

Precept and Practice

Traditional Buddhism in the Rural Highlands of Ceylon

R. F. GOMBRICH

The author suggests that early writers misunderstood the behavioural implications of canonical doctrine, whereas, at the other extreme, anthropologists who wish to explain religious behaviour ignore textual tradition at their peril. £4

The English Separatist Tradition

From the Marian Martyrs to the Pilgrim Fathers

B. R. WHITE

The English Separatist tradition was created by small groups who abandoned the established Church in England during the period 1553–1620 and whose leaders, by their writings, both justified their action and evolved a distinctive doctrine of the Church. This book describes the development of the tradition and seeks to locate the debt owed to it and the contribution made by the more outstanding leaders. £2.75 Oxford Theological Monographs

Ancient Rhetoric and the Art of Tertullian

ROBERT DICK SIDER

Professor Sider traces some dominant patterns of thought and argument straight across the various modes of Tertullian's literary work and shows how these patterns are shaped by the rhetorical art of his day. In particular, he finds a close relationship between rhetorical art and theological argument in Tertullian, and searches for a methodology which can illuminate this literary-theological nexus. £2.50 Oxford Theological Monographs

The Leonine Sacramentary

A Reassessment of its Nature and Purpose

D. M. HOPE

The Leonine Sacramentary, so-called, is a crucial document for any investigation into the history of the early Western Liturgy. It contains some three hundred sets of Mass prayers, which are here closely examined. Particular problems of literary parallels, authorship, date, and place of origin are also investigated, as is the historical background. It is argued that the document is in truth neither 'Leonine' nor a 'Sacramentary'. £2.50 Oxford Theological Monographs

Antichrist in Seventeenth Century England

CHRISTOPHER HILL

'No other seventeenth-century historian has a finer command of the literary and theological, as well as the more conventionally historical printed sources . . . an inspiring lesson in scholarship, writing, and interpretation to other historians.'—The Times Literary Supplement

OXFORD BOOKS FOR STUDENTS

OXFORD EARLY CHRISTIAN TEXTS

General Editor: Henry Chadwick, Dean of Christ Church,
Oxford

The main object of this new series is to provide reliable working texts, with English translations of important works by writers of the patristic period in both Greek and Latin. There will be no attempt to make it a complete patrology, the works being included for which it is considered there is a real need in this kind of edition. Each volume contains an introduction, texts and select critical apparatus, with English translations en face, reference to quotations and allusions, and brief notes on subject-matter.

Athanasius: Contra Gentes and De Incarnatione

Edited by Robert W. Thomson, Professor of Armenian,
Harvard University

Despite the importance of Athanasius's Contra Gentes—De Incarnatione no critical edition has previously been published. One of its most interesting features is that two recensions are known. The longer, authentically Athanasian one is here translated into English, while the variants of the 'short' (unauthentic) version have been indicated in the apparatus to the Greek text. 2 text-figures £3·25

Theophilus of Antioch: Ad Autolycum

Edited by Robert M. Grant, Professor of New Testament and Early Christianity, University of Chicago

The three books Ad Autolycum by Theophilus, Bishop of Antioch late in the second century, set forth a unique Christian apologetic approach to Graeco-Roman culture, and tell a good deal about the Christian community itself, with its emphasis on faith and revelation and the doctrines related to creation, history, and future resurrection and judgement. £2

Cyprian: De Lapsis and De Ecclesiae Catholicae Unitate

Translated by Maurice Bévenot, Lecturer in Ecclesiology and Patristics, Heythrop College

The Latin text has been critically established anew from the manuscripts. That of the De Lapsis is here published for the first time, that of the De Unitate is reproduced from the author's The Tradition of Manuscripts (1961). The translations are drawn from Ancient Christian Writers: vol. 25. £1·75

The Cambridge History of Islam

Volume I: The Central Islamic Lands

Volume II: The Further Islamic Lands:

Islamic Society and Civilization

Edited by P. M. HOLT, ANN K. S. LAMBTON and BERNARD LEWIS

This work, written by a team of specialist historians, surveys the history of the Muslim lands over more than 13 centuries, beginning with Arabia before the Prophet Muhammad. There are numerous maps and a section of photographs (many previously unpublished) illustrating Islamic art and architecture. '... the quality of the essays is excellent...' Library Journal
