The Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

● STANFORD, CALIFORNIA

THE POLITICS OF THE CHINESE RED ARMY

A Translation of the Bulletin of Activities of the People's Liberation Army

Edited by J. Chester Cheng. Now, in this first full published translation, students of Communist China will learn Peking's frank assessment of its policy on such subjects as Taiwan, the United Nations, peaceful co-existence, and nuclear war, as well as on internal problems. Published by the Hoover Institution. $35.00

FOOD AND AGRICULTURE IN COMMUNIST CHINA

By John Lossing Buck, Owen L. Dawson, and Yuan-li Wu. Self-sufficiency in food supply continues to be one of the major objectives of the Chinese Communist regime. The authors discuss agricultural statistics and methods of production in this study, and evaluate the effectiveness of agricultural policy in Communist China. Published for the Hoover Institution by Frederick A. Praeger, Publishers, New York & Washington/Pall Mall Press, London. $6.00

THE KOREAN PEOPLE'S DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC

By Glenn D. Paige. The author examines North Korean developments over the past twenty years—before entry into the Communist community, during the Stalinist integration period, and the period of post-Stalinist integrative change. He also suggests some projections of past trends into the future. Published by the Hoover Institution. $2.00

THE MONGOLIAN PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC

By Robert A. Rupen. Even though livestock-herding nomads still comprise the majority of the population, they have been effectively integrated into the Communist system in Mongolia through collectivization and close party supervision. This study traces the development and present state of Soviet influence, and projects its future in Mongolia. Published by the Hoover Institution. $2.00

THE CHINESE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC

By Dennis J. Doolin and Robert C. North. The underlying theme of this evaluation is harmony and conflict in China in its role as a member of the world Communist system. The authors examine Chinese developments, trends, and prospects. Published by the Hoover Institution. $2.00
