CREED AND DRAMA

W. Moelwyn Merchant

'There can be only a handful of people in the world who are able, with Professor Merchant to deploy both a scholar's knowledge of the intricate history of the drama, and a priest's familiarity with theology and liturgy. . . . His book has highly important things to say about religion, about theatre, and their relationship in the age of Brecht, Becket, and the theatre of the absurd.'

THE COUNCIL OF CHALCEDON AND THE ARMENIAN CHURCH

Karekin Sarkissian

50s. net.

Did the Armenian Church in rejecting the Council also reject its Definition of the Person of Christ? It has generally been supposed so, and the Armenian Church for that reason is spoken of as Monophysite. Bishop Sarkissian shows that the true position is far from simple. In the ecumenical temper of the times his study will be welcome.

THE
'UNWRITTEN' AND 'SECRET'
APOSTOLIC TRADITIONS
IN THE
THEOLOGICAL THOUGHT
OF ST. BASIL OF CAESAREA

By The Reverend Dr. AMAND DE MENDIETA, M.A., B.D.

Edited by Professor T. F. Torrance

In this book the author, drawing from all the relevant texts of the treatise 'On the Holy Spirit', gives an interpretation of the theological thought of St. Basil of Caesarea. In order to investigate systematically St. Basil's theology he has to discuss four different subjects. First he deals with the use of unscriptural words in the writings against heretics. Secondly he analyses all the passages of the treatise in which the adjective 'unwritten' occurs, in order to define its precise meaning in connection with such words as traditions, witnesses, customs, and sacraments. Thirdly on the basis of the available evidence, he considers what St. Basil means by the 'secret' or 'esoteric' character which he attributes to the church's 'unwritten' traditions. Finally he expounds the thought of the Bishop of Caesarea concerning the 'apostolic' or 'patristic' origin of the church's 'unwritten' traditions.
