

A Handbook of Tswana Law and Custom

By I. SCHAPERA

London: Oxford University Press for International African Institute, 1955. Pp. xxxi+328, map. Price 30s. net

This study, first published in 1938 at the request of the Government of Bechuanaland, has been out of print for some years. In response to numerous orders and inquiries the International African Institute has now undertaken the publication of a second edition.

Professor Schapera has written a new introduction reviewing recent developments in the administration of justice by tribal courts in Bechuanaland; the genealogies of chiefly families and the lists of age regiments have been revised and brought up to date. A select bibliography has also been added.

The book, which is the result of the author's own field researches, was one of the first systematic studies of African customary law and native court procedure. It remains a classical exposition of this important aspect of African social organization.

THE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT OF NIGERIA

The Report of a Mission organized by the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development

This Report, to the 'World Bank', contains the most complete and up-to-date description available of economic conditions in Nigeria. It appraises the territory's prospects for economic development and recommends measures for realizing them. The programme suggested is mainly directed towards the strengthening of the government services, but there are recommendations for agriculture, water resources, mining, electric power, transport and communications, &c.
