

PREFACE

This volume contains the contributed papers for the 1990 Biennial Meeting of the Philosophy of Science Association held in Minneapolis, Minnesota. It is published before the meeting, with a second volume, containing the symposia papers, to be published afterward. The organization of the papers records that of the program. Northwestern University provides generous support for the preparation of these volumes.

The papers were chosen on the basis of individual merit from over 120 submissions. Refereeing and selection was done by the Program Committee, consisting of Linda Wessels (Chair), Robert Brandon, Deborah Mayo, Alan Nelson, Thomas Nickles, and John Norton. Micky Forbes, Assistant Editor of the Proceedings, supervised the editing and processing of the papers to produce uniform, camera ready copy. The PSA Business Office saw the copy through to publication.

We wish to thank the Program Committee for the considerable time and energy they contributed, and our authors for their cooperation over a tight publication schedule. We also thank Diana and Julia Coffa and Angie Monts for their secretarial assistance.

We are grateful to Northwestern University for financial support and to its Academic Computing Center for the use of their microcomputing facilities. Special thanks are due Wendy Ward whose expertise and imagination in utilizing these facilities shows up on nearly every page of the volume.

Linda Wessels
History and Philosophy of Science
Indiana University
Bloomington

Arthur Fine and
Micky Forbes
Department of Philosophy
Northwestern University