The following persons have been nominated to stand for election as officers and members of the African Studies Association Board of Directors. The candidates for Vice President are Beverly Grier (Political Science, Clark University) and Sulayman Nyang (Political Science, Howard University). The candidates for the Board of Directors are Michael Chege (Political Science, University of Florida), Linda Heywood (History, Howard University), Patrick McNaughton (Art History, Indiana University), K. C. Morrison (Political Science, University of Missouri), John McCall (Anthropology, Southern Illinois University) and Brenda Randolph (Africa Access). The candidates' statements and ballots are inserted in the newsletters of current members. If your newsletter does not include a ballot for the 2001 election, you are not a 2001 member of the Association. Upon paying your 2001 membership dues, a ballot will be sent to you. Ballots must be mailed to the ASA Secretariat by September 1, 2001.

IN MEMORIAM

Peter Gutkind passed away Saturday, February 17, 2001. In September 1986, he moved from McGill University, where he retired, to the University of Warwick where he was a research fellow and visiting professor. Gutkind was an active member of the African Studies Association. In 1980 he served as president of the the Board of Directors.
