The British Journal of Music Education is a new journal which aims to provide a survey of current issues and research in progress, particularly where there is concern to improve practice within the mainstream of music in education. Editorial policy can be summarised as 'theory into practice' and will not be committed to any particular approach or methodology.

The British Journal of Music Education will be of interest to teachers and others with an interest in music education.

Articles are invited from anyone concerned with music education and, where appropriate, they may be of substantial length. Once a year a cassette of music examples will be produced and contributors may wish to take advantage of this to accompany their articles. Each volume will contain reviews, annotated bibliographies and, where appropriate, abstracts of theses.
