Global Society

Journal of Interdisciplinary International Relations

EDITOR

Jarrod Wiener

Supported by a Deputy Editor, Editorial Committee and International Editorial Board

Global Society covers the new agenda in international relations and encourages innovative approaches to the study of international issues from a range of disciplines. It promotes the analysis of international transactions at multiple levels, and in particular, the way in which these transactions blur the distinction between the sub-national, national and transnational levels.

An ever integrating global society raises a number of issues for international relations which do not fit comfortably within established paradigms. Among these are the international consequences of nationalism and struggles for identity, migration, racism, religious fundamentalism, terrorism and criminal activities, famines, genocides, the spread of contagious disease and pestilence, and environmental degradation. Similarly, the globalization of normative super-structures, such as of liberal capitalism or of communications, such as the Internet, influences transactions at all levels and challenges state controls, for instance overflows of capital and of information. Global Society therefore promotes the analysis of the internationalization of various levels of social interaction from a multitude of disciplines, including International Relations, Political Science, Political Philosophy, International Political Economy, International Law, International Conflict Analysis and Sociology.

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs

EDITOR

Saleha S. Mahmood

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs is a biannual research journal produced by the Institute of Muslim Minority Affairs as part of its publication programme. Published since 1979, the journal has firmly established itself as a highly respected and widely acclaimed academic scholarly publication providing accurate, reliable and objective information.

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs provides a forum for frank but responsible discussion of issues relating to the life of Muslims in non-Muslim societies. The journal has become increasingly influential as the subject of Muslim minorities has acquired added significance. About 400 million Muslims, fully one third of the world Muslim population of 1.2 billion, live as minorities in 149 countries around the globe. Even as minorities they form significant communities within their countries of residence.

Journal of Muslim Minority Affairs is the only scholarly journal studying Muslim communities in non-Muslim societies. It provides a wealth of information that cannot be found anywhere else in documented form. The journal has opened up a new area of specialisation in minority studies with original articles addressing the minority condition from the historical, demographic, social and economic perspective. Our research interests extend to non-Muslim minorities living in Muslim societies, interfaith dialogue to promote understanding and the study of Muslim minority women, the minorities' minority. The journal has indeed pioneered the way in examining theoretical and conceptual issues that define and explain the minority experience.

NATIONALITIES PAPERS is the only journal in the world which deals exclusively with all nationalities of the former USSR, and also with national minorities in Eastern and Central European countries. The problems and importance of over 140 million people are treated with the disciplinary and methodological contexts of Post-Soviet and Europe-Asia studies. Of central concern is the fate of the Balts, Ukrainians, Jews and the peoples of Central Asia and the Caucasus. Nationalities Papers is an international and multidisciplinary journal with contributors and readers throughout North America, Western and Eastern Europe, the Far East, Japan and the People's Republic of China. Included in each general issue are in-depth analyses from the historical view, updates on latest developments, some original documents, and book reviews; some issues concentrate on a region or nationality as a special topic, which exclusive focus allows for more extensive and detailed information.
