

Stations of the Cross

Adorno and Christian Right Radio

PAUL APOSTOLIDIS

In Stations of the Cross political theorist Paul Apostolidis shows how evangelical conservative radio interacts with the current U.S. political economy. Examining in particular James Dobson's influential program, Focus on the Family—its messages, politics, and effects—Apostolidis reveals the complex nature of contemporary conservative religious culture.

"Paul Apostolidis's excellent study...provides one of the sharpest analyses yet to appear of the Christian right and its media politics. The book is also an important contribution to critical theory, applying and reconstructing T. W. Adorno's approach to cultural criticism. Focusing on James Dobson's Focus on the Family, Apostolidis skillfully dissects the program's messages, politics, and effects, producing a first-rate study of contemporary conservative religious culture."—Douglas Kellner, UCLA

288 pages, paper $18.95

Duke University Press

Visit us at www.dukeupress.edu

Or call toll-free 1-888-651-0122