EUROPEAN POLITICAL SCIENCE REVIEW

Three Forms of Trust and Their Association Ken Newton and Sonja Zmerli

The Role of Political Institutions in a Comparative Perspective Antje Kirchner, Markus Freitag
and Carolin Rapp

Under which conditions does spending on active labor market policies increase? Barbara Vis

Globalization and extra-parliamentary politics in an era of democracy Moises Arce and Wonik Kim

The declining electoral relevance of traditional cleavage groups Robin E. Best

Foreign donor assistance and environmental capacity building Adam Fagan and Indraneel Sircar

The bottom half of the cover features a large, abstract, grayscale wavy pattern that resembles liquid or a topographical map. The waves flow from the left towards the right, creating a sense of movement and depth.

STATEMENT OF AIMS

European Political Science Review (EPSR) aims to be a place for the best research in all areas of political science. As a 'general' journal in political science, it will publish articles that speak to as large an audience as possible within the discipline.

EPSR will publish original research of the highest scholarly quality from leading political scientists around the world. It will also feature the work of the best young scholars in the discipline.

EPSR is published by the European Consortium for Political Research and Cambridge University Press, bringing together the experience and expertise of two leading organizations worldwide devoted to advancing and disseminating research in political science and government.

All articles are peer reviewed.

This journal issue has been printed on FSC-certified paper and cover board. FSC is an independent, non-governmental, not-for-profit organization established to promote the responsible management of the world's forests. Please see www.fsc.org for information.
