

APSA RBSI Summer Institute

The Ralph Bunche Summer Institute (RBSI) is an annual, intensive five-week program held at Duke University. This year, it will be held between May 27 and June 28, 2018. It is designed to introduce to the world of doctoral study in political science those undergraduate students from under-represented racial and ethnic groups or those interested in broadening participation in political science and pursuing scholarship on issues affecting under-represented groups. Participants in the RBSI are drawn from a competitive national applicant pool.

Applications are open until January 19, 2018. For more information visit us online: apsanet.org/rbsi. ■

APSA Minority Student Recruitment Program

Thank you to all 46 MSRP political science departments who have enrolled for 2017-18 and have been actively recruiting students from underrepresented backgrounds to PhD programs in political science. Faculty, please submit your student's name to MSRP program so that they can be receive recruitment information from MSRP departments.

To submit names, visit us online: apsanet.org/msrp. ■

A Virtual Review: Gender, Race, Ethnicity, and Diversity in APSA Publications

Just over five years ago, the Task Force on Political Science in the 21st Century, led by co-chairs Luis Fraga and Terri Givens and 2007–2008 APSA President Dianne Pinderhughes, addressed the preparedness of the discipline to respond to the changing demographics, increasing multicultural diversity, and ever-growing disparities in higher education. The task force report (2011) offered recommendations to the discipline on political science research, recruitment and hiring, and teaching on racial, ethnic, and gendered marginalization. To mark the anniversary of the task force report, Dianne Pinderhughes and co-author Maryann Kwakwa were invited to identify and review a sample of articles that have appeared in the association's journals in recent years that engage issues of gender, race, ethnicity, and diversity.

Read the virtual issue online: apsanet.org/apsavirtualissues. ■

In the Next Issue...

ARTICLES

The Chicken and Egg Question: Satisfaction with Democracy and Voter Turnout

André Blais and Filip Kostelka

Direct-Democracy Rules: The Effect of Direct Democracy on State Immigration Legislation

Andrea Silva

The Gender Balance Assessment Tool (GBAT): A Web-Based Tool for Estimating Gender Balance in Syllabi and Bibliographies

Jane Lawrence Sumner

Policing Us Sick: The Health of Latinos in an Era of Heightened Deportations and Racialized Policing

Alana M.W. LeBrón, Vanessa Cruz Nichols, and Francisco I. Pedraza

Respectability, Anti-Respectability, and Intersectionally Responsible Representation

Chaya Y. Crowder and Dara Z. Strolovitch

Shifting Standards for Political Methodologists? Historical Trends in the Society for Political Methodology

Sara McLaughlin Mitchell

Simulated Complexity: A New Classroom Simulation to Teach about Campaign-Finance Laws

Dick M. Carpenter II and Joshua Dunn

Why We Need to Return to the Ethics of Political Representation

Suzanne Dovi and Eline Severs ■