

and Senate sessions, this Archive includes press conferences, hearings, speeches, debates from the British Parliament, and public policy conferences. The presentation will discuss ways the Archive has been used and how to borrow tapes.

Teaching Issues of American Cultural Pluralism and Law

This course is sponsored in-part by the American Bar Association in response to the increasing interest in exploring issues of multiculturalism in undergraduate core curricula and political science courses. This short course on Teaching Issues of American Cultural Pluralism and Law involves problem-solving exercises drawn from actual court cases designed to help faculty incorporate issues of multiculturalism and law into their classes. The exercises include conflicts over religious freedom and drug use, the use of the cultural defense, and gender rights in the criminal justice system. Case materials will be given to workshop participants for use in their own classrooms.

Poli-Ware Simulations

Stephen Frantzich, Professor of Political Science at the U.S. Naval Academy, has created the first set of microcomputer decision-making simulations distributed by the Poli-Ware program of APSA, sponsored by a grant from IBM. He will offer a reprise of his short course which introduces participants to the process of simulation development, and to classroom use of the materials.

There will be an opportunity for "hands on" use of the simulations and discussion of participants' experiences in application of such simulations in teaching. The initial set of simulations created by Professor Frantzich cover political campaigning, legislative coalition building, political redistricting, presidential popularity, judicial process, and public opinion polling.

Scheduling and Registration

Additional short courses are being considered. Full details are in the back of this issue of PS. Short courses are scheduled for the day before the Annual Meeting on August 28th. A registration form with complete times, costs, and descriptions of the courses being offered for 1991 is located in the back of this issue of PS along with the preliminary program for the annual meeting. Preregistration by July 31 is strongly encouraged to ensure that the appropriate course materials are prepared for you.

Foreign Student Travel Grants for APSA Annual Meeting

Each year the American Political Science Association awards travel grants to advanced, foreign graduate students enrolled in American universities to enable these students to attend the APSA's annual meeting. Grants will be funded by the Asia Foundation, the Huang Hsing Foundation (USA) and other sources including the APSA.

Monies from the Asia Foundation are awarded to students from Asian countries while graduate students from other nations are being funded through the Huang Hsing Foundation and the APSA.

The APSA selects recipients on the basis of the following guidelines:

- Recipients of awards must be studying in the U.S. at the time the award is offered to them.
- Recipients must be full-time graduate students at U.S. institutions of higher learning. Foreign graduate students in refugee, immigrant, or tourist visa status are not eligible.
- Recipients are not eligible for awards if they are receiving any U.S. government funds, for either academic or travel expenses.
- Recipients may not have received a grant previously.

The maximum amount that can be awarded to any individual is $300.

Applicants must complete a form available from the APSA's national office and must have their departmental chairpersons write a letter of support of their applications. The deadline for receipt of applications for a travel grant to the August 29-September 1, 1991 annual meeting in Washington, D.C. is June 15. Application forms and further information are available by writing: Foreign

Advanced Graduate Student Travel Grants, APSA, 1527 New Hampshire Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20036.

Lucius J. Barker Selected President-Elect Nominee

The 1991 Nominating Committee, composed of Benjamin Ginsberg, Cornell University, chair; Stephen Holmes, University of Chicago; Robert Keohane, Harvard University; Paula D. McClain, Arizona State University; Donald L. Robinson, Smith College; and Kay Schlozman, Boston College, propose the following slate for Association officers and Council members:

President-Elect (1991-92): Lucius J. Barker, Stanford University

Lucius J. Barker

Lucius J. Barker is the William Bennett Munro Professor of Political Science at Stanford University. Professor Barker joined the Stanford faculty in September 1990 after having spent twenty-one years as the Edna Fischel Gellhorn Professor in political science at Washington University.

Professor Barker received his B.A. degree from Southern University in Baton Rouge, and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Illinois. He also spent a year in 1964-65 as a Liberal Arts Fellow of Law and Political Science at the Harvard Law School, Cambridge.

His major fields of teaching and research interests are in American national politics specializing in Judicial Politics and Constitutional Law, and in African-American Politics. Professor Barker is author or co-author of a number of articles and books including Freedoms, Courts, Politics (with Twiley Barker); Civil Liberties and the Constitution (with Twiley Barker); and Our Time Has Come: A Delegate's Diary of Jesse Jackson's 1984 Presidential Campaign.

In addition to research, Professor Barker has also been deeply engaged in teaching and service. He has won awards for outstanding teaching at both the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and at Washington University where he also served as chair of the department for two terms. From 1967-69 he was Professor of Political Science and Assistant Chancellor at the University of Illinois, and during 1988-89 served as Visiting Professor of Government at Harvard University.

Professor Barker is also active in professional organizations, and has been President of the Midwest Political Science Association and the National Conference of Black Political Scientists. He has also served as Vice President of the APSA and as a member of the APSA Executive Council and Administrative Committee.

In addition, he has just finished the last year of a three-year term (1989-91) as the first editor of the National Political Science Review, the annual scholarly publication of the National Conference of Black Political Scientists. He is also a member of the Board of Governors of the Joint Center for Political and Economic Studies in Washington, D.C., a research organization focusing on African-American politics. In addition, Professor Barker was appointed last year to a three-year term (1990-93) as a member of the Board of Overseers' Visiting Committee for the Department of Government at Harvard.

Vice President (1991-92): M. Margaret Conway, University of Florida

M. Margaret Conway

Since 1989 M. Margaret Conway has been a professor of political science at the University of Florida. Before that she taught at the University of Maryland, 1982-89. She received her bachelor's from Purdue University, her master's from the University of California, Berkeley, and her Ph.D. from Indiana University.

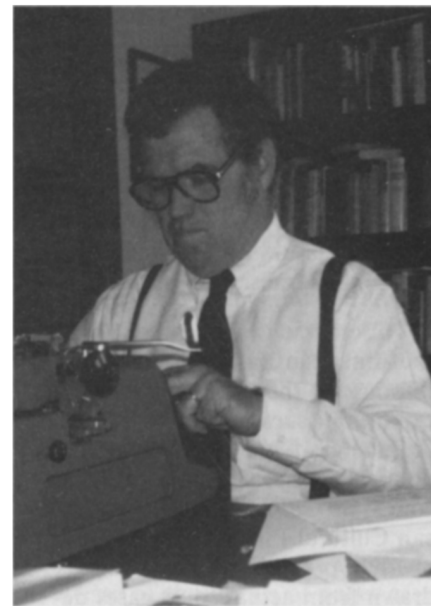

She served on the Association's Administrative Committee in 1983 and on its Council in 1981-83. She was president of the Southern Political Science Association in 1987.

Publications include Political Participation in the U.S., 1985, second edition 1991; American Political Parties: Stability & Change; Political Analysis.

Fields: Political Parties and Interest Groups, Electoral Behavior and Public Opinion, Political Psychology and Socialization.

Vice President (1991-92): Wilson Carey McWilliams, Rutgers University.

Wilson Carey McWilliams has been a professor of political science at Rutgers University since 1970. Before that he taught at Brooklyn College, CUNY and Oberlin College. He received his bachelor's, master's and Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley.

Wilson Carey McWilliams

He has served on the Association's education and program committees. He is the author of The Idea of Fraternity in America.

Fields: Political Thought and Philosophy, American Government and Politics.

Vice President (1991-92): Jane J. Mansbridge, Northwestern University

Jane J. Mansbridge

PS: Political Science & Politics

Jane Mansbridge is the Jane W. Long Professor of the Arts and Sciences at Northwestern University, and Associate Director of the Center for Urban Affairs and Policy Research. She received her bachelor's degree from Wellesley College and the Ph.D. from Harvard University.

Honors include fellowships from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, the National Science Foundation, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Institute for Advanced Study in Princeton, and the Russell Sage Foundation. She is on the editorial boards of Political Theory, Social Justice Research, and The Responsive Community, and a corresponding editor of Theory and Society. She was Program Chair of the APSA 1990 annual meeting, on the Council in 1987-89 and Administrative Committee of the APSA 1989. She is a member of the Women's Caucus for Political Science and founding co-chair of the Organization of Women Faculty at Northwestern University.

She is the author of Beyond Adversary Democracy, 1980/1983; Why We Lost the ERA, 1986 (co-recipient of the American Political Science Association's Kammerer award in 1987 and Schuck award in 1988); "Self-Interest in Political Life," Political Theory, 1990; and editor of Beyond Self-Interest, 1990.

Fields: Political Philosophy, Women and Politics, American Government, Policy.

Treasurer (1991-93): James J. Caporaso, University of Washington

James J. Caporaso

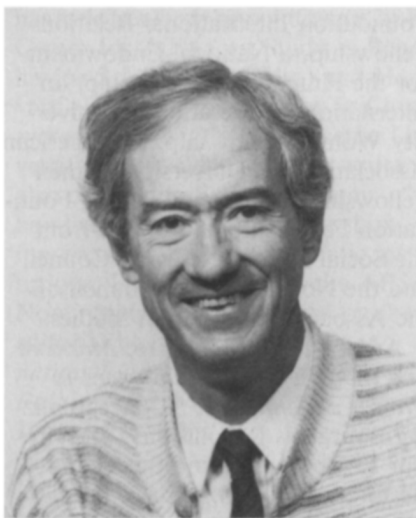

James A. Caporaso has been Bloedel Professor of Political Science at the University of Washington since 1988. Before that he taught at the University of Denver, 1978-88, and Northwestern, 1968-78. He received his bachelor's from Pennsylvania State University, his master's from Villanova, and his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania.

He was a Rockefeller Fellow, 1974-75; APSA's program committee, 1983 (associate chair) and 1990; APSA's Nominating Committee, 1985-86.

Publications include The Changing International Division of Labor, 1987, ed.; special issue of Organization on "Dependency," 1978, ed. He recently completed a book manuscript with David P. Levine on Theories of Political Economy.

Fields: International Relations and World Politics, Comparative Politics, Political Economy.

Secretary (1991-92): Leon N. Lindberg, University of Wisconsin

Leon N. Lindberg

Leon N. Lindberg is Professor of Political Science and Chair of the International Relations Program at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He received his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. from the University of California-Berkeley. He has taught at the University of Wisconsin since 1961; has been a visiting professor at the Institut Universitaires des Hautes Etudes Internationales in Geneva, at the University of Geneva, and at the University of Stockholm; a Research Fellow at the Swedish Collegium for Advanced Study in the Social Sciences, the International Institute for Management-Science Center Berlin, the Center for Advanced Study-Berlin, the Carnegie Endowment-Geneva, and the Brookings Institution, the Swedish Institute of International Relations, and the Center for International Affairs at Harvard. He was Chair of the Council for European Studies in 1971-72, and in 1974, Co-Director of the Project of Global Inflation at the Brookings Institution, 1977-85, and Director of the Global Energy Project for the Center for Research on International Institutions and the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme in 1972-77. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Research Committee on European Unification of the International Political Science Association, and the Executive Council of the Society for the Advancement of Socio-Economics, and Editorial Board of the Journal of Socio-Economics.

Honors include fellowships from the Ford Foundation, National Science Foundation, Center for Advanced Study, Rockefeller Foundation, Carnegie Endowment.

He is author, coauthor, or editor of eight books: The Governance of the American Economy (1991), The Politics of Inflation and Economic Stagnation (1985), The Energy Syndrome (1977), Politics and the Future of Industrial Society (1976), Stress and Contradiction in Modern Capitalism (1975), Regional Integration: Theory and Research (1971), Europe's Would-Be Polity (1970), The Political Dynamics of European Economic Integration.

Fields: Political Economy, Comparative Politics (Advanced Capitalist Democracies), Public Policy (Economic Policy).

Council (1991-93): Susan C. Bourque, Smith College

Susan C. Bourque is Esther Booth Wiley Professor of Government and Director of the Project on Women and Social Change at Smith College. She received her bachelors and Ph.D. from Cornell University.

Honors include Fulbright Hays Fellowships, the Hamilton Prize for

Susan C. Bourque

Women of the Andes, the NECLAS prize for "Gender, Technology and Development" and research awards from the Social Science Research Council, Howard Heinz Endowment, Andrew Mellon, Ford and Rockefeller foundations. She is on the Executive Council of the Latin American Studies Association, Board of Directors of the Association for Women in Development, and past president of the New England Council of Latin American Studies.

Her publications include Cholification and the Campesino; Women of the Andes, Women Living Change; Learning about Women: Gender, Politics and Power; "Democracy without Peace: The Cultural Politics of Terror," Latin American Research Review; and "Politics as an Unnatural Practice," Politics and Society.

Council (1991-93): Germaine A. Hoston, The Johns Hopkins University

Germaine A. Hoston has taught at The Johns Hopkins University since 1980. She has also been a visiting professor at the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme, L'École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales in Paris, and at Osaka City University, and she has held four appointments as a Foreign Research Scholar at the University of Tokyo. She received her bachelor's from Princeton University and her master's and Ph.D. from Harvard.

Germaine A. Hoston

Honors include a Rockefeller Foundation International Relations Fellowship, a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship, an International Federation of University Women Fellowship, an American Association for University Women Fellowship, a National Science Foundation Fellowship and grants from the Social Science Research Council and the Northeast Asia Council of the Association for Asian Studies.

Among her writings are: Marxism and the Crisis of Development in Prewar Japan, 1986; "Conceptualizing Bourgeois Revolution: The Prewar Japanese Left and the Meiji Restoration," Comparative Studies in Society and History, 1991; "A 'Theology' of Liberation? Socialist Revolution and Spiritual Regeneration in Chinese and Japanese Marxism," in Ideas across Cultures, 1990; "Between Theory and Practice: Marxist Thought and the Politics of the Japanese Socialist Party," Studies in Comparative Communism, 1987; "Marxism and National Socialism in Taishō Japan: The Thought of Takahashi Kamekichi and the Theory of 'Petty Imperialism,'" Journal of Japanese Studies, 1984; and "Tenkō: Marxism and the National Question in Prewar Japan," Polity, 1983. In addition, she recently completed her forthcoming book entitled The State, Identity, and the National Question in China and Japan.

She served on the 1990 APSA Program Committee and is an Academic Associate of the Atlantic Council. She has also been elected a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. She currently is serving on the Board of Directors of the Institute for East-West Security Studies and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Virginia Theological Seminary.

Fields: Comparative Politics (China and Japan), Political Development, Comparative Political Theory.

Council (1991-93): Richard W. Mansbach, Iowa State University

Richard W. Mansbach

Richard W. Mansbach has been Chair and Professor of Political Science at Iowa State University since 1988. Before that he taught at Rutgers University, 1969-88, and was Chair of the Rutgers Political Science Department, 1983-88. He also taught at Swarthmore College, 1967-69, and was Visiting Professor at Princeton University, 1980. He received his bachelor's degree (Phi Beta Kappa, High Honors) from Swarthmore College and his D.Phil. from Oxford University, England.

He was a Marshall Scholar from 1964 to 1967; a Fulbright Fellow, 1976-77; an ACE Fellow, 1981-82; an Estimates Officer, National Intelligence Council/Assessment Group, 1981-83.

Publications Include The Elusive Quest: Theory and International Politics, 1988; In Search of Theory: Toward a New Paradigm for Global Politics, 1981; The Web of World Politics: Nonstate Actors in the Global System, 1976; Structure and Process in International Politics, 1973.

Fields: International Relations and World Politics, International Organization.

Council (1991-93): Gwendolyn Mink, University of California, Santa Cruz

Gwendolyn Mink

Gwendolyn Mink has taught at the University of California-Santa Cruz since 1981. She received her Ph.D. in Government from Cornell University in 1982. She writes and teaches about: the role of racism in American political development, feminism, gender and the law, the political history of U.S. labor, and the politics of diversity in higher education. She is the author of Old Labor and New Immigrants in American Political Development and is currently writing on feminism, race-consciousness, and the development of the U.S. welfare state. Honors include a Rockefeller Foundation Award (1989).

Council (1991-93): Ronald Rogowski, University of California, Los Angeles

Ronald Rogowski

Ronald Rogowski is Professor and Chair of the Department of Political Science at UCLA. He previously taught at Princeton and Duke and has held research appointments at the Center for Advanced Study in Behavior Science (Palo Alto) and Harvard. His most recent book is Commerce and Coalitions (Princeton University Press, 1989). He has written also on corporatism, legitimacy, bandwagons, the Nazi leadership, representation, and democratic institutions. He has served on the APSA Nominating Committee and on the editorial boards of Ethics, International Organization, the Journal of Politics, and World Politics. Born in 1944, he took his B.A. from the University of Nebraska in 1964 and his Ph.D. from Princeton University in 1970.

Council (1991-93): Nancy L. Rosenblum, Brown University

Nancy L. Rosenblum is Professor of Political Science at Brown University and is presently chairperson of the department. She has been on the faculty of Brown since 1980, following positions as Henry LaBarre Jayne Assistant Professor and Associate Professor of Government at Harvard University, where she received her B.A. in Social Studies and Ph.D. in Government.

She is author of Another Liberal-

Nancy L. Rosenblum

ism: Romanticism and the Reconstruction of Liberal Thought (1987) and Bentham's Theory of the Modern State (1978) and editor of Liberalism and the Moral Life (1989).

She has been book review editor of Political Theory since 1989 and is Vice-President of the Conference for the Study of Political Thought. This year she chaired the APSA Burdette Pi Sigma Alpha Prize Committee, and has been on the Strauss and Lippincott award committees and program chair of the history of political thought section of the APSA convention.

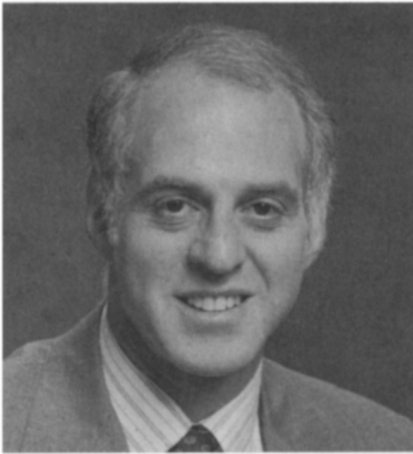

Honors include two NEH grants, a Bunting Institute Fellowship, and Harvard's Toppan Prize in 1974.

Fields: Contemporary theory and the history of political thought.

Council (1991-93): Martin Shefter, Cornell University

Martin Shefter is Professor of Government at Cornell University. He received his bachelor's from Cornell and his Ph.D. from Harvard. Prior to joining the Cornell Faculty, he was an assistant and associate professor at Harvard, and has been a visiting associate professor at the University of Chicago.

He currently serves on the executive committee of APSA's Section on Political Economy, chaired the book award committee of APSA's Section on Urban Politics in 1989, served on the William Anderson Award Committee of APSA in 1986, and organized the panels on political parties at the 1981 Annual Meeting and the Panels on Urban Politics, State Politics, and Federalism at the 1990 Annual Meeting of APSA. In addition, he currently chairs the working group on Metropolitan Dominance of the Social Science Research Council, serves on the editorial board of Studies in American Political Development, and is an associate editor of the Encyclopedia of New York City.

Martin Shefter

Honors include: visiting member, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton; fellow designate, Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, Stanford; and the APSA Section on Urban Politics prize for the best book on urban policy.

Publications include: Political Crisis/Fiscal Crisis: The Collapse and Revival of New York City, 1985; Politics By Other Means, 1990; and Global City: The Economic, Political, and Cultural Influence of New York, forthcoming.

Fields: American Government and Politics, Political Economy, Urban Politics, History and Politics.

Council (1991-93): Hanes Walton, Jr., Savannah State College

Hanes Walton, Jr., is the Fuller E. Callaway Professor of Political Science at Savannah State College since 1967. He has also taught at Atlanta University and been a Visiting Scholar at Stillman College and Cornell University's Africana Center. He received his bachelor's from Morehouse College, his Master's from Hanes Walton, Jr.

Atlanta University and Ph.D. from Howard.

Honors include membership into Phi Beta Kappa, a Ford, Guggenheim, Congressional and United Negro College Fund fellowships. He has served on the National Academy of Sciences' Assembly of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Executive Committee, 1975-78, and the Louis Pelzer Awards Committee. In 1987 he received NCOBPS award for outstanding scholarly productivity, and the College's distinguished teaching award in 1988.

He is the author of ten books that include Black Politics, 1972; Black Political Parties, 1972; Invisible Politics: Black Political Behavior, 1985; The Political Philosophy of Martin Luther King, Jr., 1971; and When the Marching Stopped: The Politics of Civil Rights Regulatory Agencies, 1988.

Fields: Political Philosophy, African-American Politics, Political Parties and Elections, International Relations, African Government and Politics, and Public Policy.

Under APSA's constitution the preceding nominations are subject to the vote of those members of the Association attending the Annual Business Meeting. If there is a contest for any elected office, an election will be conducted by mail ballot. Ballots will be distributed within 30 days of the Annual Business Meeting by the executive director. They must be returned within 30 days following distribution.

The 1991 Annual Business Meeting rules are printed in the Gazette section of this issue of PS. The rules require that any nominations in addition to those made by the Nominating Committee must be received in writing at the Association's Washington office prior to Monday, August 26, 1991, or thereafter at the Association's annual meeting office in the hotel headquarters. All such nominations and certifications must be received at least 24 hours before the session of the Annual Business Meeting in order to include those names on the original nominating document. Specific procedures for offering nominations are included in the Annual Business Meeting rules.

Continuing Council Members in 1991-92 will be:

President: James Q. Wilson, University of California, Los Angeles

James Q. Wilson

Since 1985 James Q. Wilson has been the James Collins Professor of Management and Public Policy at UCLA. Before that he was for twenty-six year the Shattuck Professor of Government at Harvard University. He is the author or co-author of twelve books, including Bureaucracy, American Government, Thinking About Crime, Varieties of Police Behavior, Political Organizations, The Investigators, Crime and Human Nature (with Richard J. Herrnstein), City Politics (with Edward C. Banfield), and Watching Fishes: Life and Behavior on Coral Reefs (with Roberta Wilson). He has in addition edited or contributed to books on urban problems, government regulation of business, and the prevention of delinquency among children.

Professor Wilson has served on a number of national commissions concerned with public policy. He was chairman of the White House Task Force on Crime in 1966, chairman of the National Advisory Commission on Drug Abuse Prevention in 1972-73, a member of the Attorney General's Task Force on Violent Crime in 1981, and a member of the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board. He is chairman of the board of directors of the Police Foundation.

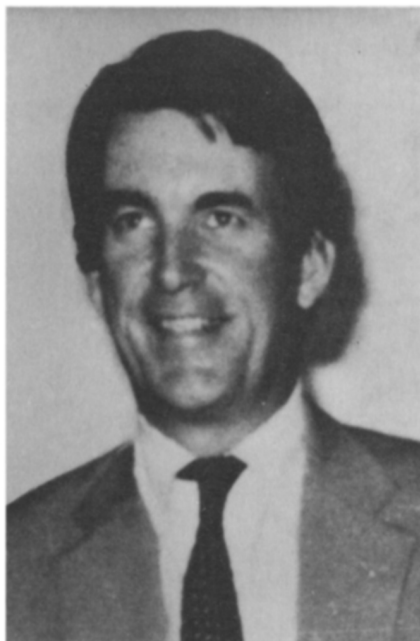

He has been elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a Fellow of the American Philosophical Society. Educated at the University of Redlands (A.B., 1952) and the University of Chicago (Ph.D., 1959), he has received honorary degrees from three universities.

He has been co-chairman of the Program Committee of the APSA (1977) and a member of the APSA Council (1977-79). In 1977 he received the Charles Merriam Award given by the APSA for scholarly work "that represents a significant contribution to the art of government through the application of social science research." In August 1990 he received the APSA's James Madison award for distinguished scholarship.

Council: Thomas E. Cronin, The Colorado College

Thomas E. Cronin has been McHugh Professor of American Institutions and Leadership, Department of Political Science, The Colorado College, since 1978. He has also been on the faculty at the University of North Carolina, Brandeis University, University of Delaware; a visiting professor at the University of California and Princeton University; a teaching fellow at Stanford University; a staff fellow at the Brookings Institution; and has served on the White House staff. He received his bachelor's from Holy Cross College, his master's and Ph.D. from Stanford University.

Honors include a National Science Foundation Fellowship, a White House Fellowship, the APSA's

Thomas E. Cronin

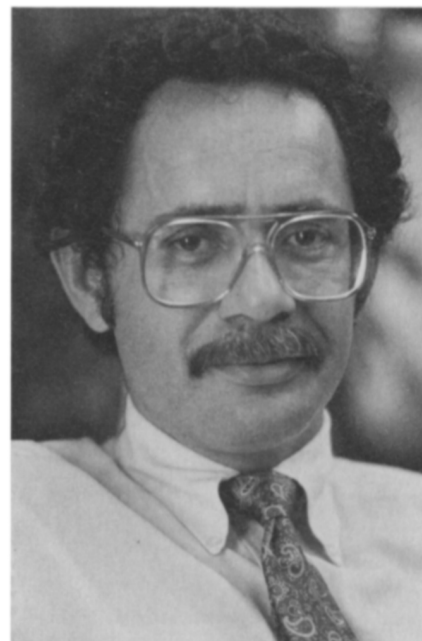

Charles E. Merriam Award "for significant contributions to the art of government." He has been president, Presidency Research Group; chair, National Academy of Science Delegation to the People's Republic of China, 1988; Board of Directors, The National Civic League, 1991-.

He is the author, co-author or editor of eleven books: Government by the People, 1975, 1978, 1981, 1984, 1987, 1990; State and Local Politics, 1976, 1978, 1981, 1984, 1987, 1990; Direct Democracy: The Politics of Initiative, Referendum and Recall, 1989; Essays in Honor of James McGregor Burns, 1989; The Invention of the American Presidency, 1989; Rethinking the Presidency, 1982; U.S. vs. Crime in the Streets, 1981; The State of the Presidency, 1980; The Presidency Reappraised, 1977; The Presidential Advisory System, 1969; The Write Stuff: Writing As a Performing and Political Art, 1990.

Fields: American Government/Politics, Presidential or Executive Politics, Electoral Behavior and Public Opinion.

Council: Rodolfo O. de la Garza, University of Texas, Austin

Rodolfo O. de la Garza is C. B. Smith Fellow in Latin American Studies and Professor of Government at the University of Texas at Austin. He has been at Texas since 1980. He was at The Colorado College from 1974-80. He received his bachelor's, master's and Ph.D. from the University of Arizona.

Rodolfo O. de la Garza

He received an NDEA Title VI Fellowship, University of Arizona, 1966-67; NSF Fellowship, 1970-72. He was chair of the APSA's Committee on the Status of Latinos/Chicanos in the Profession, 1987-89; a board member from 1987 to present on Changing Relations between Immigrants and Residents; chair from 1985 to present of the IUP/SSRC Committee on Latino Research.

He is Project Director of the Latino National Political Survey and Principal Investigator of Latinos and the 1990 Election: A Political Ethnography. He is the editor, author or co-author of the following: Ignored Voices: Latinos and Public Opinion Polls in the U.S., 1986; Mexican American Experience: An Interdisciplinary Anthology, 1985; "Does Ethnicity Make a Difference: Chicano-Anglo Public Policy Perspectives in San Antonio," Social Science Quarterly, 1985; "The Texas Land Grants and U.S. Mexican-Chicano Relations: A Study of Linkage Politics," Latin American Research Review, 1985; "Chicano-Mexican Relations: A Framework for Research," Social Science Quarterly, 1982.

Fields: Urban/Ethnic Politics, Comparative Politics (Mexico/Latin America), Electoral Behavior and Public Opinion.

Council: Jean Bethke Elshtain, Vanderbilt University

Jean Bethke Elshtain

Before moving to Vanderbilt in 1989 Jean B. Elshtain was at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, from 1973-89. She received the Chancellor's Medal, University of Massachusetts, 1984; she received her bachelor's from Colorado State University, master's from the University of Colorado, and Ph.D. from Brandeis University.

She was a fellow, Institute for Advanced Study, 1981-82; scholar-in-residence, Bellagio Conference and Study Center, 1983; Woodrow Wilson Fellow, 1963-64.

Publications she has written or edited include Power Trips and Other Journeys, 1990; Women and War, 1987; Public Man, Private Woman: Women in Social and Political Thought, 1981; The Family in Political Thought, 1982; Meditations on Modern Political Thought: Masculine/Feminine Themes Luther to Arendt, 1986; "Reflections on War and Political Discourse: Realism, Just War and Feminism in a Nuclear Age," Political Theory, 1985.

Fields: Political Thought and Philosophy, International Relations and World Politics, Women and Politics.

Council: Joanne Gowa, Princeton University

Joanne Gowa

Joanne Gowa is a professor at Princeton University. She was at the University of Pennsylvania, 1980-90. She received her bachelor's from Tufts University and her Ph.D. from Princeton University.

Publications include "Bipolarity, Multipolarity, and Free Trade," APSR, 1989; "Rational Hegemons, Excludable Goods, and Small Groups," World Politics, 1989; "Public Goods and Political Institutions," International Organization, 1988.

Field: International Relations.

Council: Virginia Gray, University of Minnesota

Virginia Gray has been with the Department of Political Science, University of Minnesota, since 1973. She was an assistant professor, University of Kentucky, 1971-73. She received her bachelor's from Hendrix College and her master's and Ph.D. from Washington University.

She was a visiting professor, Nankai University, Tianjin, China, 1988; University of Oslo, Norway, 1985. She has been a member of the council, Midwest Political Science Association and Policy Studies Organization; president of the State Politics and Policy Section, 1989-90; NSF policy science advisory board, 1976-78; editorial board, AJPS, 1979-81; Policy Studies Journal, 1979-87; Minnesota Center for Women in Government, Advisory Board, 1985-89; WCPS, member, 1969-.

Virginia Gray

She has authored, co-authored, or edited the following: The Organizational Politics of Criminal Justice, 1980; Feminism and the New Right, 1983; Politics in the American States, 1983, 1990; "Innovation in the States: A Diffusion Study," APSR, 1973; "Interest Group Politics and Economic Growth in U.S. States," APSR, 1988.

Fields: Public Policy; Federalism, State Politics and Intergovernmental Relations; Women and Politics.

Council: Ruth S. Jones, University of Arizona

Ruth S. Jones is chair of the Department of Political Science, Arizona State University. She has been at Arizona State since 1981. Before that she taught at the University of Missouri, St. Louis, and Kansas State University. She received her bachelor's from Indiana State University, Ph.D. from Georgetown University.

Currently she is President-Elect of the Southwest Social Science Association, 1991-92; former President of the Southwest Political Science Association, 1988-89; former Vice President of the Midwest Political Science

Ruth S. Jones

Association and Council Member of the Interuniversity Consortium for Political and Social Research. She has served on the APSR and WPQ Editorial Boards as well as numerous national and regional association committees.

She is a frequent consultant to state and local governments on issues of campaign finance reform. Publications include "The Naming of Candidates: Recruitment or Emergence?" in Louis Maisel, The Parties Respond: Changes in the American Party System; "Contributing as Participation: Mass or Elite Control," in John R. Johannes and Margaret L. Nugent, Campaign Finance Reform and Representative Democracy; "State-Level Campaign Finance," in Louis Maisel, The Encyclopedia of American Political Parties and Elections; "A Decade of U.S. State-Level Campaign Finance Reform," Roundtable on Political Finance and Political Corruption, Institute for Political Studies in Japan and the Research Committee on Political Finance and Corruption, Tokyo, Japan, September, 1989.

Fields: Political Parties and Interest Groups, American Government and Politics, Electoral Behavior and Public Opinion.

Council: Nolan E. Jones, National Governors' Association

Nolan E. Jones

Nolan E. Jones is director, Committee on Justice and Public Safety, National Governors' Association, Washington, DC. Formerly, he was an assistant professor, University of Michigan. He received his bachelor's from Texas Southern University, his master's and Ph.D. from Washington University, St. Louis.

He is an advisory board member of Tuskegee Institute and North Carolina Central University's project on Black Institutions of Higher Education; Advisory Council on Career Planning and Placement for the Public Schools in the District of Columbia; Board of Directors of Offender Aid and Restoration, U.S.A.; consultant to the doctoral program in the School of Education at Morgan State University; and consultant to the Department of Justice's project on "The Inequality of Justice: A Report on Crime and the Administration of Justice in the Minority Community," serving as principal author of the report. He is the author of Drug Abuse and Trafficking: States Meeting the Challenge, 1989.

Fields: Public Policy; Federalism, State Politics and Intergovernmental Relations; Urban and Ethnic Politics.

Council: Ian S. Lustick, University of Pennsylvania

Ian Lustick is a professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania. He was at Dartmouth 1976-91. He was a visiting instructor, University of California, Santa Cruz,

Ian S. Lustick

1975. He received his bachelor's from Brandeis University, his master's and Ph.D. from the University of California, Berkeley.

He is the recipient, NEH Interpretive Research grant, 1988-91; a Wilson Fellow, 1971; Danforth Fellow, 1971-76; Cons. for World Order Fellow, 1973-74; CFR International Affairs Fellow, 1979-80; SSRC research grant, 1983-84; board of directors, Association for Israel Studies; member, Council on Foreign Relations.

Publications include For the Land and the Lord: Jewish Fundamentalism in Israel, 1988; State Building Failure in British Ireland and French Algeria, 1985; "Explaining the Variable Utility of Disjointed Incrementalism," APSR, 1980; "Becoming Problematic: Breakdown of a Hegemonic Conception of Ireland in Nineteenth Century Britain," Politics and Society, 1990; Arabs in the Jewish State: Israel's Control of a National Minority, 1980.