

Activities

David W. Abbott, Brooklyn College, CUNY, is currently investigating the effects of the McGovern reforms on the Democratic primary with the support of a research grant from the Twentieth Century Fund.

Margaret Ball, Duke University, returned from one semester of research on the Commonwealth in the Pacific Basin and resumed her teaching in January.

Donald D. Barry, Lehigh University, will be participating in Boston University's Overseas Program for the 1972-73 academic year. He will be teaching in Berlin the fall semester and in Naples the spring semester.

L. Vaughn Blankenship, SUNY, Buffalo, will spend the calendar year 1973 on sabbatical leave at the University of California, Berkeley.

Ralph Braibanti, Duke University, gave a paper at a regional conference in Beirut, Lebanon, on problems of administrative reform in Arab states. He also served as a consultant to the Middle East Office of the Ford Foundation on administrative reform and visited Saudi Arabia and Syria.

Charles E. Butterworth, University of Maryland, will teach at the University of Grenoble, France, during 1972-73.

William R. Campbell, Miami University, Ohio, received a 1972 Summer University Faculty Research Fellowship for research on a new grammar for political science.

Herschelle Challenor, Brooklyn College, CUNY, is on leave in Washington, D.C. as a Congressional Fellow of the American Political Science Association.

Teh-Kuang Chang, Ball State University, will be on sabbatical leave in Taiwan, Republic of China, during the academic year 1972-73. He has been appointed as a National Visiting Professor by the National Science Council to teach at the Graduate School of International Law and Diplomacy, National Chengchin University, Taipei, Taiwan.

Edward Chaszar, Indiana University, Pennsylvania, was Director of IOP's Latin American Seminar in Buenos Aires in July-August 1972.

Joyotpaul Chaudhuri, University of Arizona, was awarded the Standard Oil Foundation Award for Excellence in teaching by Florida State University. He has now joined the University of Arizona as Associate Professor.

Carl Q. Christof, University of Southern California, served as an NGO observer on behalf of the American Bar Association and the International Bar Association at the United Nationals Conference on the Human Environment.

R. Taylor Cole, Duke University, spent part of the summer of 1972 in Germany doing research on European governments.

Frank T. Colon, Lehigh University, served as Director of the Robert A. Taft Institute of Government Seminar and Workshop in teaching Government at Lehigh University, June 19 to July 19, 1972.

Samuel D. Cook, Duke University, received the honorary degree of Doctor of Law from his Alma Mater, Morehouse College, Atlanta, Georgia. He will be on leave of absence during both semesters of the 1972-73 academic year, during which time he will hold a Ford Foundation Senior Fellowship. Dr. Cook was appointed by Governor Robert W. Scott to both the North Carolina Council of State Goals and Policy and the Southern Growth Policies Board.

Neal E. Cutler, University of Pennsylvania, has received a Fulbright Fellowship for research in Finland.

John A. Davis, City College, CUNY, has been elected to the Board of Trustees of his Alma Mater, Williams College.

Alona E. Evans, Wellesley College, has returned following a sabbatical leave. She will be chairman of the Political Science Department in 1972-73.

David Farnsworth, Wichita State University, was chosen as lecturer on foreign relations for the Department of Defense.

Michael Francis, University of Notre Dame, is the director of the Foreign Study Program in Mexico.

Francine Frankel, University of Pennsylvania, has been awarded a Ford Foundation Faculty Fellowship for Research in India.

Douglas W. Frisbie, Miami University, Ohio, received a 1972 Summer University Undergraduate Teaching Improvement Award for postdoctoral study at the summer institutes of the Inter-University Consortium for Political Research at the University of Michigan.

William R. Gable, Arizona State University, has returned after a fourteen month leave as Executive Coordinator with the Arizona Board of Regents where he assisted in the reorganization of the central office staff.

Charles H. Goodman, American University, is on sabbatical leave.

Ronald C. Green, Indiana University, Pennsylvania, has been selected to participate in the NSF Chatauquatype short course program, 1972-73.

Kathryn Griffith, Wichita State University, has been appointed to an Advisory Council of the federal government's archival program in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Iowa.

Kazimierz Grzybowski, Duke University, spent part of the summer of 1972 in Coblenz continuing research in comparative law.

Charles B. Hagan, University of Houston, has returned after serving as visiting professor at Duke University during the 1971-72 academic year.

Hugh Hall, Duke University, will be on leave of absence during the fall semester.

John Hallowell, Duke University, read a paper at an international conference on political theory at Villa Serbelloni, Italy, in the summer of 1972.

Royce Hanson, American University, has returned to full-time teaching after a two year absence.

Jerome Hanus, American University, is on sabbatical leave.

Marvin Harder, Wichita State University, served as Chairman of the Kansas McGovern Caucus.

Richard F. Heiges, Indiana University, Pennsylvania, while on sabbatical leave was a consultant to the Pennsylvania Department of Community Affairs doing research on the delivery of public services to rural areas. During the spring 1973 he will direct an HEA Title I Seminar for local government officials: "Meeting Environmental Problems Through Intergovernmental Cooperation."

Samuel Hendel, Trinity College, Connecticut, was reelected chairman of the national academic freedom committee of the American Civil Liberties Union in September 1972.

Kenneth R. Hoover, College of Wooster, has been awarded a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship for the period June-December 1972. The topic of the research is "Erik Erikson and the Revision of Liberal Political Thought." He will be doing part of the research and writing in Stockbridge, Massachusetts, London and Vienna.

Chun-tu-Hsueh, University of Maryland, delivered a talk on his trip to China at the Asiatic Research Center of Korea University, and interviewed government officials on Korea unification negotiation early in June 1972.

Clyde R. Ingle, SUNY, Geneseo, will be on leave during 1972-73 to serve as Special Assistant to the Commissioner of Education, Rhode Island.

Willard D. Keim, University of Pennsylvania, has been awarded a Fulbright Fellowship and will spend the 1972-73 academic year in Korea.

Allan Kornberg, Duke University, has returned from leave of absence at Sarleton University to resume his position as professor and director of the Comparative Legislative Studies Program.

John Kromkowski, University of Notre Dame, is on leave doing work in the city government.

A. Albert Kudsi-Zadeh, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point, will be on leave during 1972-73 to be a visiting senior lecturer at the University of Haifa, Israel.

W. W. Kulski, Duke University, spent the summer of 1972 doing research in Munich on the foreign relations of Poland and the Soviet Union.

Richard H. Leach, Duke University, spent part of the summer of 1972 in London continuing research on problems of the Commonwealth.

Odell Lee, Johns Hopkins University, SAIS, has been appointed to the 1972-73 Journalist/Research Apprentice Program of Dispatch News Service International.

Harold H. Leich, who retired recently from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, has been appointed to the Steering Committee of the Citizens Council for a Clean Potomac.

Harvey Lieber, American University, participated in the U.S. Department of State Scholar-Diplomat Seminar for Population, October 2-6, 1972.

John A. McDonnel, Dalhousie University, will be a research fellow at the Center for Foreign Policy Studies, for the academic year 1972-73.

James McKenney, Wichita State University, will be on sabbatical leave during the fall semester, 1972-73. He will be conducting a study in Panama and Costa Rica on political socialization.

David S. McLellan, Miami University, Ohio, received a 1972-73 Graduate Research Assistant Award for a study of the domestic policy implications of foreign policy decisions.

Ralph Mendershausen, University of California, San Diego, will be the second 1972-73 intern in the West German Parliament (Bundestag) under a program developed by the Conference Group on German Politics (CGGP) in cooperation with the Legislative Service of the Bundestag.

Lester W. Milbrath, SUNY, Buffalo, will spend the academic year 1972-73 on sabbatical leave in Scandinavia. He will spend the first semester as visiting professor at the University of Aarhus, Denmark, under a Fulbright grant. In the second semester, he will conduct research on environmental problems of Norway, comparing them with those of the United States.

Glenn G. Morgan, California State University, San Jose, spent a month in the Soviet Union gathering Soviet legal materials under grants from the American Philosophical Society and the Earhart Foundation.

Patrick M. Morgan, Washington State University, attended the National Security Education Seminar at Colorado Springs in June and July.

Mark V. Nadel, Cornell University, is a Guest Scholar at the Brookings Institution for the 1972-73 academic year. He has received a Fellowship from the National Endowment for the Humanities to study corporate responsibility and citizenship.

David Paletz, Duke University, will be on leave of absence for the 1972-73 academic year serving as Visiting Associate Professor at American University in Washington, D.C.

Norman D. Palmer, University of Pennsylvania, was a Faculty Fellow of the American Institute of Indian Studies during 1972. He participated in conferences on U.S. Foreign Policy in Kathmandu, Nepal, and on Center-State Relations in Agra, India.

Guy E. Poitras, East Texas State University, participated in the Scholar-Diplomat Seminar for Latin American Affairs sponsored by the Department of State in Washington on April 17-21, by invitation of the Department of State.

Inez Reid, Brooklyn College, CUNY, is on leave and will be teaching at CUNY Graduate Center and Barnard College.

Mostafa Rejai, Miami University, Ohio, spent the 1972 summer conducting research on leaders of revolution at the Center for International Affairs, Harvard University. The project was supported in part by the American Philosophical Society and in part by Miami University.

John M. Richardson, Jr., Case Western Reserve University, served on the faculty of the NATO Advanced Study Institute, held in Hannover, Germany, August 1-11, 1972.

Raymond S. Rodgers has recently been retained by the newly-elected Government of British Columbia through an Order-in-Council appointment. He has undertaken preparatory research towards the establishment of an Industrial Development Corporation, and other short-term tasks in the joint portfolios of the Attorney-Generals' Department of Ministry of Industrial Development.

Donald B. Rosenthal, SUNY, Buffalo, will be on sabbatical leave during the academic year 1972-73. He plans to spend part of the year in India continuing research on urban politics, a project which he began in 1970 under joint grants from the American Council of Learned Societies and the American Institute of Indian Studies.

Diane Rothberg, American University, is on administrative leave.

Ellis Sandoz, East Texas State University, has been elected Vice President, and Program Chairman of the Southwestern Political Science Association for 1972-73.

Alan H. Schechter, Wellesley College, will be on sabbatical leave during 1972-73. He has received a two year grant from HEW for research on suburban realtors and the politics of suburban housing.

Ruth C. Silva, Pennsylvania State University, has been named to a new National Commission on the Financing of Postsecondary Education. The Commission is charged with examining the nature and causes of financial distress facing higher education institutions and studying alternative long range solutions to financing postsecondary education.

William H. Simpson, Duke University, will be on leave during the spring semester.

Frank X. Stegert, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, has been appointed an Associate of the newly established Academy for Contemporary Problems, Columbus, Ohio.

Edward A. Stettner, Wellesley College, has returned after a sabbatical leave. He spent the 1971-72 year doing research on Walter Lippmann.

Thor Swanson, Washington State University, is on professional leave during 1972-73. He is senior resident scholar with the U.S. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Arturo Valenzuela, Duke University, spent part of the summer of 1972 in Chile continuing research in Latin American Politics.

A. Peter Waltzer, Miami University, Ohio, elected President of the Ohio Association of Political Scientists and Economists for 1972-73.

James H. Wolfe, University of Maryland, will be on sabbatical leave during the academic year 1972-73. He will spend this year doing research in Munich, Germany.

Richard Zody, Wichita State University, was a finalist for a White House Fellowship.

New Appointments

David Adamany, associate professor, University of Wisconsin, Madison; formerly of Wesleyan University.

Byung-joon Ahn, assistant professor, Western Illinois University.

William L. Ascher, lecturer, University of Pennsylvania; formerly of Yale University.

David M. Atkinson, assistant professor, University of Arizona.

William P. Avery, instructor, Tulane University.

William M. Batkey, instructor, Montclair State College.

- Christian Bay, professor, University of Toronto; formerly of University of Alberta.
- Theodore Becker, Walter Meyer Professor, New York University Law School.
- Jeffrey T. Bergner, lecturer, University of Pennsylvania; formerly of Princeton University.
- Donald G. Bishop, professor, Slippery Rock State College; formerly of Syracuse University.
- G. Matthew Bonham, associate professor, American University; formerly of University of California, Berkeley.
- Keith O. Boyum, assistant professor, California State College, Fullerton.
- Glen T. Broach, assistant professor, East Tennessee State University.
- Robert F. Butterworth, instructor, University of Pittsburgh.
- Frank L. Casale, assistant professor, University of Kentucky.
- Joyotpaul Chaudhuri, associate professor, University of Arizona; formerly of Florida State University.
- Cheryl J. Christensen, instructor, University of Pittsburgh.
- Robert Clarke, professor, Grant Valley State College; formerly of Aquinas College.
- John N. Collins, assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.
- John Deegan, Jr., assistant professor, Rice University; formerly of the University of Michigan.
- Rudolph de la Garza, assistant professor, University of Texas, El Paso; formerly of University of Arizona.
- June T. Dreyer, assistant professor, Miami University, Ohio.
- Maurice A. East, associate professor, University of Kentucky.
- James Eisenstein, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University.
- Cynthia H. Enloe, associate professor, Clark University; formerly of Miami University, Ohio.
- Pierre-Michel Fontaine, professor, Atlanta University; formerly of Boston College.
- John L. Foster, assistant professor, Georgia State University.
- Richard Gabriel, associate professor, Slippery Rock State College.
- John Garcia, assistant professor, University of Arizona; formerly Northwest University.
- Rudolph Gomez, professor, University of Texas, El Paso; formerly of Memphis State University.
- Robert C. Gray, instructor, Franklin & Marshall College.
- Janet M. Grenske, lecturer, University of Michigan.
- Linda Groff, assistant professor, California State College, Dominguez Hills.
- Harlan Hahn, professor, University of Southern California.
- Stephen C. Halpern, assistant professor, SUNY, Buffalo.
- Susan Hammond, assistant professor, American University.
- Russell Hardin, assistant professor, University of Pennsylvania.
- Willis H. Hawley, assistant professor, Duke University; formerly of Yale University.
- Richard E. Hayes, assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.
- Thomas A. Henderson, associate professor, Georgia State University; formerly of University of Florida.
- Samuel Hines, instructor, Converse College; formerly of Duke University.
- N. Gary Holten, assistant professor, Florida Technological University; formerly of Windham College.
- John D. Hutcheson, Jr., assistant professor, Georgia State University.
- Helen Ingram, associate professor, University of Arizona.
- Dennis Johnson, U.S. Civil Rights Commission; formerly of Duke University.
- Karl F. Johnson, associate professor, University of Missouri, Kansas City; formerly of University of Illinois, Urbana.
- Loch Johnson, assistant professor, Ohio University; formerly of San Francisco State University.
- William Milton Jones, instructor, King College; formerly of Duke University.
- Mary Katzenstein, instructor, University of Massachusetts, Boston.
- Harold Kellner, associate professor, American University; formerly of Boston College.
- Bertrand Kobayaski, assistant professor, American University.
- Richard Krajcik, instructor, University of Arkansas.
- Sharon P. Krefetz, assistant professor, Clark University.
- Stephana Landwehr, assistant professor, East Tennessee State University.
- James Lee, assistant professor, Lehman College, CUNY; formerly of Duke University.
- James Sanford Lee, assistant professor, Lehman College, CUNY.

News and Notes
New Appointments

Edward P. Levine, assistant professor, Rice University; formerly of University of Michigan.

James Levine, associate professor, Brooklyn College, CUNY; formerly of the University of Oregon.

Thomas A. Levy, St. Mary's College, Halifax, Nova Scotia; formerly of Duke University.

James J. Lopach, instructor, University of Notre Dame.

William Lucianovic, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University.

Kevin Maguire, Shimer College; formerly of the University of Rhodesia.

Michael Malbin, instructor, Brooklyn College, CUNY; formerly of New York University.

Jeanne Martin, assistant professor, Western Washington State College.

Fouad Masrieh, instructor, Brooklyn College, CUNY; formerly of Institute of Advanced Studies.

Edward J. Miller, instructor, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point.

Lynn Stewart Miller, associate professor, Sangamon State University; formerly of University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Neal A. Milner, associate professor, University of Hawaii; formerly of Grinnell College.

Andrew Milnor, associate professor, University of Kentucky; formerly of Cornell University.

William Mishler, lecturer, Duke University.

David J. Myers, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University.

Jean O'Barr, lecturer; Duke University.

Roger Park, instructor, Wellesley College.

Jack D. Parson, instructor, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point.

Beeman C. Patterson, associate professor, Trenton State College; formerly of Kent State University.

John W. Patterson, assistant professor, University of Kentucky.

Alan Pearson, assistant professor, Northern Kentucky State College.

Amos Perlmutter, professor, American University.

James H. Polhemus, assistant professor, University of Alabama, Birmingham.

Claude Pomerleau, instructor, University of Notre Dame.

Howard L. Reiter, instructor, University of Notre Dame.

Richard C. Remy, assistant professor, Mershon Center, Ohio State University.

Stanley Allen Renshon, assistant professor, Lehman College, CUNY.

H. Jon Rosenbaum, associate professor, City College, CUNY; formerly of Wellesley College.

Michael Roskin, assistant professor, Lycoming College.

John S. Saloma III, professor (part-time), University of Massachusetts, Boston.

Stephen Shaffer, lecturer, University of Michigan.

Raleigh W. Smith, Jr., assistant professor, Miami University, Ohio; formerly of Chicago City College.

Robert J. Steamer, professor, University of Massachusetts, Boston.

Frank X. Stegert, professor, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute; formerly visiting professor of University of New Mexico.

Phillipa Strum, associate professor, Brooklyn College, CUNY; formerly of Rutgers University.

Thomas Sykes, instructor, Colgate University; formerly of Duke University.

G. Thomas Taylor, Jr., assistant professor, University of Maine, Orono.

George Taylor, instructor, Brooklyn College, CUNY; formerly of the University of Georgia.

James A. Thurber, assistant professor, Washington State University.

Thomas Timberg, assistant professor, American University.

Rudolph L. Tokes, associate editor, STUDIES ON COMPARATIVE COMMUNISM.

John Waggaman, assistant professor, Florida State University.

Robert W. Widell, instructor, Auburn University.

O. W. Wilson, professor, California State College, Dominguez Hills.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Carl Baar, visiting assistant professor, Cornell University, 1971-72.

Lowell Dittmer, University of Chicago; SUNY, Buffalo, Summer 1972.

Carl J. Friedrich, Harvard University; Duke University, spring semester 1973 as visiting distinguished professor.

Charles Gati, Union College; Columbia University, visiting associate professor, 1972-73.

Patricia Peck Griffin, visiting lecturer, Rice University.

Catherine Kelleher, visiting associate professor, University of Illinois, Chicago Circle.

Ivars Lauersons, visiting lecturer, University of California, Berkeley.

Joseph P. Nyitray, visiting assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Margot S. Nyitray, visiting assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Andreas G. Papandreou, visiting professor, York University, Canada.

Gajo Petrovic, visiting professor, University of Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

Gregory J. Rathjen, visiting assistant professor, University of Kentucky.

Conrad P. Rutkowski, visiting associate professor, MacMurray College.

John Schaar, visiting professor, Pennsylvania State University, Spring 1973.

Gary L. Scott, visiting instructor, University of Kentucky.

Sandra Shaber, visiting instructor, Lehigh University.

Randall E. Triplett, visiting assistant professor, University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Howard Trivers, visiting professor, Ball State University.

Jack Van Der Slik, visiting associate professor, Calvin College.

Nicholas Wahl, visiting research associate, Harvard University.

Michael D. Wallace, visiting assistant professor, University of British Columbia.

Nils H. Wessell, visiting assistant professor, Lehigh University.

Ernest J. Yanarella, University of Kentucky; SUNY, Buffalo, Summer 1972.

Administrative Appointments

Abid A. Al-Marayati, chairman, University of Toledo.

James David Barber, chairman, Duke University.

James F. Barnes, dean, Ohio University.

William Biglow, director, The Charlotte Observer and the Charlotte News.

Lyman Chaffee, chairman and associate professor, California State College, Dominguez Hills.

Robert E. Cleary, provost, American University.

M. Margaret Conway, director, Graduate Studies, University of Maryland.

Jane S. Dahlberg, dean, Metropolitan New York Learning Center, Empire State College, SUNY.

Wesley W. Daley, acting director, Black Studies Program, University of Notre Dame.

Robert H. Dix, chairman, Rice University.

Jack D. Dowell, chairman, Washington State University.

Cynthia H. Enloe, director of graduate studies and professor, Clark University.

John P. Entelis, vice chairman, Fordham University.

Alona E. Evans, chairman, Wellesley College.

Russell F. Farnen, chairman, Madison College.

James C. Finlay, president, Fordham University.

Lella Fraser, staff associate to the Vice Chancellor, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee.

A. Lee Fritschler, acting dean, School of Government, American University.

Ernest D. Giglio, chairman and associate professor, Lycoming College.

Allan E. Goodman, chairman and associate professor, Clark University.

Robert D. Grey, chairman, Grinnell College.

William John Hanna, director, Comparative Urban Studies Program, CUNY.

George Heneghan, director of instruction, Small College.

Robert P. Huefner, Director, Institute of Government, University of Utah.

Thomas E. Jenkins, assistant director for administration, National Science Foundation.

Thomas R. Kramer, executive secretary, Division of Mathematical Sciences, National Research Council.

John C. Lane, chairman, SUNY, Buffalo.

Dennis L. Little, commissioner, Office of Income Maintenance, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

James S. Magee, head and professor, Eastern Michigan University.

Bruce F. Norton, associate dean for Undergraduate program, American University.

Sang-Seek Park, chairman and associate professor, Hampton Institute.

O. William Perlmutter, academic vice president and dean, Saint John's University.

Harvey Picker, dean, School of International Affairs, Columbia University.

Roy Pierce, director, Center of West European Studies, University of Michigan.

Edwin Rothman, director, Eastern Division, Pennsylvania Economy League.

Leonard I. Ruchelman, director, Division of Urban Studies, Lehigh University.

News and Notes

Administrative Appointments

Morley Segal, director, Public Administration Program, American University.

Robert Sharlet, chairman, Union College.

Willard E. Smith, chairman, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh.

Edward Weisband, director, International Studies and associate professor, SUNY, Binghamton.

Geocreyc Wandesforde-Smith, vice chairman, University of California, Davis.

Glynn Wood, associate dean for the Graduate program, American University.

Richard Zody, director, Center for Urban Studies, Wichita State University.

Promotions

Latheef N. Ahmed, University of Missouri, Kansas City: professor.

J. Carl Akins, American University: associate professor.

Peri Arnold, University of Notre Dame: assistant professor.

Victor H. Ascolillo, East Tennessee State University: assistant professor

L. Waughn Blankenship, SUNY, Buffalo: professor

Rosalind L. Branning, University of Pittsburgh: professor.

Coralie Bryant, American University: associate professor.

Walter E. Busse, Miami University, Ohio: assistant professor.

John L. Carmichael, Jr., University of Alabama, Birmingham: assistant professor.

Mark Cates, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point: professor.

Parris Chang, Pennsylvania State University: associate professor.

Hugh M. Clark, Miami University, Ohio: assistant professor.

Kay Collett, University of Arkansas: assistant professor.

Edward M. Corbett, East Texas University: professor.

William J. Daniels, Union College: associate professor.

Rolando del Carmen, Wisconsin State University, Oshkosh: associate professor.

Charles R. Embry, East Texas State University: assistant professor.

Robert M. Freeman, University of Wisconsin, Stevens Point: assistant professor.

A. Lee Fritschler, American University: professor.

William R. Gilmore, University of Toledo: associate professor.

Parris Glendening, University of Maryland: associate professor.

Virginia H. Gray, University of Kentucky: assistant professor.

George D. Greenberg, University of Michigan: assistant professor.

Barry R. Hammond, Slippery Rock State College: assistant professor.

Hugh F. Hinton, East Texas State University: assistant professor.

Richard A. Hogarty, University of Massachusetts, Boston: associate professor.

William D. Jackson, Miami University, Ohio: assistant professor.

Yung-Hwan Jo, Arizona State University: professor.

Sung Ho Kim, Ohio University: assistant professor.

Z. Anthony Kruszewski, University of Texas, El Paso: professor.

Martin D. Levine, Miami University, Ohio: assistant professor.

Harvey Lieber, American University: associate professor.

Robert J. Lieber, University of California, Davis: associate professor.

Warren L. Mason, Miami University, Ohio: associate professor.

Marvin S. Maurer, Monmouth College: professor.

Paul G. McCoy, East Texas State University: associate professor.

Howard E. McCurdy, American University: associate professor.

Claude McNorton, Auburn University: associate professor.

Bruce F. Norton, American University: associate professor.

Daniel O'Neil, University of Arizona: associate professor.

Charles R. Planck, SUNY, Buffalo: associate professor.

Herbert G. Reid, University of Kentucky: associate professor.

David E. RePass, University of Connecticut: associate professor.

L. John Roos, University of Notre Dame: assistant professor.

Donald B. Rosenthal, SUNY, Buffalo: professor.

Bernard Ross, American University: associate professor.

C. Frederick Stoerker, Kingsborough Community College, CUNY: professor.

Donald R. Thurston, Union College: associate professor.

Barbara Turlington, Hampshire College: associate dean.

Norman V. Walbek, Union College: assistant professor.

Conrad Waligorski, University of Arkansas: assistant professor.

John A. Wanat, University of Kentucky: assistant professor.

Claude E. Welch, SUNY, Buffalo: professor.

Jonathan Wilkenfeld, University of Maryland: associate professor.

Edward J. Williams, University of Arizona: professor.

Glynn Wood, American University: associate professor.

Myung-Kun Ylu, East Texas State University: associate professor.

Marvin Zutterbaum, University of California, Davis: professor.

Richard Zody, Wichita State University: associate professor.

Retirements

Earl H. DeLong, Dean, American University, has retired.

Robert E. Keohane, Dean, Shimer College, retired on August 15, 1972.

Kenneth O. Warner, Public Personnel Association, retired as Executive Director.

Ellsworth Weaver, Director, Institute of Government, University of Utah, has retired.

Edward McNall Burns

Edward McNall Burns, Professor Emeritus of Political Science at Rutgers University, died at Santa Barbara, California on July 13, 1972. With his passing, the profession lost not only an outstanding political theorist but also a humane and able craftsman whose beneficent influence radiated well beyond his field of specialization.

Burns was born in Bergettstown, Pennsylvania on February 18, 1897. He pursued undergraduate and graduate studies at the University of Pittsburgh, receiving his Ph.D. degree in 1935. In the autumn of 1928, he came to Rutgers as an instructor in history and political science. Thereafter, he advanced through the ranks to a full professorship in 1947. He served as chairman of the combined Department of History and Political Science in 1950-51; the following year, he was instrumental in organizing a separate Department of Political Science whose chairman he remained until his retirement from the University in 1962. He was a central figure in the growth of the department from a fledgling unit in the old College of Arts and Sciences to one of the major social science departments. It was he who prepared the groundwork for a program of graduate instruction that enlisted the talents of political scientists throughout a university whose collegial traditions had been strong.

Burns' organizational skills and his exceptional sense of dedication were not limited to the business of the department. During his long tenure at Rutgers, he was an active participant in the affairs of the college and the university. He served as chairman of several of the major committees concerned with faculty governance, and he contributed significantly to the framing of the university statutes. For the scope of years that he remained as secretary of the faculty, the college and the university were passing through a difficult transitional period looking toward the fulfillment of a new role as the state university. As secretary, he brought understanding, wise counsel, and stability to the deliberative process.

By reason of unflinching effort and personal sacrifice, Burns never relented in the pursuit of scholarly goals. He refused to permit the distractions of administration to turn him from the paths of productive research or even to allow such diversions to alter a rigorous schedule. For his labors, he was the recipient of the Distinguished Research Award of the Rutgers Research Council in 1957. He also received recognition in the