HOLY FAIRS

Scottish Communion and American Revivals in the Early Modern Period

Leigh Eric Schmidt

Leigh Schmidt explores the historical development of a particular Scottish religious festival, the communion season, from the Reformation to the nineteenth century, and documents its extension to colonial America and its important relationship to evangelical revivalism on both sides of the Atlantic.

Schmidt brings the history of Christian worship and spirituality into conjunction with social and cultural history, anthropological approaches to ritual, histories of popular religion, and studies on ethnicity, gender issues, and material culture. This work will appeal not only to a wide range of scholars but also to general readers with an interest in the history of Christianity.

NEW IN THEOLOGY & WORSHIP

The Search for Compassion

Spirituality and Ministry

Andrew Purves

Ministries of compassion, says Andrew Purves, arise only out of the Christian's relationship to Jesus Christ. Purves sees compassion as the center of pastoral care, holding theology, spirituality, and ministry together. "Dr. Purves draws on his experiences . . . to present compassion as a central theme of Christian faith and life . . ."—Alasdair I. C. Heron, holder of the Chair of Reformed Theology, University of Erlangen Paper $9.95

Protestant Worship

Traditions in Transition

James F. White

This book provides a study of the many traditions in Protestant worship, such as Lutheran, Reformed, and Quaker, by describing the origins, development, and character of each one. "This book will mark a major turning point in the study of Protestant worship . . . a must for every student."—Hoyt L. Hickman, Director, Resource Development, Section of Worship, The General Board of Discipleship, The United Methodist Church (Price tentative) Paper $19.95

New from Indiana

Religion and Domestic Violence in Early New England

The Memoirs of Abigail Abbot Bailey
Edited by Ann Taves

Abigail Abbot Bailey was a devout 18th-century Congregationalist woman whose husband abused her, committed adultery with their female servants, and practiced incest with one of their daughters. This new, fully annotated edition of her memoirs, featuring a detailed introduction, offers a thoughtful analysis of the role of religion amidst the trials of the author's everyday life.

ILLUSIONS OF INNOCENCE

Protestant Primitivism in America, 1630–1875

RICHARD T. HUGHES and C. LEONARD ALLEN

Foreword by Robert N. Bellah

Hughes and Allen examine the constant striving on the part of Americans to recover the “first times” that stand behind our historical past. The authors explore the dynamics of primitivism among Puritans, Mormons, Baptists, and “Christians” of the Stone-Campbell movement, and in the final chapter assess the role of cultural primitivism in the twentieth century.

“Allen and Hughes are picking up a story as important as that of fundamentalism, Mormonism, or millennialism and presenting it to full view for the first time. Their book will set the terms for future inquiry on this subject: American ‘primitivism,’ the dream of restoration of a purer order.”—Martin E. Marty

RELIGIOUS ORIGINS

Calvin and the Foundations of Modern Politics

By RALPH C. HANCOCK. Providing a highly original reading of John Calvin's major work and an examination of some key interpretations of Calvinism, Hancock argues that Calvin should be considered a founder of modern civilization along with such "secular" thinkers as Machiavelli, Hobbes, and Descartes. $26.50

Islands of Holiness

Rural Religion in Upstate New York, 1790-1860

By CURTIS D. JOHNSON.

Through an examination of religious life in a typical northern rural locale—Cortland County, New York—from 1790 to 1860, Johnson adds to our understanding of the Second Great Awakening, an intellectual and religious watershed in American history. $27.95

Sacred Charity

Confraternities and Social Welfare in Spain, 1400-1700

By MAUREEN FLYNN.

Sacred Charity reconstructs the lay religious culture of Spanish Catholics in the late medieval and early modern period. Flynn shows how religious values shaped the nature of aid to the poor in the period before the creation of the modern welfare state. $32.50

Sex and Society in the World of the Orthodox Slavs, 900-1700

By EVE LEVIN. Levin here gives a clear picture of the way the medieval Orthodox Church in Serbia, Bulgaria, and Russia regarded sexuality, marriage, incest, illicit sex, and rape. Although the medieval church was convinced that sexual expression was diabolical, she says, it approached sexual matters in a surprisingly practical way. $29.95

To Be the Neighbor of Saint Peter

The Social Meaning of Cluny's Property, 909-1049

By BARBARA H. ROSENWEIN.

Rosenwein here reassesses the significance of property in the tenth and eleventh centuries. She explores in rich detail the question of monastic donations, illuminating the human motives, needs, and practices behind gifts of land and churches to the French monastery of Cluny during the 140 years that followed its founding. $32.50

Popes, Teachers, and Canon Law in the Middle Ages

Edited by JAMES ROSS SWEENEY and STANLEY CHODOROW. This solid collection of essays explores aspects of the interaction between medieval religious and political thought and conflicts in the body politic, ecclesiastical and secular, of Western Christendom. $47.50

PRIZES OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CHURCH HISTORY

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize

The Brewer Prize is a subsidy of $2000 to assist the author in publishing a booklength manuscript in church history. The winning manuscript shall be published in a manner acceptable to the Society. Manuscripts accepted for publication may be submitted for this award, but the winning manuscript must have printed on its title-page, "The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize Essay of the American Society of Church History." If competing works are otherwise of equal quality, preference will be given to topics relating to the history of Congregationalism. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 November each year, with return postage included. The award will be announced at the spring meeting of the Society.

The Philip Schaff Prize

The Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1000 to be paid to the author of the best book originating in the North American scholarly community which presents original research in the history of Christianity or any period thereof. Books considered for the next award must have been published during the year 1988 or 1989. Any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration for the Schaff Prize. Copies of books nominated do not have to be submitted. Titles nominated for consideration must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 March 1991. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December 1991.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize

The Mead Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent recipient whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Richard L. Greaves, Chair, Committee on Research, American Society of Church History, c/o Department of History, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306, by 1 July each year. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE ALBERT C. OUTLER PRIZE IN ECUMENICAL CHURCH HISTORY

The Outler Prize was established to encourage the critical study of ecumenical church history, broadly conceived, and to facilitate the publication of such studies. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as chiefly concerned with the problems of Christian unity-and-disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) in any period of church history; or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements. Works of a partisan nature are excluded. The following categories are eligible:

- a. Studies, chiefly narrative and critical, of ecumenical church history dealing with historical controversies and divisions, or with notable instances of reconciliation and consensus.
- b. Analyses of church councils, dialogues, and debates, or interactions between Christianity and other religious traditions.
- c. Biographical studies of significant leaders, or of persons whose involvement in ecumenical dialogue and action was noteworthy.
- d. Critical editions (preferably annotated) of significant ecumenical documents.
- e. Bibliographical reviews and evaluations in major areas of ecumenical church history.
- f. Pioneering studies that advance scholarly knowledge and ecumenical understanding.

The prize consists of an award of $1000 to the author and a possible grant of up to $3000 for publication (or in exceptional cases, for necessary expenses in the preparation of a book-length manuscript accepted for publication). The prize will be awarded annually, though no award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. Complete manuscripts in final form must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 328 Deland Avenue, Indialantic, FL 32903, by 1 June. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.

THE JANE DEMPSEY DOUGLASS PRIZE

The Douglass Prize is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay on some aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted to Richard L. Greaves, Chair, Committee on Research, American Society of Church History, c/o Department of History, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306, by 1 August each year, beginning in 1990. No award will be made in any year when none of the manuscripts is adjudged to be outstanding. The prize will be announced at the annual meeting of the Society in December.
