

Morphology

Second Edition

P. H. Matthews

This updated and substantially revised edition includes chapters on inflectional and lexical morphology, derivational processes and productivity, compounds, paradigms, and much new material on markedness and other aspects of iconicity. The theoretical discussion is eclectic and critical and the examples are drawn from English and other European languages, both ancient and modern.

Natural Language and Universal Grammar

Essays in Linguistic Theory

Sir John Lyons

John Lyons is recognized internationally as one of the most influential scholars in modern linguistics. This volume contains essays spanning many years of his thought and research, in addition to previously unpublished pieces. Several chapters make their first appearance here, and set out the view of linguistics and linguistic theory that underlies the content of this and a forthcoming companion volume.

Language Change: Progress or Decay?

Second Edition

Jean Aitchison

Why do people sometimes leave off the ends of words when they speak? Is it sloppiness, progress or inevitable erosion? This book attempts to answer such questions by giving a lucid and up-to-date overview of language change. It discusses where our evidence about language change comes from, how and why changes happen, and how and why languages begin and end. It considers not only changes that occurred many years ago, but also those currently in progress.

Fifty Years Among the New Words

A Dictionary of Neologisms, 1941-1991

John Algeo, Editor

American Speech, the journal of the American Dialect Society has for fifty years included a regular collection of neologisms called "Among the New Words." Now for the first time, this valuable resource will be available in one volume. The original articles themselves are reproduced and John Algeo has prepared a complete index, with glossary, to every word and expression included in the 113 installments of "Among the New Words." In addition, he has written several introductory essays exploring both the linguistic and social implications of new words as revealed in this collection.

Return to Freud

Jacques Lacan's Dislocation of Psychoanalysis

Samuel Weber

Michael Levine, Translator

What Samuel Weber calls Lacan's "return to Freud"—the complex relationship between his work and its Freudian antecedents—is explored extensively in the context of Saussure, Jakobson and structural linguistics generally. The result, made available here for the first time in English (in a form thoroughly revised, updated, and augmented by the author), is a constantly illuminating work of intellectual enquiry, with important implications for our age.

LANGUAGE IN SOCIETY

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions are welcomed from all countries. They should be written in English. All articles, as well as books for review and listing, should be sent to Professor Dell Hymes, Editor, Department of Anthropology, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, VA 22906-9024, U.S.A.

Typescripts. The original typescript plus one copy should be submitted. Authors should hold a copy for correction of proofs. Contributions should be clearly typed, double-spaced on 8½ × 11" or A4 paper. Figures should be ready for photographic reproduction: any labels and details should be clear and large enough to remain legible after a 50% reduction. The article title page should include the title, author's name and affiliation (in that order), along with an abstract of the article. An abstract must be less than 150 words. Areas of study should be listed at the end of the abstract.

Titles should be worded so that the first part may be used as a running head (with a maximum length of 50 characters, including spaces). The title should be typed on a separate sheet with the author's name and address to which proofs should be sent.

Citations and forms of emphasis. Normally the Latin alphabet is to be used. Cited forms should be underlined to represent italicization in print. Translation meanings should be placed within single quotation marks.

References are to be made in the text (not in the endnotes) by giving in parentheses the name of the author, year of publication, and, where relevant, the page(s) referred to: (Whitney 1867:45–53). If the author's name is part of the text, the following form should be used: "Whitney (1867:48) maintained that. . . ." When a work written by two or more authors is referred to, all names should be given in the first citation: (Weinreich, Labov, & Herzog 1968). In subsequent citations, only the first name should be given, followed by "et al.": (Weinreich et al. 1968). Separate works referred to in the same parentheses should be listed in alphabetical order; those by the same author should be separated by commas, and those by different authors by semi-colons: (Firth 1935, 1957a; Whitney 1867). Initials should be used (before the author's name) only when it is necessary to distinguish between two or more authors with the same surname referred to in the same article.

All works referred to must be listed at the end of the article, double-spaced and in alphabetical order.

Examples of references (note the use of punctuation marks within references):

Firth, J. R. (1957a). Ethnographic analysis and language with reference to Malinowski's views.

In R. W. Firth (ed.), Man and culture: An evaluation of the work of Bronislaw Malinowski. London: Routledge & Kegan Paul. 93–118.

Book reviews and notices. With the exception of the title page, book reviews and notices should be submitted in the same form as articles. The title page should take the following form:

HENK HAVERKATE, Speech acts, speakers, and hearers: Reference and referential strategies in Spanish (Pragmatics & Beyond V:4). Amsterdam and Philadelphia: John Benjamins, 1984. Pp. xi + 142.

On the last page, following the entire review text, endnotes, and references, the review author's name and address should be given as follows:

Reviewed by BEATRIZ R. LAVANDERA
*Instituto de Lingüística
Universidad de Buenos Aires
Buenos Aires, Argentina*

There is no need to submit an abstract with a book review or notice.

Proofs. First proof will be sent to the lead author (or a nominee), who will be expected to correct and return them to the Editor, by airmail where appropriate, within three days of receipt.

Offprints. 25 offprints of the article will be provided free of charge to the lead author. Additional offprints may be purchased if ordered at proof stage.

Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published or is not being considered for publication elsewhere. If an author is publishing a related article elsewhere, this fact should be stated.

Copyright. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the U.S.A.
