography of books and articles is also provided.

VOLUME 3 AND 3A: INTERNATIONAL ARBITRAL INSTITUTIONS AND RULES

Contains the most comprehensive rule analysis of international arbitration institutions ever published. Rules of international bodies and arbitration organizations are published with detailed notes explaining practical background, analysis, and commentaries. Presents in rules for the conduct of international arbitration, both ad hoc and institutional. The most important and most frequently used rules are accompanied by an analytical commentary. Rules reflecting bilateral and regional arrangements are also included.

Part I of this volume introduces the institutions, both intergovernmental and nongovernmental, that administer international arbitration. Part II focuses on the rules available for use in international arbitration, conciliation, and, when applicable, fact-finding proceedings. In the case of institutions, the appropriate administrative rules are also included.

VOLUMES 4 AND 4A: RULES OF NATIONAL ARBITRATION INSTITUTIONS

Does on a national level what Volume 3 does on an international level. Covers the most important rules and institutions in the busiest arbitration centers of the world. Volumes 4 and 4A contain the rules of national arbitral institutions that frequently administer arbitration between parties of different nationalities. The rules of the largest and most active institutions are accompanied by analytical commentaries.
