Journal of Contemporary Religion is an international journal concerned with the discussion and analysis of contemporary aspects of religion focusing on significant trends, developments and processes of the past 20-30 years. This includes material on older, more established religions, for example the rise and impact of Islam and the appeal of Japanese Buddhist movements in the United States or Western Europe since 1960. Contributions on current forms of religiosity and spirituality, religious experience in contemporary society, new religions, contemporary fundamentalism, religion and environmental issues are welcome. The Journal also includes review articles dealing with these themes.

EACH MIND A KINGDOM

American Women, Sexual Purity, and the New Thought Movement, 1875-1920

Beryl Satter

"Ambitious, engaging and beautifully written . . . a groundbreaking investigation that overturns established paradigms in which women are buffeted by history rather than agents of it. . . . Satter's conclusion . . . has enormous resonance today."—Publishers Weekly

"Firmly grounded in social history, Satter's work reanimates a set of ideas that have been largely lost from view and demonstrates both their historical efficacy and their centrality to an understanding of the cultural and social transformations of the turn of the century." —Amy Schrager Lang, author of Prophetic Women

The New Thought Movement was an enormously popular late nineteenth-century spiritual movement led largely by and for women. This work is the first to uncover the cultural implications of New Thought, embedding it in the intellectual traditions of nineteenth-century America.

REINVENTING AMERICAN PROTESTANTISM

Christianity in the
New Millennium

Donald E. Miller

"One of the most engaging, insightful discussions yet of American Protestantism's recent trend toward 'postdenominational' churches."

VISUAL PIETY

A History and Theory of Popular Religious Images

David Morgan

"Morgan has had the good idea of studying the (usually kitschy) popular images of Jesus that once graced many lower- and middle-class homes.

. . . Morgan discusses the social and religious meaning of these pictures. . . while also providing a general history and analysis of popular religious iconography."

LA LECHE LEAGUE

At the Crossroads of Medicine, Feminism, and Religion

JULE DEJAGER WARD

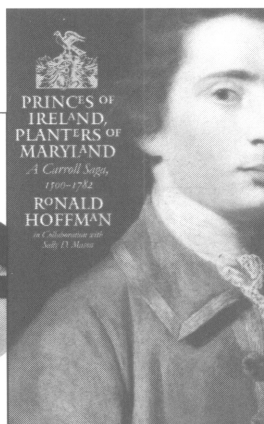

A theologian looks inside the group known worldwide for its pathbreaking promotion of breast-feeding.

“Focusing on the positive, Ward describes the theological, feminist, and medical viewpoints that jointly fueled the engine of the La Leche League success story.”

—Judith Walzer Leavitt, University of Wisconsin–Madison

“[Ward’s] fine cultural analysis of [La Leche League’s] religious roots in Catholicism and the complex debates within the feminist movement should interest many people, from those in women’s studies and history to those in religious studies and practical theology.”—Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, Vanderbilt University

PRINCES OF IRELAND, PLANTERS OF MARYLAND

A Carroll Saga, 1500–1782

RONALD HOFFMAN

In Collaboration with Sally D. Mason

Charles Carroll is most often remembered as the sole Roman Catholic signer of the Declaration of Independence.

In this monumental study of the Carrolls in Ireland and America, that act vindicates a family’s determination to triumph without compromising lineage and faith.

“A powerful and compelling story. . . . It will take its place among the very best of the intergenerational family histories of colonial and Revolutionary America.”

—John Murrin, Princeton University
