The Underside of Malaysian History: Pullers, Prostitutes, Plantation Workers... edited by PETER J. RIMMER & LISA M. ALLEN

The Underside of Malaysian History deals with Malaysian (and Singaporean) social history, particularly from the late nineteenth century to the present. By concentrating on the everyday world of ordinary people, such as rikisha pullers, prostitutes, plantation and rail workers etc., and the related physical and mental health problems of both them and their families, the study represents a step towards a people's history designed to make present-day Malaysians conscious of the enormous contribution of their unheralded forbears.

The volume draws from papers given at a Colloquium on Malaysian Social and Economic History held at the Australian National University in June 1985 and include the following:

Peter J. Rimmer, Lenore Manderson & Colin Barlow, The Underside of Malaysian History: Introduction.

Colin Barlow, Changes in the Economic Position of Workers on Rubber Estates and Smallholdings in Peninsular Malaysia, 1910–1985.
