Ethnic Differences

Schooling and Social Structure Among the Irish, Italians, Jews, and Blacks in an American City, 1880-1935

Joel Perlmann

"...A most remarkable book. Perlmann's analysis...is amazingly rich. He brings much new evidence to bear on debates about the importance of culture and class in America, and he treats the issues with great intelligence." — David Cohen, Michigan State University
Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Modern History $42.50

Poverty, Ethnicity and the American City, 1840-1925

Changing Conceptions of the Slum and the Ghetto

David Ward

Examines the relationships between migrants and the inner city from an explicitly geographic perspective during the period of mass immigration to the United States, from about 1840 until the introduction of immigration restriction in 1923-24.

The Great Depression

Delayed Recovery and Economic Change in America, 1929-1939

Michael A. Bernstein

By examining the uneven fate of manufacturing industries during the 1930s, Michael Bernstein presents a powerful new interpretation of the Great Depression. Focusing on evidence from specific industries, he provides a more detailed picture of what happened to the American economy in the thirties that was so different from previous downturns.
