The Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom

Its Evolution and Consequences in American History

Edited by MERRILL D. PETERSON and ROBERT C. VAUGHAN

An examination of the famous Jeffersonian document which set the precedent for the US Constitution's guarantee of religious liberty. The Statute's history reflects two revolutionary principles: absolute freedom of religious conscience; and the separation of church and state. Both principles remain lively topics on the contemporary religious and political scene.

Religions of Immigrants from India and Pakistan

New Threads in the American Tapestry

RAYMOND BRADY WILLIAMS

Landmark changes in the immigration law in 1965 admitted to the United States large numbers of immigrants from India and Pakistan. The religious groups formed by these new immigrants exert significant influence on the fabric of American religion and culture. This is the first comprehensive study of these groups and their patterns of assimilation and organisation.

The Politics of Community

Migration and Politics in Antebellum Ohio

KENNETH J. WINKLE

In this examination of the impact of westward migration in Ohio, Professor Winkle studies the rules of suffrage, the conduct of elections, patterns of voting, recruitment of political leaders and local party organisations as they all emerged before the Civil War. 256 pp. 0 521 34372 0 £27.50 net
Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Modern History

Welfare, Democracy and the New Deal

WILLIAM R. BROCK

The Federal Emergency Relief Act brought the United States to the brink of a fully integrated welfare system, but the reversal of policy in 1935 split welfare into national, state and local authorities. In reviewing the experience of FERA and the New Deal this book assesses important questions about American attitudes towards welfare, local government and national responsibility.

The Great Merger Movement in American Business, 1895-1904

NAOMI LAMOREAUX

Between 1805 and 1904 a great wave of mergers swept through the manufacturing sector of the US economy. With the aid of a formal model, Lamoreaux demonstrates that this merger wave was the product of a particular historical combination of circumstances.

'... it is a thought provoking study that deserves a broad readership.'

THE AMERICAN NOVEL series

New Essays on The Awakening

Edited by WENDY MARTIN

A collection of essays by leading American scholars on Kate Chopin's controversial novel The Awakening. One of the first American novels to concern itself with themes of adultery and divorce, it was widely attacked as 'vulgar' and 'unhealthy'. The essays discuss the background of the novel and the importance of Chopin as both a feminist and pre-modernist writer.

New Essays on Invisible Man

Edited by ROBERT G. O'MEALLY

Ralph Ellison's Invisible Man is widely regarded as one of the major works of recent American fiction. Although set in the contemporary South and New York City, its references are to Reconstruction, the Civil War and slavery, to Columbus, and to the country's frontier past. Each of the essays in this collection explores a different aspect of the novel. Written in an accessible style they provide a helpful introduction to student and general reader alike.

Selected Letters of Eugene O'Neill

edited by TRAVIS BOGARD and JACKSON R. BRYER

The only comprehensive collection of O'Neill's letters. Providing a representative selection of O'Neill's voluminous correspondence written over a fifty-year period to intimate friends and family as well as to literary and theatrical personalities, the distinguished O'Neill scholars Travis Bogard and Jackson R. Bryer offer new and revealing insights into the highly private life and thoughts of America's greatest playwright. 632pp. 32 illus. £19.95

Staging O'Neill

The Experimental Years, 1920-1934 RONALD H. WAINSCOTT

Eugene O'Neill's most exciting experiments with stage direction and design took place in his plays produced between 1920 and 1934 — from Beyond the Horizon to Days Without End. The impact of these experiments on the American theatre was enormous, and in this book Ronald H. Waincott critically examines the staging of these innovative works. 384pp. 25 illus. £27.50

European Revolutions and the American Literary Renaissance

LARRY J. REYNOLDS

This pioneering study argues that the European revolutions of 1848-49 quickened the American literary imagination and shaped the characters, plots and themes of the American renaissance. Tracing the revolutions' impact on Emerson, Fuller, Hawthorne, Melville, Whitman and Thoreau, Reynolds shows how the upheavals abroad both inspired and disturbed American writers. 224pp. 30 illus. £20.00

The American Census

A Social History MARGO J. ANDERSON

Two hundred years ago, the United States became the first nation in the world to institute a regular population census and to use it to apportion legislative representation among the states. This is the first social history of the census from 1790 to the present. 256pp. 20 illus. £22.50

Borderland

Origins of the American Suburb, 1820-1939 JOHN R. STILGOE

A fascinating history of the American suburb, from its beginnings in the mid-1800s to the onset of World War II. Using a rich array of contemporary written and pictorial sources, John Stilgoe guides us through the early suburbs of Manhattan, Boston, Chicago and other cities, showing us not only what they looked like but what life was like for the men and women who lived there. 368pp. 198 illus. £25.00

Indian Survival on the California Frontier

ALBERT L. HURTADO

During the middle decades of the nineteenth century when vast numbers of whites poured into California, the native Indian population was decimated through disease, starvation, homicide and a declining birth rate. This book focuses on the Indians who survived this harrowing time, considering the ways in which native life and culture persisted, how the survivors integrated their lives with white society, and how the non-dominant whites related to the Indians living and working with them. 256pp. 22 illus. £20.00

The Developer's Frontier

The Making of the Western New York Landscape

WILLIAM WYCKOFF

This book tells how the Holland Land Company helped to plan the settlement of large areas of western New York State and shows how the various aspects of settlement policy shaped the region's historical geography and continue to shape the landscape today. 240pp. 76 illus. £20.00

Sunday School

The Formation of an American Institution, 1790-1880

ANNE M. BOYLAN

An engrossing history of the social functions of Protestant Sunday schools, from their origins in the 1790s — when they were started to teach literacy to poor working children — to the 1870s, when they had evolved into the Bible or catechism study classes recognizable today.

Ideology and U.S. Foreign Policy

MICHAEL H. HUNT

In this major reinterpretation of American diplomatic history, Hunt argues that American foreign policy has been shaped by an ideology based on a conception of national mission, on the racial classification of other peoples, and on hostility towards social revolutions.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

- 1 All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to: The Editor, Journal of American Studies, School of English and American Studies, University of Sussex, Falmer, Brighton, BN1 9QN, England.
- 2 Articles should generally contain about 5,000 words. Longer or shorter articles, or articles in two or more parts, may be accepted by arrangement with the Editors.
- 3 Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, and is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
- 4 Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing (including footnotes), preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. Diagrams, maps and illustrations may be included.
- 5 Spelling may conform either to British or American usage, providing it is consistent throughout.
- 6 Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered consecutively, and may most conveniently be placed, in double spacing, at the end of the article.
- 7 For guidance on matters of style, contributors should refer either to The Chicago Manual of Style (13th edition, 1982) or to the Journal of American Studies Style Notes, copies of which may be obtained from the Editors.
- 8 Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
- 9 Notes intended for the Editors or Printer should be on a separate sheet.
- 10 First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within three days of receiving them.
- 11 Corrections should be kept to an absolute minimum. They should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorizes otherwise.
- 12 Contributors of articles and review essays receive 25 free offprints. Extra copies may be ordered according to a scale of charges.
- 13 Contributors need not be members of the British Association for American Studies. Unsolicited typescripts can only be returned to overseas contributors who send International Reply Coupons (not postage stamps).
- 14 Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.

Books for review should be sent as follows: History, Political Science and Social Studies to Dr Michael Heale, Department of History, Furness College, University of Lancaster, Bailrigg, Lancaster LA1 4YG.
