Seneca: Medea

---

Edited by C. D. N. Costa

---

This is the first complete edition, with introduction, text, apparatus criticus, and commentary in English, of a play by Seneca: the last edition of any kind appeared over sixty years ago. Its purpose is primarily to elucidate Seneca's play, but also to serve students of English and French literature by showing some of its links with the work of later playwrights. £3.30

Livy: Ab Urbe Condita

---

Volume I, Books I–V

---

Edited by Robert Maxwell Ogilvie

---

Since the first Oxford Classical Texts edition of Livy Books I–V was published in 1914 much work has been done on the history of the transmission of the text and the relationship of the manuscripts, the results of which form the basis of this new edition. All the primary manuscripts have been collated again at first hand, and account has been taken of a papyrus fragment and two important fragmentary manuscripts discovered since 1914. Second edition £2.50

---

Roman Ostia

---

Russell Meiggs

---

Since the publication of Roman Ostia in 1960 there has been an increasing recognition of the importance of Ostian studies. This is reflected in a wide-ranging series of articles and books and has been further stimulated by new discoveries. Fresh light has also been thrown on the history of the town and on some of its leading families. In this second edition the text has been modified where necessary, and a substantial chapter summarizes the new material. Second edition £8.50

---

Law Making in the Later Roman Republic

---

Alan Watson

---

In four previous volumes the author has examined the substantive law of the last two centuries of the Roman Republic in the light of all the texts directly referring to that time. The information is used here to show in greater detail than ever before how private law was shaped and reshaped in the most fertile period in the world's legal development. £5.25
