It is a remarkable fact that hitherto there has been no English review devoted to the serious study of political and social questions from the national and international points of view. This need has now been met by the publication of The Political Quarterly.

The function of The Political Quarterly is to further the study of political science in its broadest aspects. Its scope will be the entire range of government. The Political Quarterly is not tied to any party and publishes contributions from persons of various shades of opinion.

The Political Quarterly will deal comprehensively with English affairs. It will also survey the world problems of government from all aspects—political, economic, international, legal, psychological. The Editors will draw freely on the experience of the British Commonwealth of Nations and of other countries.

The Political Quarterly made its appearance in January, 1930. It has already established a reputation for the excellence of its articles, reviews and surveys.

The Political Quarterly should make a special appeal to thoughtful observers of political and economic change in America. It should everywhere be valuable to the professor of political science, the active politician, the administrator, and the expert in the field of government.

Recent articles in the issues for January-March, 1931, and April-June, 1931, include: A Reform Bill for 1932, by Mrs. Sidney Webb; The State as an Organ of Rationalization, by J. A. Hobson; The Future of Palestine, by G. T. Garratt; Prolegomena to Fascism, by C. E. M. Joad; The Agricultural Problem, by C. S. Orwin; The Function of the Press, by C. P. Scott; Russia and U.S.A., by S. Lawford Childs; The Romance of 19th Century Politics, by J. L. Hammond; The Future of the British Broadcasting Corporation, by Leonard Woolf; After Liberia, by W. Benson; An Alternative to Tariffs, by E. F. Wise, M.P., with a criticism by Prof. L. Robbins; Indian Education and Unemployment, by J. W. Gregory, F.R.S.; The Alternative Vote. Surveys by Prof. A. M. Carr-Saunders, Kingsley Martin, and others. Reviews by G. Lowes Dickinson, Prof. T. E. Gregory, E. D. Simon, M.P., Prof. G. E. G. Catlin; C. Delisle Burns; W. A. Robson, and others.
