State Politics and Policy Quarterly (SPPQ) is the official publication of the State Politics and Policy Section of the American Political Science Association, and is a co-sponsor of the Annual State Politics and Policy Conference. Visit the SPPQ website at <http://sppq.sagepub.com>, the association website at http://www.olemiss.edu/depts/political_science/state_politics/index.htm, and APSA section information site at http://www.apsanet.org/content_5146.cfm. The conference site is listed at http://www.olemiss.edu/depts/political_science/state_politics/conferences/conferences.htm.

SPPQ features studies that develop general hypotheses of political behavior and policymaking and test these hypotheses using the unique methodological advantages of the U.S. states. It also includes field review essays and a section entitled "The Practical Researcher," which is a service-oriented feature designed to provide data, methodological, and assessment resources for those conducting research on state politics.

Manuscripts should be submitted electronically, so please visit the journal's SAGE Track site at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/sppq>. You will need to create an account in order to submit your manuscript. If you have any questions, please contact Tom Carsey, incoming editor, State Politics and Policy Quarterly, email: sppq@unc.edu.

Submissions formatted in Word are preferred, but manuscripts prepared in LaTeX may be submitted as a PDF file. SPPQ follows the APSA's Style Manual for Political Science. Authors should include their email addresses in a cover letter. SPPQ does not consider manuscripts under review elsewhere, or manuscripts of greater than 40 pages including tables, references and text. For works published in SPPQ, all authors must be prepared to provide, upon request, a replication data set for analyses reported therein.

Submissions for SPPQ's "The Practical Researcher" section should use the same online submission process described above. Questions regarding "The Practical Researcher" should be directed to Nancy Martorano, Associate Editor, University of Dayton, Department of Political Science, 300 College Park, Dayton, OH 45469-1425; email: Nancy.Martorano@notes.udayton.edu.
