

Crusade and Mission

European Approaches toward the Muslims

Benjamin Z. Kedar

This wide-ranging study of medieval Europe's response to the challenge of Islam examines the relationship between ideas of crusade and mission; between European campaigns for military conquest and missionary attempts to convert Muslims to Christianity.

Covering the years from the emergence of Islam to the fourteenth century, Benjamin Z. Kedar discusses not only the crusades and the Crusading Kingdom of Jerusalem but also the confrontation between Catholics and Muslims in Sicily and Spain.

"In the thoroughly belabored field of Crusade history, Benjamin Kedar has singled out one of the few corners that has not yet been systematically explored: the Crusade as a means of converting Muslims to the Christian faith."

Europe and Islam

HICHEM DJAIT

Translated by
PETER HEINEGG

"This book is quite an extraordinary parallel meditation on the reciprocal relationship between Europe and Islam, and the meaning of each to the other. . . . The book is informed by a world historical consciousness which makes what it has to say particularly stimulating."

—Edmund Burke, III

Nabati Poetry

The Oral Poetry of Arabia

SAAD ABDULLAH SOWAYAN

Nabati Poetry is a fascinating, highly original work that documents a still living if long neglected tradition. The poetry itself is not only exquisitely expressive but also rich in insight into the culture and history of premodern

Arabia.

BERL: The Biography of a Socialist Zionist

Berl Katznelson, 1887–1944

ANITA SHAPIRA

"Professor Shapira's biography of Berl Katznelson is a new departure. Impressively documented and critically conceived, its style is so lively, its evocative and participatory elements so compelling, that it has become a best-seller. This is not reducible to a triumph of empathy and relevance, those much-touted values of our time: the book has genuine historical perspective, as well." —American Jewish Studies Newsletter (review of Hebrew edition)

For the first time in history, a biography of a major Zionist figure, with historical perspective, written from outside the realm of partisan politics, Berl documents the life of Berl Katznelson, a founding father of Israel. $29.95

People, Power and Politics

HELENA COBBAN

"A British journalist and scholar gives us the most intensive and extensive coverage of the PLO, from its beginnings in the 1960s to the exit from Beirut in 1982, that has appeared in English. Much of her information comes from talks with a variety of PLO leaders, yielding far more than the interviews Arafat customarily grants to foreigners." —Foreign Affairs

The Shaping of National Identity

TADEUSZ SWIETOCHOWSKI

Professor Swietochowski describes the rise of national identity among the Azerbaijanis—the Turkic-speaking Muslims of the Russia-Iran borderland—at the beginning of the twentieth century.

He looks closely at the emergence of ideas and then actions, that would create a new collective identity among the Muslim group. Soviet and East European Studies $37.50

Saladin: The Politics of the Holy War

MALCOLM C. LYONS and DAVID E.P. JACKSON

This study makes use of hitherto neglected Arabic sources—notably the correspondence, both private and official, of Saladin's own court—to set the whole of Saladin's career and achievements, civil and military, within the specific framework of his age.

"Lyons and Jackson have produced a distinguished and extremely well researched book which is likely to become a standard work in the field and become required reading for all students of Ayyubid history." —History Today $14.95

Hunger and History

The Impact of Changing Food Production and Consumption Patterns on Society

ROBERT ROTBERG and THEODORE RABB, Editors

This collection of essays, concerned with the impact of food supply on history, augments our understanding of the past by fully integrating scientific knowledge of food production and consumption with historical knowledge. It presents a new and more informed view of population growth and adaptation to food scarcity.
