

Renaissance Drama and the English Church Year

By R. Chris Hassel, Jr.

This important and original study demonstrates the existence, among the plays and masques that entertained the English court from 1510 through 1640, of a tradition of drama relevant to the liturgical occasions of the English church year. The study's play-by-play examination of frequent and intense similarities between the works of Shakespeare, Jonson, and others, and the feast days upon which they were performed reveal a hitherto unimagined relationship between Renaissance drama and the English church year.

Players' Scepters Fictions of Authority in the Restoration

By Susan Staves

Drawing on Restoration plays, legal materials, primary historical sources, and recent historiography, the author studies the changing fictions of authority in seventeenth-century England and shows how secular democratic myths of authority replaced religious and feudal myths. The importance of secularization in this period has recently been questioned, particularly by some literary critics; in Players' Scepters Staves supports a modified version of the older view with new arguments and new evidence.

THE TRIAL OF THE TEMPLARS

MALCOLM BARBER

Barber's detailed narrative brings together for the first time in English the results of original research done in French and German. He covers the initial confession of the brothers under torture, their later attempts to defend themselves, and the final repression. He also examines the significance of the affair for relations between the French monarchy and the Papacy.

English Chantries

The Road to Dissolution

Alan Kreider

"Dr. Kreider's book is among the most remarkable additions of recent years to our knowledge of the late medieval Church and the Reformation in England."—A.G. Dickens

Founded in the belief that intercessory masses could shorten the time spent by souls in purgatory, the chantries played a greater role in the daily life of 16th century Englishmen than did monasteries. Alan Kreider explains the social, religious, and numerical significance of the chantries, and expands our understanding of the late medieval Church and the English Reformation.

PHILIP SCHAFF PRIZE

The American Society of Church History takes pleasure in announcing the 1979-80 Philip Schaff Prize. The prize is in the amount of $1,000.00 to be paid to the author of the best book published in English, originating in the North American scholarly community, and presenting original research or interpretation in the history of Christianity or any period thereof.

Books considered for this award must be published during the years 1979 or 1980. Any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration for the Schaff Prize. Copies of books do not have to be submitted. Titles nominated for consideration of the award must be received by the Chairperson of the Committee on Research of the Society or William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 305 East Country Club Lane, Wallingford, PA 19086, by March 1, 1981. The announcement of the winner of the Schaff Prize will be made at the annual meeting of the Society in December 1981.

1980 BREWER PRIZE CONTEST

The American Society of Church History announces that its next Brewer Prize competition for a booklength manuscript in Church History will conclude in 1979. The award will be announced at the meeting of the Society in the Spring, 1980. It will consist of a subsidy of $1,000.00 to assist the author in the publication of the winning manuscript, which shall be described on its title page as the "Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize Essay of the American Society of Church History" and shall be published in a manner acceptable to the Society. If competing essays are otherwise of equal quality, preference will be given to those dealing with topics relating to the history of Congregationalism. Complete manuscripts in final form, fully annotated, must be received by William B. Miller, Secretary, American Society of Church History, 305 East Country Club Lane, Wallingford, Pennsylvania 19086, by December 15, 1979, with return postage included. No manuscripts previously submitted will be considered.
