Oxford History of the Christian Church

---

General Editors: Henry Chadwick and Owen Chadwick

---

This series, which will ultimately include more than twenty volumes, is intended to provide a full survey of the Christian churches and their part in the religious heritage of humanity. Particular attention will be paid to the place of the churches in surrounding society, the institutions of church life and the manifestations of popular religion, the link with forms of national culture, and the intellectual tradition within and beyond Europe. The first volume to appear will be:

---

A History of the Churches in the United States and Canada

---

Robert T. Handy

---

This book is the first to undertake an inclusive treatment of the Christian churches of both the U.S.A. and Canada. No distinction is made between the two countries in the account of the early colonial period; then as they diverge separate chapters are devoted to each of them; finally the two stories are brought together again in the period since the First World War when the churches north and south of the border have faced similar problems and opportunities. £10.50 Oxford History of the Christian Church

Religion and Rural Society

South Lindsey 1825–1875

---

James Obelkevich

---

This is a social history of religion in a rural district in Lincolnshire during the middle decades of the nineteenth century. It explores the entire range of religious phenomena and attempts to recover their social meanings and their social context. It concludes that both the heightening of religious activity in the early part of the period and its later decline had their origins in social change. £12

---

The Natural History of Religion and Dialogues concerning Natural Religion

---

David Hume

---

Edited by A. Wayne Colver and John V. Price

---

These two works represent Hume's most searching and self-contained pronouncements upon the central issues of religious belief, and each is, in its way, devastating to the cause of natural religion. This edition of The Natural History is based on the first edition (published 1757) and records all Hume's changes in later editions. The Dialogues have been edited from Hume's own manuscript copy and all authorial deletions and changes of wording have been recorded. £10

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions and books for review should be sent to the Editor, Professor H. D. Lewis, King's College, Strand, London, WC2R 2LS. Books published in America should be sent to Professor J. E. Smith, Department of Philosophy, Yale University, New Haven.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
