OXFORD EARLY CHRISTIAN TEXTS

Tertullian: *Adversus MarcionemEdited and translated by Ernest Evans

This work comprises the Latin text of Tertullian's five books, with a select apparatus criticus; and on pages facing the Latin, an English version with brief explanatory notes. There is also a short introduction on Marcionism and its significance, and on Tertullian's opposition to it. Two volumes £8

Athenagoras: Legatio and *De Resurrectione

Edited and translated by William R. Schoedel, Professor of Classics and Director of Religious Studies, University of Illinois, Urbana

In the Legatio Athenagoras deals with the charge of 'atheism' so often levelled against the early Church in the Roman Empire. His efforts to reorientate the social and religious ideas of the Romans helps us to see the situation as many early Christians must have seen it, and this makes the work of great importance to the historian and theologian. £2·50

The Acts of the Christian Martyrs Introduction, Texts and Translation by

Herbert Musurillo, Professor of Classics, Fordham University

This new text offers a complete critical edition of all the authentic Acts of the Christian Martyrs from the earliest times down to Diocletian, with a general introduction reviewing the various problems connected with persecution. The light these texts throw on the beliefs and practices traditional in the early Church is of interest to historians and theologians alike. £6

Cyprian: De Lapsis and
*De Ecclesiae Catholicae Unitate

Translated by Maurice Bévenot, Lecturer in Ecclesiology and Patristics, Heythrop College

The Latin text has been critically established anew from the manuscripts. That of the De Lapsis is here published for the first time, that of the De Unitate is reproduced from the author's The Tradition of Manuscripts (1961). The translations are drawn from Ancient Christian Writers: vol. 25. £1·75

Athanasius: Contra Gentes and *De Incarnatione

Edited by Robert W. Thomson, Professor of Armenian, Harvard University

Despite the importance of Athanasius's Contra Gentes—De Incarnatione no critical edition has previously been published. One of its most interesting features is that two recensions are known. The longer, authentically Athanasian one is here translated into English, while the variants of the 'short' (unauthentic) version have been indicated in the apparatus to the Greek text. £3·25

The Ecclesiastical History of Orderic Vitalis

Volume III (Books V and VI)

Edited and translated by Marjorie Chibnall

Orderic Vitalis was born near Shrewsbury in 1075, but spent most of his life in the Norman monastery of St. Evroul. His Historia Ecclesiastica, which gives a detailed and graphic account of the Anglo-Norman feudal world, has been called 'the greatest social history of the Middle Ages'. It is printed from the author's autograph. £10 Oxford Medieval Texts

The Life of St. Anselm

by Eadmer

Edited by R. W. Southern

The author, a monk of the cathedral church of Canterbury, was a younger contemporary of the archbishop. This book is therefore the earliest life of one of the greatest figures of the Middle Ages; it marked an epoch in the art of writing biographies, and it is printed from the author's autograph. £4·50 Oxford Medieval Texts

Cardinal Contarini at Regensburg

Peter Matheson

Contarini's campaign for reconciliation mirrors the richness and elusiveness of pre-Tridentine Catholicism. It was the clash of cultures and politics as much as purely theological considerations which led to the failure of the Regensburg colloquy. Contarini was not without sympathy for Lutheran theology until faced by the full implications of a Protestant church and a Protestant culture. He then retreated, however, first to a confessional Catholicism, then to an intolerant Curialism. £3·25

Missionaries and Education in Bengal 1793–1837

M. A. Laird

The educational activities of the missionaries were of particular importance to the cultural history of modern Bengal. This is the first book to analyse their multiple achievements. It concludes with a reassessment of the role of Alexander Duff. 1 map £5·50

Patterns of Christian Acceptance

Individual Response to the Missionary Impact 1550–1950

Martin Jarrett-Kerr

Father Martin Jarrett-Kerr believes that one of the bridges between the Third World and the rest is Christianity, and that the Christians in the Third World are an important part of this bridge. He examines the history of Christianity as it was received from the missionaries through a study of the lives of individuals. £4·50
