BUTTERWORTHS AFRICAN LAW SERIES

OBI on the IBO LAW
OF PROPERTY Ready Shortly

By S. N. C. OBI, B.Sc. (Econ.) Hons., LL.B. (Hons.), LL.M.,
Barrister-at-Law

This new book in Butterworths African Law Series deals with the law relating to land and movables in Iboland, an area in the Eastern region of Nigeria with a population of about six million. Also covered are such things as fishing and hunting rights, succession, sale and women's rights, but although the theme is mainly customary law the effect of the impact of English legal ideas has been indicated. Courts and Practitioners in Africa will find this a valuable book and it should have a wide appeal elsewhere amongst all who are interested in the study of African customary law.

BENNION'S Constitutional LAW OF GHANA

By F. A. R. BENNION, M.A. (Oxon.), Barrister-at-Law;
*Technical Adviser to the Government of Ghana on the preparation of legislation (1959-1961); sometime Lecturer and Tutor in Law, St.
Edmund Hall, Oxford*

In 1960 Ghana adopted a Republican constitution, which had many novel features, being a blend of British, American and African constitutional ideas. The author of this book took an active part in the preparation of the new legislation, and is therefore extremely well qualified to present this authoritative exposition of the Constitutional Law of Ghana. Not only does the author expound the provisions of the law as they exist, he also gives a certain amount of technical help wherever necessary. This is clearly an essential work for all concerned with the administration or study of Ghanaian law.

“The publication of the present volume will be . . . welcomed in all English-speaking countries in which the legal consequences of the Treaty of Rome and its implementing regulations for commerce and industry are only now being fully appreciated.”—The Law Times.

“The book is one which businessmen and all interested in trade relations with the European Common Market will find extremely useful.”—The Scotsman.

JAMES'S INTRODUCTION TO ENGLISH LAW

FIFTH EDITION

By PHILIP S. JAMES, M.A., Barrister-at-Law; Professor of Law in the University of Leeds; formerly a Fellow of Exeter College, Oxford, and a Research Fellow of Yale University, U.S.A.

This work has achieved remarkable popularity as a general outline to the law as a whole, and now appears in its Fifth Edition in response to the continuing demand for an up-to-date version. The straightforward and pleasant style will particularly appeal to all those who are starting their study of the law. This edition includes information on a number of important new statutes such as the Administration of Justice Act, 1960, and the Suicide Act, 1961.
