English Today

Editor

Clive Upton, Emeritus Professor, Leeds University

Associate Editors

Nicholas Groom, University of Birmingham, UK

Justyna Robinson, University of Sussex, UK

English Today provides accessible cutting-edge reports on all aspects of the language, including style, usage, dictionaries, literary language, plain English, the Internet and language teaching, in terms of British, American and the world's many other 'Englishes'. Its global readership includes linguists, journalists, broadcasters, writers, publishers, teachers, advanced students of the language and others with a professional or personal interest in communication. Its debates are vigorous, it's noted for its reader involvement, it's now in its third decade and remains unique in its scope and style.

Celebrating Volume 50 in 2014

Journal of Linguistics

The Journal of the Linguistics Association of Great Britain

Editors

Nigel Fabb, University of Strathclyde, UK
Caroline Heycock, University of Edinburgh, UK
Robert D. Borsley, University of Essex, UK

Journal of Linguistics has as its goal to publish articles that make a clear contribution to current debate in all branches of theoretical linguistics. The journal also provides an excellent survey of recent linguistics publications, with around thirty book reviews in each volume and regular review articles on major works marking important theoretical advances.

'The Journal of Linguistics is one of the top journals for theoretical linguistics. It's chock full of new ideas and wonderfully free of theoretical orthodoxy.' Ivan Sag, Stanford University.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere.

Notes for Contributors

Detailed instructions for contributors are available at journals.cambridge.org. In brief:

1. Manuscripts should not exceed 10,000 words (or equivalent). Shorter pieces and squibs are welcome.
2. Authors should submit to the appropriate editor an electronic copy of the paper, preferably in Microsoft Word DOC format. The name(s) of the author(s) and full contact details should be on a separate page at the start of the document. Occasionally, an author may be asked to send a paper copy of the manuscript by post or a PDF version as well.
3. If an accepted manuscript departs significantly from the style specified below, the contributor may be asked to reformat it.
4. Authors of accepted articles will be asked to assign copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.
5. In lieu of offprints, contributors will be supplied with a PDF file of their contribution upon publication.

International Society for the Linguistics of English (ISLE)

English Language and Linguistics (ELL) is the journal associated with ISLE, the International Society for the Linguistics of English. The central aim of ISLE is to promote the study of the English language, that is, the study of the structure, history and use of standard and non-standard varieties of English, in terms of both form and function, at an international level. The society aims to provide a geographically and theoretically neutral central contact point for all those who are academically active and who identify with this aim. Members of ISLE are eligible for a discount subscription to ELL. For information on ISLE conferences, other ISLE activities, and how to become a member, visit www.isle-linguistics.org.

This journal issue has been printed on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, not-for-profit organisation established to promote the responsible management of the world's forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.)
