The British Journal for the History of Science (BJHS) is the journal of the British Society for the History of Science, the major national body for this subject in Britain. One of the premier journals in the field, it publishes high quality papers and review articles in all aspects of the history of science. There are four issues per year comprising an annual volume of around 750 pages. BJHS also includes an extensive book review section. Occasional thematic issues are published on important problems or topics.

Contributions are very welcome. They should be sent to the Editorial Assistant, email bjhs.assistant@bshs.org.uk. They are considered on the understanding that they are unpublished and are not on offer to another journal. Contributions should be submitted in electronic form as an email attachment, preferably in MS Word format.

For instructions on how to submit a paper to BJHS, visit <http://www.bshs.org.uk/publications/bjhs> and click on 'Instructions for contributors'. Please be sure to follow all instructions carefully as failure to do so may impair the Editor's and Publisher's ability to treat the submission in a timely fashion. Informal editorial enquiries (not submissions) may be sent to the Editor, Dr Amanda Rees, University of York (amanda.rees@york.ac.uk).

Books for review should be sent to the Reviews Editor, email reviews.editor@bshs.org.uk.

It is the author's responsibility to secure any necessary permission for publication. Single copies of articles may be made for research or private study. Permission to make multiple copies must be obtained from the Society. Typescripts are not normally returned to authors. In all matters concerning the publication of the article, the Editor's decision is final. The Editor, Editorial Board and Council of the Society cannot accept responsibility for any views expressed by contributors in articles published by the Journal.
