

Abstract

Cite this article: Gagnaire K (2024). My Data, My Body, My Rights: Help Shape this Initiative!. Disaster Medicine and Public Health Preparedness, 18, e189, 1
<https://doi.org/10.1017/dmp.2024.219>

My Data, My Body, My Rights: Help Shape this Initiative!

---

Kirsten Gagnaire MA

---

Kati Collective, Seattle, WA, USA

Abstract

Objectives: the line between our physical and digital selves becomes increasingly blurry, sexual, and reproductive data rights must be safeguarded as a key lever of bodily autonomy and gender equality.

Methods: Kati Collective will facilitate an engaging workshop on protecting personal sexual reproductive health data rights and bodily autonomy to build a shared understanding of this critical issue and begin to explore pathways for solutions.

Results: Develop co-created policy-level recommendations and pathways to action contributing to improved understanding, alignment and collaboration among key stakeholders, and improved protection, ownership, governance of SRH data.

Conclusions: There is an urgent need for collective action to co-develop policy-level recommendations and pathways to action to protect SRH rights and bodily autonomy.

Supplementary material. The supplementary material for this article can be found at <http://doi.org/10.1017/dmp.2024.219>.