

ferent states and the District of Columbia:

Charlene J. Allen, Hampton University
Keita T. Archie, Spelman College
Mark A. Barfield, University of California, Berkeley
Jacqueline E. Coppage, Delta State University
Jacqueline L. Cox, University of New Mexico
Damon E. Elmore, Savannah State College
Anthony D. George, University of Arkansas, Little Rock
Tonja F. Harding, Spelman College
Eric C. Hubbard, University of Tennessee, Martin
William H. Jackson, University of the District of Columbia
Darolyn M. Jones, Grambling State University
Philip B. Jones, University of Colorado, Boulder
Staci D. Jones, Vassar College
Christine T. LeVeaux, Spelman College
Alicia L. Lewis, Princeton University
Raymond T. Littles, Bethune-Cookman College
Sharon C. McClammey, Spelman College
Cherise G. Moore, University of California, Los Angeles
Devita L. Mosley, Rollins College
Angella L. Norfleet, Wayne State University
Edie C. Pearson, Clark Atlanta University
Clarissa Peterson, University of Akron
Chandra D. Pugh, University of California, San Diego
Billy Thompson, Morehouse College
Robert K. Upshaw, Southern Arkansas University

The six-week program consisted of two graduate level courses taught on two of the campuses of the member institutions. Each participant also completed a research project integrating the two courses. The project involved original, empirical research. Academic credit for successful completion of the courses was awarded by Spelman College.

Students all participated in a series of lectures and workshops. These included: sessions where prominent political scientists discussed their work; a workshop that focused on the Graduate Record Exam; and sessions with recruiters of graduate programs from leading institutions.

Political Scientists, Reporters Named APSA Congressional Fellows

The American Political Science Association has announced the winners in the national competition for the 1991-92 Congressional Fellowship Program. Fellows come to Washington in November for a one-month orientation session followed by nine months of full-time work as legislative aides in congressional offices.

The new Congressional Fellows are:

C. Lawrence Evans, Assistant Professor of Government, The College of William and Mary
Adam Gelb, Reporter, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, Atlanta, Georgia
Heather Greenfield, Reporter, WCIV-TV, Charleston, South Carolina
William F. Grover, Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, Saint Michael's College
Claude R. Marx, Political Reporter, Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock, Arkansas
Kelly D. Patterson, Assistant Professor, Department of Government, Franklin & Marshall College
Kimberly M. Shearin, Reporter, New Haven Register, New Haven, Connecticut
Cheryl D. Young, Visiting Assistant Professor, Department of Political Science, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

Sponsored by the Association since 1953, the purpose of the Congressional Fellowship Program is to give outstanding political scientists, journalists, medical faculty and federal agency executives an opportunity to acquire a rich understanding of the national legislative process.

The Selection Committee was composed of Milton C. Cummings, Jr., The Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore; Ronald D. Elving, Congressional Quarterly, Inc.; Susan W. Hammond, The American University; Albert R. Hunt, The Wall Street

Journal; Carol Matlack, National Journal; and James A. Thurber, The American University.

Federal Executives Win Congressional Fellowships

The Association also selected 22 federal executives as Congressional Fellows in a national competition for the 1991-92 program and expects to name approximately three more before September.

The recipients—advanced career civil servants—will serve as professional staff assistants to U.S. senators and representatives for nine months. They are scheduled to arrive here early in November for an orientation period before beginning work in Congressional offices of their choice. The program will conclude in August, 1992.

Of the 22 federal executives, seven have been named Foreign Affairs Fellows and will participate in a special two-month seminar on Congress and Foreign Policy. This course is taught by Professor Frederick Holborn at the Paul H. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies (The Johns Hopkins University), prior to the beginning of orientation. Foreign Affairs Fellows are federal executives who serve in foreign policy positions in their agencies.

The 1,397 alumni of the program include: high ranking executives of the federal bureaucracy, congressional staff aides, newspaper publishers, editors and reporters, university presidents, deans and faculty.

The 22 winners, listed below, were selected in a government-wide competition on the basis of professional experience, career goals and interest in national politics and the legislative process.

Federal Fellows

David E. Balducchi, Unemployment Insurance Program Specialist, Office of Regional Management, Department of Labor
Joel H. Delofsky, Veterans' Employment Program Specialist, Office of Veterans' Employment, Reemployment and Training, Department of Labor
Claudia H. Dulmage, Attorney-

Advisor, Office of Legislative Affairs, Department of Justice
 Janice C. Haith, Deputy Chief, Special Security Division, Air Force Intelligence Agency, Department of the Air Force
 Larry L. Hudson, Forester (Administration), United States Forest Service, Department of Agriculture
 Kay C. Keely, Chief, Division of Program Development & Implementation, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior
 Thomas J. Klabunde, Resource Information Specialist, United States Forest Service, Department of Agriculture
 Sandra K. Lindsay, Legislative Officer, National Institute on Aging, National Institutes of Health, Department of Health & Human Services
 Timothy J. Parsons, Deputy Branch Chief, National Security Agency
 Rosemary B. Ramsey, Assistant Director, Division of Immunologic, Oncologic, and Hematologic Diseases, Center for Infectious Diseases, Centers for Disease Control, Department of Health & Human Services
 Myron J. Sagall, Chief, T621 (ADP and Telecommunications), National Security Agency
 Deborah M. Smith, Trial Attorney, Fraud Section, Criminal Division, Department of Justice
 Michael A. Till, Commodity Manager, Navy Medium Caliber Gun Ammunition, Naval Weapons Support Center, Department of the Navy

Theodoe A. Van Hintum, Assistant Director, Educational Operations, Education Service, Department of Veterans Affairs

Karen L. Wilson, Director of Planning, Office of Planning, Management & Budget, Office of Justice Programs, Department of Justice

Foreign Affairs Fellows

Claudia N. Deverall, Staff Officer, Directorate of Operations, Central Intelligence Agency

Jessica LeCroy, Foreign Service Officer, Office of Coordinating Committee for Multilateral Strategic Export Controls, Bureau of Economic and Business Affairs, Department of State

Frank L. Prindle, Major, Executive

Officer, U.S. Total Army Personnel Command, Department of the Army

Stephen K. Scroggs, Major, Executive Officer to the Chief of Staff, U.S. Forces in Korea, Department of the Army

Lisa W. Tuite, Intelligence Research Specialist-Imagery Analyst-Chief, Central Intelligence Agency

Gregory D. Vuksich, LTC, Chief of Staff, 1st Infantry Division (Forward), Department of the Army

Scott D. White, Chief, Strategic Missile Branch, Office of Scientific and Weapons Research, Central Intelligence Agency

Congressional Fellowship Program Names Winners of Designated Fellowships

Heather Greenfield:
 Joan Shorenstein Barone
 Congressional Fellow

Heather Greenfield, Reporter for WCIV-TV, Charleston, South Carolina, is the recipient of the 1991-92 Joan Shorenstein Barone Congressional Fellowship, awarded by the Association each year to an outstanding broadcast journalist.

Before joining WCIV-TV, Ms. Greenfield was city hall/medical reporter and weekend anchor for KTXS-TV, Abilene, Texas. She has worked as reporter/researcher for the Capitol Bureau, Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Austin, Texas. Ms. Greenfield received her Bachelor of Journalism from the University of Texas at Austin.

Heather Greenfield

The Joan Shorenstein Barone Congressional Fellowship commemorates Joan Shorenstein Barone and the standards she set for accurate, thorough, and dignified reporting of current events, first as a researcher at The Washington Post and subsequently as a producer at CBS News. Joan Shorenstein Barone was a member of the Washington staff of the CBS Evening News at the time of her death in 1985.

Funding for the Joan Shorenstein Barone Congressional Fellowship is generously provided by her parents, Walter and Phyllis Shorenstein, and family.

C. Lawrence Evans:
 William C. Steiger
 Congressional Fellow

C. Lawrence Evans, Assistant Professor of Government, The College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, has been named the third William A. Steiger Congressional Fellow for 1991-92.

C. Lawrence Evans

Before joining the faculty of William and Mary, Dr. Evans was a Research Fellow, The Brookings Institution, Washington, D.C. He received his Ph.D. in Political Science in 1988 from the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York.

The William A. Steiger Fellowship

honors the memory of the late William Steiger, a Republican who represented the Sixth District of Wisconsin from 1966 until his untimely death in 1978. During his service in Congress, Representative Steiger was dedicated to the Congressional Fellowship Program. He was an active member of the program's advisory committee and, over the years, welcomed numerous Fellows to his staff. The Fellowship is awarded annually to a political scientist or journalist who best exemplifies Representative Steiger's values and interests.

Fundraising for the William A. Steiger Congressional Fellowship is under the direction of the William A. Steiger Congressional Fellowship Development Committee, which seeks to raise an endowment to support in perpetuity the Fellowship.

Claude R. Marx:
Poynter Fellow

Claude R. Marx, political reporter for the Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock, has been named the 1991-92 Poynter Fellow.

Claude R. Marx

In addition to his position with the Democrat, Mr. Marx is host and producer of a weekly political talk program for KARN-AM, Little Rock, and is a stringer for The New York Times. Before joining the Democrat he reported for the Washington (DC) Times, the Nashua (New Hampshire) Telegraph and the Montgomery (Alabama) Advertiser.

The Poynter Fellowship is awarded to a talented and promising print journalist. Funding is generously provided by the Poynter Fund, the charitable foundation of the Times Publishing Company whose publications include Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report and the associated publications of Congressional Quarterly, Inc., as well as the St. Petersburg Times. Andrew Barnes is President of the Poynter Fund and Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the Times Publishing Company.

All three fellowships are awarded through a rigorous national competition. Recipients participate in APSA's Congressional Fellowship Program which includes other political scientists and journalists, as well as health policy professionals, federal government executives, international fellows and others. Fellows spend nine months working closely with Members of Congress and congressional committees as legislative assistants and attending lectures by experts on the political process.

APSA Membership:
Twenty-Five Years and More

Jean Walen
American Political Science Association

In the story that ran in last September's issue on who had been continuous members of the Association for 25 years or longer, there were several corrections:

- Karl W. Deutsch joined in 1939, not 1945
- John T. Dorsey joined in 1950, not 1960
- William H. Riker joined in 1947, not 1963

Thirteen persons have been continuous members 60 years or longer, still led by Harold Gosnell (70 years), Francis Aumann and Marshall Dimock (65 years), E. Pendleton Herring, J. Roland Pennock, Joseph Pois (64 years), H. S. Foster, Dale Pontius (63 years), Ernest Griffith, Albert Lepawsky, Emmette Redford, Carroll Shaw (61 years) and David Fellman (60 years).

Those that can now join the 25 years or longer list are those members who joined in 1966:

- David E. Albright
- Luther Allen
- Roger Anderson
- Henry J. Anna
- Theodore S. Arrington
- G. P. Atkins
- David N. Atkinson
- Lawrence N. Bailis
- Charles T. Barber
- Norman G. Barrier
- Abraham Bargman
- Norman G. Baarrier
- Paul A. Beck
- Jerome D. Becker
- Anne H. Bedlington
- Gerald Benjamin
- Roger W. Benjamin
- Susan Berg
- Elihu Bergman
- Richard S. Beth
- Jerome R. Bidinger
- Henry Bienen
- Donald Blake
- Carole Bouthilet
- D. E. Butler
- Allan W. Cameron
- Edward G. Carmines
- Paul J. Castellani
- J. George Chall
- Do Y. Chang
- Shirley Chapman
- Frank R. Cleminson
- Kenneth M. Coleman
- David Collier
- Frederick C. Collignon
- Richard Dale
- James L. Danielson
- E. D. David
- Harry R. Davis
- Don L. Diffenbaugh
- Delmer D. Dunn
- J. Richard Emmert
- Arthur English
- Kenneth Entin
- David H. Everson
- Barbara G. Farah
- Richard P. Farkas
- John Osgood Field
- Louis Fisher
- Stephen L. Fisher
- Harvey Flaumenhaft
- Richard S. Flickinger
- John G. Francis
- Harry J. Friedman
- David C. Garnham
- Julius S. Gassner
- Joyce Gelb
- Alexander L. George
- Leon Ginsberg
- Robert L. Goerder
- Leslie Goldstein
- Leonard Goodall
- Daniel R. Graves
- Saadia R. Greenberg