GET INTO THE ACT

with Auburn and Burkman's Drama Through Performance – a text using informal classroom performance as a tool for understanding dramatic literature.

By entering the performing life of each play, students gain direct perception of character, dramatic action, plot, and style.

Auburn and Burkman are easy on both students and instructors. An Instructor's Manual gradually develops a class-proven guide to informal performance, while introductions motivate students to discover the "central action" of the plays. And scenes for performance are kept to a manageable length.

The span of periods and forms in Drama Through Performance (Sophocles to Pinter, classical drama to modern improvisation) provides a balanced anthology, even for those who prefer a strictly literary, analytical approach.

GRADUATE DRAMA AT NYU's SCHOOL OF THE ARTS

We don't take a literary approach. We study the play on stage; our emphasis is the history and theory of performance itself. This makes our graduate program unlike any other.

Faculty members must be more than scholars. They must be involved in practical theatre. Like Michael Kirby, author of Happenings, The Art of Time, and Futurist Performance, who is also a playwright, director, and editor of The Drama Review. Brooks McNamara is a theatre set designer as well as author of The American Playhouse in the Eighteenth Century and The Medicine Show. Richard Schechner is the author of Public Domain and Environmental Theatre. He is the founder and co-director of the Performance Group. Theodore Hoffman, the co-author of A Guide to Theatre Study, is also a critic and a teacher of improvisation.

Our A.M. program covers the history of theatre, the history of acting, directing, physical theatre, and theatrical theory. Its focus is contemporary performance practice.

Our Ph.D. program emphasizes the specialties of the faculty. Courses are offered in such areas as History of Avant-

Garde Performance (Kirby), Popular Entertainments (McNamara), Ritual and Theatre (Schechner), and Theatrical Criticism (Hoffman).

All our students must have practical theatre experience (not necessarily at the professional level). We feel our ideas will be most useful to people who are interested in doing theatre rather than merely reading about it.

There is no better place to study drama than in New York—the theatre capital of the world.

AMERICAN DRAMA

Bela Kleiner

Studio 1976

2705 Kings Highway 3D
Brooklyn, N.Y. 11229

We are more than gratified that on our nation's 200th birthday we were able to publish this brilliant, highly intellectual—three-act—drama. This new play is a profound insight into our contemporary society which includes politics, science, true love in an almost unreal situation. The reader will be meeting with real characters, acting in our astringent world—formed around us by nature, inured by man—that was never so fully explored with so much human faith. In this book, one will find answers to hypothetical questions of religion, uncover the substantiality of human joy, visualize how the characters are struggling with their inner- and outside world. These are just hints of the many topics this book will reveal you. Our effort is to reach dramatic theaters, schools, universities and the small group of readers who will appreciate this kind of literary work. We guarantee, this book will exceed your expectation. Thank you for your support.

"American Drama" is available only from STUDIO 1976 by mail. $3.00 (Add 50¢ for postage and handling)

DRAMATIC PENGUINS

POOR MURDERER

Pavel Kohout

A brilliant play about a young Russian actor who goes mad playing the part of Hamlet, believing that he has really murdered the actor portraying Polonius. Kohout is an outstanding Czech dramatist, poet, and screenwriter, whose works can be neither published nor performed in his native country.

OTHERWISE ENGAGED and Other Plays

Simon Gray

By the author of Butley. This play opens as Simon Hench prepares to listen to his new recording of Parsifal. The music begins but is interrupted — first by a visit from his lodger, who is preoccupied with sexual problems, then by the arrival of his brother, anxious about a job interview. Soon a string of interruptions has drawn Hench into a whirlpool of accusations, confessions, and recriminations.

THREE PLAYS

John Webster

Edited and introduced by David Gunby

These plays exemplify Webster's dark poetic genius: The White Devil, The Duchess of Malfi, and The Devil's Law Case. While the first two are brooding revenge tragedies, depicting the violence and evil in Renaissance courts, the latter is a tragicomedy that shows Webster's characteristic forcefulness of expression.

ANTONIN ARTAUD

Martin Esslin

Here is the first book to examine every facet of Artaud's genius — his revolutionary experiments in the theater, his political impact, his influence on the controversy between psychiatrists and the antipsychiatry school, his ideas on drug addiction, his contributions to poetry, philosophy, and linguistics.

IS OFFERING AN ALTERNATIVE PROGRAM IN:

EXPERIMENTAL THEATRE

The Department of Drama, Undergraduate, which offers a B.F.A. degree in acting, is pleased to announce an alternative program of study with the Experimental Theatre Wing. A limited number of students will have the opportunity to work intimately with leading experimental theatre groups in a two-year program designed for students who have completed two years of foundation work with one of the three professional studios associated with our Department: Stella Adler Conservatory of Acting, Circle in the Square Theatre School, and The Lee Strasberg Theatre Institute. The ETW is also open to students who have studied acting elsewhere and who wish to transfer into our Department. Students in the ETW will work in unique acting, voice and movement workshops taught from the point of view of members from each of the following experimental theatre groups: The Performance Group (best known for explorations of audience participation and environmental theatre), The Ridiculous Theatrical Company (specializing in Commedia dell'arte), Mabou Mines (known for conceptual adaptations of Beckett and experiments with new music and movement), Chi-Kanji and original members of the Open Theater—each known for uniquely experimental approaches to ensemble acting. In addition to studying with the groups, students will be expected to take dramatic literature, theatre history (including studies in the avant-garde), and performance theory courses offered through the Department. The program also includes summer workshops with the Iowa Theater Lab and the Bread and Puppet Theater.

Since the nature of the groups involves frequent international tours, the order and availability of the groups varies each semester. For each year's schedule and further information contact:

THE PERFORMING ARTS PROGRAM OF THE ASIA SOCIETY is pleased to announce the following programs available in 1977-1978.

PENCA (The Art of Self-Defense) and TOPENG BABAKAN (Masked Dance) from Sunda, West Java Twelve Persons

Penca is unique in that the movements of self-defense so popular throughout Asia have been set to a distinctive type of music provided by drums, a reed instrument, and a small gong. In Topeng Babakan, a single dancer, accompanied by gamelan music, portrays five different types of characters, using beautifully-wrought masks—the dancer losing his identity and becoming the character represented by the mask.

Availability: East—October 5-31, 1977
Midwest—November 1-14, 1977
West—November 15-22, 1977

THOVIL (The Ritual Chanting, Dance, and Drumming of Exorcism) from Sri Lanka Six Persons

From the south of Sri Lanka (Ceylon) comes this exciting ceremonial: witch doctors wearing demon masks dance, eat fire, twirl torches to the accompaniment of the yak-bere (devil drum) and chant in invocation of the spirits. The colorful costumes, exotic masks, and acrobatic dances have remained unchanged for centuries, and will give a glimpse of shamanism as it is still practiced in Sri Lanka today.

Availability: East—February 1-25, 1978
Midwest—February 26-March 8, 1978
West—March 9-22, 1978

QAWWALI MUSIC FROM PAKISTAN Ten Persons

This inspiring devotional music, which is the musical expression of the Sufis, is vocal music performed by soloists and ensemble singers accompanied by drum, harmonium, and handclapping. The repetition of certain phrases of qawwali poetry (which emphasizes mystical love or praise of God, the Prophet, and saints) builds towards a state of ecstasy.

Availability: East—March 7-24, 1978
Midwest—March 25-April 2, 1978
West—April 3-13, 1978

All three groups will be available for concerts, master-classes, lecture-demonstrations and in-residencies. For further information please write to Mrs. Beate Gordon, Director, The Performing Arts Program of The Asia Society, 133 East 58th Street, 15th floor, New York, N.Y. 10022. # Continuum Books

RITUAL, PLAY AND PERFORMANCE
Readings in the Social Sciences/Theatre
Richard Schechner and Mady Schuman, Editors

What are the connections between avant-garde experiments in theatre and animal behavior, anthropology, sociology, psychology and other social sciences? This carefully gathered selection of readings provides the first work of its kind on the convergence of aesthetics and social science in performance. Contributors include Erving Goffman, Konrad Lorenz, Claude Levi-Strauss, Jane van Lawick-Goodall, Jerzy Grotowski, Ray Birdwhistell and E. T. Kirby. $14.95

THE ETHIC OF TIME
Structures of Experience in Shakespeare
Wylie Sypher

This is a penetrating, pivotal study of a comparatively unexamined aspect of Shakespearean drama—its relation to modern interpretations of the different ways we exist in time. With an uncanny intuition, Shakespeare foreshadowed many of the most provocative, although conflicting, modern views of the way time-sense shapes human experience and behavior. In this book, Sypher shows how the alternative ways of existing in time give structure and meaning to the action and ethic of the major plays. $10.95

CHILDREN'S THEATER IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOL
Mary Paul Francis Pierini

A simple guide for the classroom teacher, this unique book introduces a step-by-step explanation of the various aspects involved in producing a play for and with children. Emphasis is placed on the techniques of starting and teaching children's theater. $4.50 Paper

A Life in a Wooden O

Memoirs of the Theatre by Ben Iden Payne

A fascinating autobiography of Payne's unique career of seventy years in the theatre as an actor, teacher, and director. In 1907 Payne initiated the repertory movement in England. Later, after a brilliant career as a Broadway director, he developed his "modified Elizabethan staging"—a technique that has left an indelible mark on the production of Shakespeare's plays. Illus. $12.50

"Payne was one of the pioneers in modern drama. And his teaching of Shakespeare must have really inspired his students. Whenever I run into them, whether they work in theatre or not, they are true devotees."

—Joseph Papp

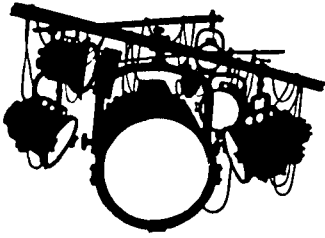

"Ranks at the very top of theatrical biographies."

—Arthur Kennedy

Do You Have A Mime- Movement Class?

If you don't you should. The values of such a class have been proven to be beneficial for the theatre student. But where do you find a good mime movement teacher? They are in short supply. So...

Bring A Mime School To Your Students

T. Daniel will conduct a comprehensive program of mime on your campus. Classes, lectures, demonstrations and performances are designed to teach the basic principles, theories and philosophies of mime and movement. But how can you make this available to your students?

A Residency With T. Daniel Will Do It!

The artist is the most important decision in a residency program. With six years of experience in teaching and performing mime, preceded by intensive training with the world's best mime, T. Daniel is well qualified technically. Moreover, it is T. Daniel, the person and individual, who has been a smashing success in over 30 residencies. References are available...
