Tragic Vision and Divine Compassion

A Contemporary Theodicy

Wendy Farley

Offering an alternative to classic Christian theodicies, (justifications of God's goodness and omnipotence in view of the existence of evil), Wendy Farley interprets the problem of evil and suffering within a tragic context, advocating compassion to describe the power of God in the struggle against evil. "An imaginative essay in constructive theology refocusing the problem of evil from sin to suffering, thus proposing compassion, rather than punishment, as the governing paradigm of God's relationship to the world. This eloquent, passionate, and beautifully written book is the first contribution from one of the most promising young theologians on the horizon."

—Sallie McFague, Carpenter Professor of Theology, The Divinity School, Vanderbilt University, Nashville Paper $13.95

Jesus, Paul, and the Law

Studies in Mark and Galatians

James D. G. Dunn

Drawing from ten years of research experience, master scholar James D. G. Dunn presents a book on a major issue in the study of Christian origins: What were the attitudes toward Jewish law within earliest Christianity? This volume gathers much of Dunn's extensive work in Pauline and Markan studies. The final chapter serves as a summary of Dunn's current position on Paul and the law and brings the volume to a convincing conclusion. This book "gathers into a coherent whole the work . . . by Professor Dunn on a current much disputed topic, the law in early Christianity. . . . The topic is a lively one."

Jesus After the Gospels

The Christ of the Second Century

Robert M. Grant

Distinguished historian Robert Grant explores theological interpretations of Jesus written soon after the New Testament and before the classical formulations of the fourth century. The book shows early attempts to synthesize diverse strands in the gospel portrait of Jesus and how varying christological thinking eventually led to the basis for molding an orthodox consensus. "Robert Grant's latest book is vintage Grant: informed, a model of clarity and coherence, a major contribution to history and theology."

—David Tracy, Professor of Theology, Divinity School, University of Chicago Hard $14.95

Ernst Troeltsch: Writings on Theology and Religion

Translated and edited by Robert Morgan and Michael Pye

Presented here in English translation, are four of the best-known essays on method in theology and the scientific study of religion by Ernst Troeltsch, German theologian and philosopher of history. "An excellent selection, fluently translated and ably edited. The themes of these four pioneering essays are still at the forefront of theological discussion today."

—B. A. Gerrish, University of Chicago

"The revival of interest in the writing of Ernst Troeltsch has been phenomenal. . . . The substantial introduction, along with the translations in the Morgan and Pye volume, has given a decisive stimulus to, and interpretation of, the revival. Seldom does one encounter . . . such a probing, fertile inquirer as Troeltsch."

CALL FOR PAPERS

The topic of the 25–27 April 1991 meeting of the American Society of Church History will be the history of “The Christian Church and Human Rights,” in observance of the 200th anniversary of the ratification of the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States of America. The program committee encourages sessions representing both genders. Proposals of paper topics for consideration should be sent to James H. Smylie, Chair of the Program Committee, Union Theological Seminary, 3401 Brook Road, Richmond, VA 23227. Such proposals must be received no later than Friday, 31 August 1990.

CALL FOR PAPERS

The 1990 Annual Meeting of the American Society of Church History will be held in New York on 27–30 December 1990. The program committee welcomes proposals for entire sessions, individual papers, or panels. The committee also strongly encourages sessions representing both genders. Papers may be on any aspect of the history of Christianity. Those relating to events being commemorated in 1990 are especially welcome.

But the major theme of the meetings will be the efforts many sects made—whether Catholic, Protestant, Eastern Orthodox, or Jewish—to substitute hegemony of some sort for a traditional establishment of religion. Many countries had legally abandoned religious establishments by the nineteenth century, and many others had increasingly allowed public opinion to influence them toward abandoning them in practice. The committee will give preference, therefore, to whole sessions or to individual papers that promise to illuminate this theme.

Each proposal must include an abstract that summarizes its thesis, method, and significance, along with a curriculum vitae for each participant. Please send proposals in five copies to Professor Timothy L. Smith, Department of History, The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Maryland 21218. The deadline for submissions is 15 April 1990.

PRIZES OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CHURCH HISTORY

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize

The Brewer Prize is a subsidy of $2000 to assist the author in publishing a booklength manuscript in church history. The winning manuscript shall be published in a manner acceptable to the Society. Manuscripts accepted for publication may be submitted for this award, but the winning manuscript must have printed on its title-page, "The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize Essay of the American Society of Church History." If competing works are otherwise of equal quality, preference will be given to topics relating to the history of Congregationalism. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 November each year, with return postage included. The award will be announced at the spring meeting of the Society.

The Philip Schaff Prize

The Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1000 to be paid to the author of the best book originating in the North American scholarly community which presents original research in the history of Christianity or any period thereof. Books considered for the next award must have been published during the year 1988 or 1989. Any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration for the Schaff Prize. Copies of books nominated do not have to be submitted. Titles nominated for consideration must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 March 1991. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December 1991.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize

The Mead Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent recipient whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Stephen J. Stein, Chair, Committee on Research, American Society of Church History, 1420 E. Maxwell Lane, Bloomington, IN 47401, by 1 July each year. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE ALBERT C. OUTLER PRIZE IN ECUMENICAL CHURCH HISTORY

The Outler Prize was established to encourage the critical study of ecumenical church history, broadly conceived, and to facilitate the publication of such studies. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as chiefly concerned with the problems of Christian unity-and-disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) in any period of church history; or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements. Works of a partisan nature are excluded. The following categories are eligible:

- a. Studies, chiefly narrative and critical, of ecumenical church history dealing with historical controversies and divisions, or with notable instances of reconciliation and consensus.
- b. Analyses of church councils, dialogues, and debates, or interactions between Christianity and other religious traditions.
- c. Biographical studies of significant leaders, or of persons whose involvement in ecumenical dialogue and action was noteworthy.
- d. Critical editions (preferably annotated) of significant ecumenical documents.
- e. Bibliographical reviews and evaluations in major areas of ecumenical church history.
- f. Pioneering studies that advance scholarly knowledge and ecumenical understanding.

The prize consists of an award of $1000 to the author and a possible grant of up to $3000 for publication (or in exceptional cases, for necessary expenses in the preparation of a book-length manuscript accepted for publication). The prize will be awarded annually, though no award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 June. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE JANE DEMPSEY DOUGLASS PRIZE

The Douglass Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay on some aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Stephen J. Stein, Chair, Committee on Research, American Society of Church History, 1420 E. Maxwell Lane, Bloomington, IN 47401, by 1 August each year, beginning in 1990. No award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.
