

Constantine and Eusebius

Timothy D. Barnes

“A book that scholars would be very ill-advised to neglect on any topic treated in it. It is marked at every turn with Barnes’ magnificent obsession with getting the record straight. Its implications for the role of Christianity in the Roman Empire are quite revolutionary.”—Peter Brown

This political and cultural history of the age of Constantine offers a new assessment of the part Christianity played in the Roman world of the 3rd and 4th centuries. $35.00

The Solitary Self

Individuality in the Ancrene Wisse

Linda Georgianna

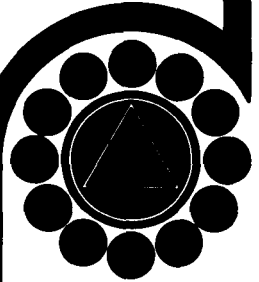

“Linda Georgianna has written a landmark study of a major medieval English religious text, confirming its status as a work of literary genius.”—Robert W. Hanning

Linda Georgianna offers a sensitive reading of the medieval Ancrene Wisse, a spiritual guide for female recluses. She analyzes this complex and skillfully composed treatise and examines its detailed portrayal of the rich, sometimes rewarding and sometimes frustrating inner life of the solitary. $16.50

In 10 Volumes

HISTORY OF THE CHURCH, edited under the direction of the distinguished historian of the ecumenical councils, Hubert Jedin, with subsequent editing of the translation done by historian John Dolan, is a complete survey of the history of the Church in light of both the new twentieth-century awareness of faith and the latest discoveries of scholarly research. Each volume pays due attention to the influence of sociological, economic, and political factors on the life of the Church, but the main characteristic of the series is its emphasis on the varying theological forces that have shaped institutional Christianity through the ages. All volumes provide the most extensive bibliographies presently available.

Commentary on True and False Religion

ZWINGLI

Edited by Samuel Macauley Jackson with a new index by J. Samuel Hammond. Originally published in 1929 by the American Society of Church History.

Zwingli's Commentary was the most significant dogmatic work which he ever wrote and the most important systematic statement of Reformed theology before Calvin's Institutes. It remains essential reading for anyone who wishes to understand the Protestant Reformation.
