Editorial Note

In accordance with the new policy of the International Association of Law Libraries to broaden the linguistic scope of the INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL OF LAW LIBRARIES, future issues of the Journal will contain articles in the French, German and Spanish languages with short abstracts in English where the content of an article is not easily apparent to readers who are not conversant with the language of the article.

Readers will note that the present issue of the Journal contains two articles in Spanish. One is on legal education reform in Latin America and the other is a bibliography on the law of Peru.

We hope that this new policy will expand the number of our readers and reflect the true international character of our Association.
