

The Nature of Love

Volume 1: Plato to Luther, Second Edition
Volume 2: Courtly and Romantic

Irving Singer

Popular culture is overwhelmingly concerned with love — its discovery, its loss, and its confusions — yet modern philosophy has given it comparatively little attention. Irving Singer's historical trilogy, The Nature of Love, ranges creatively through philosophy and literature to reveal the sources of our contemporary thinking about love.

Volume 1 Cloth $20.00 400 pages
Volume 2 Cloth $25.00 530 pages

Words in Reflection

Modern Language Theory and Postmodern Fiction

Allen Thiher

Whether a distinct "postmodern" fiction exists is a controversial issue. Thiher offers an ambitious and convincing argument that a new way of writing, a postmodern fiction, has indeed evolved, and that its metaphysical premises lie in modern theories of language.

Cloth $22.50 256 pages

New England

Indian Summer, 1865-1915

Van Wyck Brooks

In its artful blending of high-minded intellectual gossip, relaxed literary comment, and lively narrative, this is perhaps the best of Brooks's classic volumes of American literary history. Brooks's anecdotal method is especially appropriate to a study of the formidable raconteurs and letter-writers who are his central figures in this book — William Dean Howells, the James brothers, and Henry Adams.

Paper $14.95 570 pages

Hugo von Hofmannsthal and His Time

The European Imagination, 1860-1920

Hermann Broch

Translated, Edited, and with an Introduction by Michael P. Steinberg

Through an analysis of the career of the Austrian poet, librettist, and essayist Hugo von Hofmannsthal (1874-1929), Broch attempts to define and analyze the major intellectual issues of the European fin de siècle, a period that he characterizes according to the Nietzschean concepts of the breakdown of rationality and the loss of a central value system. The result is a major examination of European thought as well as a comparative study of political systems and artistic styles.

Chicago Original Paperback $13.95 216 pages
Library cloth edition $28.00

Wordsworth's Second Nature

A Study of the Poetry and the Politics

James K. Chandler

Combining careful interpretive analysis with historical scholarship, Chandler presents a challenging new account of the political views implicit in Wordsworth's major works — in The Prelude, above all, but also in the central lyrics and shorter narrative poems.

Chicago Original Paperback $14.95 328 pages
Library cloth edition $30.00

The Life of the Poet

Beginning and Ending Poetic Careers

Lawrence Lipking

"It is hard to know how to praise The Life of the Poet enough. . . . Lipking has a clear and original theory of the nature of poetry, of the relationship of a life to a career and a body of work, and of what constitutes the truest kind of literary history." — James Olney, The Sewanee Review

Winner of the 1982 Christian Gauss Award
Paper $7.95 260 pages

The University of CHICAGO Press

5801 South Ellis Avenue Chicago, IL 60637

The Newest in Criticism from Cornell...

The Cosmic Web

Scientific Field Models and Literary Strategies in the 20th Century

By N. KATHERINE HAYLES. "A fine treatment of an ambitious and important topic. . . . Hayles's may be the only work on modern relations of art and science that takes both sides seriously and discusses both sides penetratingly."

—Gary Stonum, Case Western Reserve University.

$19.95

The Semiotics of Russian Cultural History

Essays by Iurii M. Lotman, Lidiia Ia. Ginsburg, and Boris A. Uspenskii

Translated from the Russian

Edited by ALEXANDER D. NAKHIMOVSKY and ALICE STONE NAKHIMOVSKY. This book contains translations of five major essays on Russian cultural history written by three Soviet scholars of international reputation. Known for their work in semiotics and literary criticism, they explore the semiotics of culture—the point at which history, literature, and biography converge.

$9.95 paper; $29.95 cloth

Themes of Peace in Renaissance Poetry

By JAMES HUTTON. Edited by RITA GUERLAC. "James Hutton's book has all the characteristics that distinguished him as a scholar and person: an impressive learning that is both precise in detail and wide in range, and a human and literary sensibility that enlivens style and content."—Paul Oskar Kristeller, Columbia University.

$35.00

Money and Fiction

Literary Realism in the Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries

By JOHN VERNON. "This is a civilized, lively, and immensely stimulating tour of some novels which are worth thinking about from a fresh angle. It is a masterly rhetorical performance by an urbane and intelligent speaker."

—Donald G. Marshall, University of Iowa.

$19.95

The Final Sculpture

Public Monuments and Modern Poets

By MICHAEL NORTH. This book treats an important but neglected metaphor in recent poetry—that of the public monument. The author uses the monument (which the poets themselves have used as an analogy for the poem) to address the problem of the role of the writer in this century, balancing the public aspirations of modern poets against the constraints of modernist aesthetics.

$24.95

CORNELL UNIVERSITY PRESS

P.O. Box 250, Ithaca, New York 14851