L O U N G U N G

"[Ung] tells her stories straightforwardly, vividly, and without any strenuous effort to explicate their importance, allowing the stories themselves to create their own impact." —NEW YORK TIMES

$13.00/$19.95 Can. • 256pp

From a childhood survivor of the Cambodian genocide under the regime of Pol Pot, this riveting narrative chronicles war crimes and desperate actions, the unnerving strength of a small girl and her family, and their triumph of spirit to overcome.

"A riveting memoir...an important, moving work that those who have suffered cannot afford to forget and those who have been spared cannot afford to ignore."

The I Ching in Tokugawa Thought and Culture, by Wai-ming Ng

This study uses the I Ching (Book of Changes) to analyze the role of Chinese learning in the development of thought and culture in Tokugawa Japan (1603-1868).

"This is an ambitious and impressive piece of scholarship. Ng deals with a subject that is rarely taken up in Japanese scholarship and virtually untouched in Western writing about Japan. The result is a landmark study that should provide the basis for publications for years to come."

THE MELANCHOLY OF RACE

ANNE ANLIN CHENG

“Through a wonderfully chosen series of literary and cultural phenomena, [Cheng] captures both the hidden melancholy of those who, in order to conform to the American dream, learn to discriminate against themselves, and the even more hidden melancholy of a nation thus deprived of some of the most vital energies of its citizens.”—Barbara Johnson, Harvard University.

D'Albuquerque's Children

Performing Tradition in Malaysia's Portuguese Settlement

Margaret Sarkissian

"D'Albuquerque's Children is an ethnographically rich contribution to the study of invented community traditions and musical touristic performances, in this case the Portuguese ones of Malacca, Malaysia. Sarkissian provides detailed and highly illuminating descriptions of the artistic lives and musical performances of this community and some of its creative musicians. Delightfully written, D'Albuquerque's Children will be of great interest to ethnomusicologists, anthropologists, and historians and to students of ethnicity, tourism, and globalization in Southeast Asia."

History and Aesthetics in Thai Buddhist Performance

Deborah Wong

Focusing on the ritual honoring teachers of music and dance in Bangkok, Deborah Wong reveals a complex network of connections among kings, teachers, knowledge, and performance that underlies the classical court arts. Drawing on her extensive fieldwork, Wong lays out the ritual in detail: the way it is enacted, the foods and objects involved, and the people who perform it, emphasizing the way the performers themselves discuss and construct aspects of the ceremony.

In providing an historical account of environmental disruption in Japan, this study cites a number of key cases of industrial pollution in the pre-war and post-war periods and provides a history of environmental private tort action.

Chinese Democracy after Tiananmen

Yijiang Ding

Arriving May 2001

Examines the significant change in the state-society relationship in contemporary China in three interrelated areas: intellectual, social, and cultural. Drawing on recent Chinese scholarship, Ding shows that the emergent theory on the 'dualism' of state and society is contemporaneous with a new cognitive and cultural appreciation of the people's independence from state authority.

The Scars of War

The Impact of Warfare on Modern China

Diana Lary & Stephen MacKinnon, eds.

Arriving Spring 2001

For China, the story of modern war-related death and suffering has remained hidden. The focus of The Scars of War is the social and psychological, not the economic costs, of war on the country.

EXCEPTIONAL READING

WANG PING
Aching for Beauty
Footbinding in China

"Demonstrates the complexity and the manifestations of a civilization's obsession with the body—its beauty, its fulfillment, its destruction, and its transformation. Wang Ping writes with passion and understanding. This is a rich, necessary, and invaluable book." —Ha Jin, author of Waiting, winner of the 1999 National Book Award for Fiction

$27.95 Cloth/jacket 320 pages

VIJAY PRASHAD
The Karma of Brown Folk

"For any of us who have agonized over our identities as South Asians in America, The Karma of Brown Folk is must reading. It is thoughtful, thoroughly researched, well written and above all, provocative. Prashad pulls no punches. He has set the standard by which future works on the Asian diaspora must be judged." —Abraham Verghese, author of The Tennis Partner and My Own Country

$24.95 Cloth 248 pages

SHENG-MEI MA
The Deathly Embrace
Orientalism and Asian American Identity

"Ma's book is another subversive step towards liberating our thinking from the 'deathly embrace' of American-born and -bred orientalism as it is perpetuated through popular culture and media." —Russell Leong, editor, Amerasia Journal

$16.95 Paper 208 pages

KEYA GANGULY
States of Exception
Everyday Life and Postcolonial Identity

States of Exception looks into a community of immigrants from India living in southern New Jersey—a group to whom the author, as a daughter of two of its members, enjoyed unprecedented access.

ASIAN PERSPECTIVES

from Perspectives on the Yi of Southwest China

Perspectives on the Yi of Southwest China

Stevan Harrell, Editor

A remarkable collection of work by both Yi and foreign scholars describing their history, traditional society, and recent social changes.

Studies on China, $55.00 cloth, $22.00 paper

Model Rebels

The Rise and Fall of China's Richest Village

Bruce Gilley

"This engrossing narrative explains how Yu Zuomin, a dedicated communist, took advantage of China's market reforms to lead his historically poverty-stricken Daqiu Village to astounding and ostentatious wealth. Bruce Gilley portrays Yu as a new kind of peasant rebel. He in sightfully draws out the way in which the Party-run Chinese media first lavished praise on Yu and then, when he overstepped his bounds, demonized him." —Thomas Gold, author of State and Society in the Taiwan Miracle

$45.00 cloth, $15.95 paper

Same Bed, Different Dreams

Managing U.S.–China Relations, 1989–2000

David M. Lampton

"An extraordinary book. Systematic and comprehensive, highly original and interpretive, it captures the complexity of Sino-American relations as no other book has done."

—Michel Oksenberg, coauthor of Policy Making in China

A Philip E. Lilienthal Book, $35.00 cloth

The Colonial Bastille

A History of Imprisonment in Vietnam, 1862–1940

Peter Zinoman

"Zinoman makes original contributions on multiple fronts.... He also takes us beyond the colonial/anti-colonial, nationalist/communist, and war/peace dichotomies that have long dominated Vietnam studies." —David Marr, author of Vietnamese Tradition on Trial, 1920–1945

A Philip E. Lilienthal Book, $48.00 cloth

The Age of Wild Ghosts

Memory, Violence, and Place in Southwest China

Erik Mueggler

"The book has a consistent focus, both disturbing and riveting, on the ways that pain, loss, and social upheaval are woven into people's attempts to reconstitute new lives over some fifty years of rapid social change."

—P. Steven Sangren, author of Chinese Sociologies

$50.00 cloth, $19.95 paper

Chinese

Oliver Moore

In his accessible, straightforward book, Moore demystifies one of the world's oldest writing systems, introducing the basic principles of the language, the formation of written characters, and the ways these characters have developed.

The State of the World's Children 2001: Early Childhood

What happens during the early years of a child's life, from birth to age 3, influences how the rest of childhood and adolescence will unfold. Yet, this critical time is usually neglected in the policies, programmes and budgets of countries. Drawing from reports the world over, The State of the World's Children 2001 details the daily lives of parents and other caregivers who are striving - in the face of war, poverty and the HIV/AIDS epidemic - to protect the rights and meet the needs of young children. Country profiles, maps and statistical data for 193 countries are also presented.

World Economic and Social Survey 2000: Trends and Policies in the World Economy

Authoritative and reliable, the World Economic and Social Survey 2000 offers a unique insight into current trends and policies in the world economy. Essential to both academics and business people, this Survey chronicles a remarkable recovery after the crisis years 1997-1999. It also forecasts continued and increasingly widespread economic growth heralded by the revolution in information and communications technology.

The State of World Population 2000: Lives Together, Worlds Apart - Men and Women in a time of Change

Despite the tremendous changes of the 20th century, discrimination and violence against women and girls remain firmly rooted in cultures around the world. This year's Report looks at the gender inequality - the restrictions placed on women's reproductive choices and how it affects their health, education, social and economic participation. The publication also explores women's rights as human rights, gender violence and the role of men in reproductive health decisions. The Report acknowledges the role of governments in creating conditions for gender equality, but points out that in the end, different societies need their own solutions to provide a better life for both women and men. This annual also provides easily accessible tables and data representing trends and statistics for world population.

World Migration Report 2000

International migration has become a global phenomenon involving a wide range of sending, destination, and transit countries and a diverse group of migrants. This report, produced by the United Nations and the International Organization for Migration, provides an authoritative account of contemporary trends, issues, and problems in the field of international migration. It examines the scale of migration and characteristics of international migrants, the types of movements, the contributing factors and policy issues. It also presents regional country profiles.
