Part I and II of this reference book were published by the T.M.C. Asser Instituut in 1976 and 1980 successively. The core of the books consisted of court decisions involving the Hague Conventions then in force in the field of private international law.

Part III, appearing in the year of the Fifteenth Session of the Hague Conference, provides up-to-date information on all the materials contained in Part I and Part II. The cases decided in 11 European countries and the USA, including arbitral awards in international commercial arbitration, cover the period from 1979 to 1983.

This wealth of information has been made accessible by arranging the decisions per Convention and then per legal issue, thus clearly showing similarities and differences in the application of each Convention by a variety of countries and tribunals. Considering the increasing number of Conventions between a growing number of parties, this system is eminently suited to illustrate the problems of application, in particular, of the Conventions on child protection and the maintenance of minors.

Of at least equal importance in practice is the 'situation actuelle' as at 1 May 1984, of the Conventions concluded since 1954. This survey shows the signatures, ratifications, reservations and other declarations relating to each Convention.

The Conventions have given rise not only to a large number of cases, but also to a vast literature throughout the world, which appears in a 20 page bibliography arranged per session of the Hague Conference, and per Convention.

A detailed analytical table of contents and a table of cases, which make this material even more accessible, complete the book.

The Permanent Bureau of the Hague Conference has co-operated in the realization of this series, which will prove to be indispensable for practicing lawyers and legal scholars who have anything to do with the Hague Conference in any area of private international law or international procedural law.
