Announcing . . .
A special limited edition of
Sources of Our Liberties

Edited by Richard L. Perry

Consider this handsomely bound collection of historic documents for

- an addition to your personal or your firm's library
- an award for service to the bar or a firm
- a gift to commemorate an anniversary or retirement
- a tangible way to recognize professional or academic achievement

Each copy of Sources of Our Liberties may be personalized or commemorated by embossing in gold the name of an individual, a firm, or an event on the front cover at no additional cost.

The American Bar Foundation proudly presents this masterfully printed and handsomely bound collection of historic documents that constitute the major sources of our individual liberties. Among the documents included are: the Magna Carta, the Mayflower Compact and other charters drawn under British rule in America, Petition of Right, the Abolition of the Star Chamber, the Northwest Ordinance, and the Constitution and its amendments.

Each document is preceded by an editorial note on its political background, its effectiveness in its own time in meeting the problems it sought to solve, and its ultimate influence in the establishment of our liberties. These introductions, with marginal notes and bibliographies, tie together the documents as part of a long political process. This edition contains a bibliographical note by Stanley N. Katz, Professor of Legal History and Associate Dean, University of Chicago Law School, detailing publications since the 1959 edition.

xxii + 466 pages      1978      $50.00*

*Library, student, faculty, and dealer discounts are not applicable. Please allow six weeks for delivery.

Because this is a special deluxe edition of Sources of Our Liberties and no additional copies will be published again, you may at this time order a maximum of five pre-paid copies, have them held in reserve for you for up to five years, embossed as needed, and shipped individually. The name that you want to have appear on the cover should be printed or typed exactly as you wish it to be embossed.

Full payment must accompany all orders.

Paperback edition also available $7.50
