

act not as outside patrons but as equal partners with them in a joint enterprise of freedom." Another recommendation was "That effective counter-measures be taken by NATO countries to combat Soviet ideological warfare and that there be set up an international unofficial free nations' organization for the dissemination of information to this end."

All of the committee reports and recommendations, together with the principal speeches in the plenary sessions and a summary of proceedings, are embodied in the Report of the Atlantic Congress. A copy may be obtained (until the supply is exhausted) on request to the United States Committee for the Atlantic Congress, Inc., 302 Old House Office Bldg., Washington 25, D. C. Many of the U. S. delegates to the Atlantic Congress attended, as observers, the Fifth Conference of NATO Parliamentarians which convened in Washington, November 16-20, 1959. Verbatim reports of that conference may be obtained from Representative Wayne L. Hays, chairman of the U. S. delegation.—HOWARD WHITE.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Evron Kirkpatrick, the executive director of the Association, has announced the winners of the 1959-60 Congressional Fellowship Program. Sponsored by the Association, this program brings 15 young journalists and political scientists to Washington for a 9-month period of work in Congressional and Senatorial offices.

This year's winners were: Political scientists—Daniel M. Berman (Washington College), Robert Gilpin, Jr. (University of California), James R. Klonoski (St. Olaf College), Richard H. Kosaki (University of Hawaii), Gerald Rigby (UCLA), Alan Rosenthal (Princeton University), C. Dale Story (Southern Methodist University), and Raymond E. Wolfinger (Yale University); Journalists—Forest Wm. Amsden (The Coos Bay World), Charles U. Daly (White Plains Dispatch), Harry W. Ernst (The Charleston Gazette), Ron M. Linton (Louisville Courier Journal), Daniel D. McCrary (Wall Street Journal), Michael J. Maloney, Jr. (Cincinnati Enquirer).

Dr. Kirkpatrick has also announced that applications for the 1960-61 program should be sent to the Association's office so as to arrive no later than February 15, 1960.

A Center for Research on Conflict Resolution has been established at the University of Michigan under the direction of a faculty committee representative of several social science disciplines. Robert C. Angell of the sociology department of the University of Michigan heads the executive committee. The Center will continue the publication of the Journal of Conflict Resolution, and sponsor the development of interdisciplinary research programs relating to the problem of resolving conflicts in international relations. Correspondence regarding the Center may be addressed to 208 Economics Building, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

For the thirteenth consecutive year, the Survey Research Center of The University of Michigan will hold its annual summer institute in Survey Research Techniques, designed to illustrate the theory and application of survey research to such fields as business and human relations, psychology and sociology, political behavior, public communication and influence, public health, economics, statistics, etc. Again this year a special workshop will be offered in the practical application of survey research methods to these individual fields.

The 1960 dates for the regular session are July 18 to August 13, with introductory courses offered from June 20 to July 16. For further information write to the Survey Research Center, The University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

John Clarke Adams of Syracuse University is spending the academic year in Florence, Italy, with a new program, Syracuse Semester in Italy.

Robert S. Babcock, lieutenant-governor of Vermont has received a part-time appointment for the first semester of 1959-60 as visiting professor of political science at the University of Vermont.

M. Margaret Ball, professor of political science at Wellesley College, has been awarded the first prize in the British section of the Atlantic Community Awards Competition for her book entitled NATO and the European Union Movement.

During the summer of 1959, Willard Barber, coordinator of senior officer training at the State Department's Foreign Service Institute consulted in Rangoon with officials of the Burmese government, at their request, regarding the organization, procedures, and curriculum which the Burma government will use in establishing a National Defense College in Rangoon. . . . It is expected that sessions of the new College will begin in June, 1960.

Paul C. Bartholomew, professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame, has been serving as a consultant to the city of Chicago in connection with that city's urban renewal community conservation program. During the past summer he was visiting professor of political science at Loyola University, Chicago.

George Bean, city manager of San Diego California, will offer a graduate seminar in public administration in the fall semester, 1959, at San Diego State College.

George Belknap, professor of political science at the University of California, Berkeley, has become director of voting analysis of the Democratic National Committee.

A. A. Berle has been appointed adjunct professor of government at New York University for 1959-60.

For the second straight year R. Wallace Brewster directed a summer course in the study of government offered in Paris by The Pennsylvania State University.

Richard L. Butwell of the University of Illinois has been granted leave of absence for the year 1959-60 to enable him to serve as a lecturer at the University of Rangoon.

E. Glenn Callen of Nebraska Wesleyan has been appointed a member of a citizens commission to study the function and structure of government in Lancaster county, Nebraska.

Earl C. Campbell, head of the department of political science and public administration, San Jose State College, retired in June, 1959, after 28 years of service at San Jose State College. He has since gone to Rio de Janeiro to serve under a contract between the University of Southern California and the State Department. Dr. Campbell expects to spend two years in Brazil as chief of party for a group of nine American consultants who will assist the Brazilian government in an advisory capacity in the field of public administration.

James B. Christoph of Ohio State University, has been appointed assistant dean of the college of arts and sciences on a half-time basis for two years. He will continue to teach courses in the department of political science.

Frederic N. Cleaveland has been granted a leave of absence from his position as chairman of the department of political science at the University of North Carolina to be visiting professor of political science for a year at the University of California at Berkeley. During his absence, S. Shepard Jones is serving as chairman of the department.

Dean R. Cresap, professor of political science, San Jose State College, has been granted a leave of absence for the academic year 1959-1960 to serve in Brazil under the contract between the University of Southern California and the State Department just mentioned above.

Paul T. David, senior staff member in government studies, The Brookings Institution, has received a leave of absence for the academic year 1959-1960. He will spend the year at the center for advanced study in the behavioral sciences.

Alex N. Dragnich of Vanderbilt University, is visiting professor of political philosophy at the Naval War College, Newport, Rhode Island, from July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960.

Martin Dubin has become visiting assistant professor at Roosevelt University.

Paul S. Dull of the University of Oregon will be on sabbatical leave during 1959-60. Under a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies he will be at work on the preparation of studies pertaining to government and politics of Japan where he spent the past summer.

Frederick C. Engelmann, associate professor of political science of Alfred University, is spending the academic year 1959-60 in Austria to study the Austrian government coalition, under a grant of the Rockefeller Foundation. In the summer of 1959, he taught in the department of government of Cornell University.

David G. Farrelly of U.C.L.A. has been awarded a Fulbright Lectureship at the University of Bologna during 1959-60.

D. F. Fleming will be on leave from Vanderbilt University during 1959-1960 to serve as Fulbright Lecturer at the Indian School of International Studies in New Delhi.

J. Leiper Freeman of Vanderbilt University is spending the academic year 1959-1960 at the American University at Beirut, Lebanon, under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Julian R. Friedman, University of California, is visiting assistant professor at the department of political science, Maxwell School, Syracuse University, during this academic year.

Richard T. Frost of Princeton University served as executive assistant to the Governor's Commission to study the institutions and agencies in New Jersey.

L. F. E. Goldie, senior lecturer in law at the Canberra University College, Australia, has accepted an appointment as lecturer in the department of political science at the University of California (Los Angeles) for 1959-60.

Maure L. Goldschmidt of Reed College has accepted an appointment as visiting professor in the department of political science at the University of California (Los Angeles) for 1959-60.

Stephen S. Goodspeed of the University of California (Santa Barbara) served as visiting associate professor for the summer session at the University of California (Los Angeles).

R. T. Golembiewski, instructor of politics at Princeton University, will give a fall term course in public administration at the Bernard Baruch School of Business and Public Administration, CCNY.

Charles M. Hardin of the University of Chicago has been on assignment with the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development as part of a team to study and report on the agricultural potentialities of Pakistan.

Horace V. Harrison at Maryland is serving as acting head of the department of government and politics during the fall semester while Elmer Plischke is on sabbatical leave.

Ivan Hinderaker of the department of political science at the University of California (Los Angeles) has been granted a special leave from the department to accept an appointment as assistant to the Secretary of the Interior for the year, 1959-60.

Edward H. Hobbs of the University of Mississippi, spent the month of August as a fellow at the University of California attending the Second Annual Institute of Social Gerontology.

Willard N. Hogan, professor of political science, State University College of Education, New Paltz, New York, is serving as acting chairman, division of social science, during 1959-1960 while Eugene P. Link is lecturing in India under the Fulbright program.

Paul S. Jacobsen, chairman of the department of political science at Colgate University is on leave during the academic year, 1959-60, serving as a visiting professor in the overseas program of the University of Maryland.

G. Edward Janosik, University of Pennsylvania, has been appointed visiting lecturer in political science at Harvard College for the fall term, 1959-60.

Henry Janssen of San Diego State College received a grant from the Truman Institute for National and International Affairs for the summer, 1959, to do research on the presidency in the Truman Library.

Donald B. Johnson is serving as associate director of the Citizenship Clearing House under a leave of absence from the State University of Iowa.

Herbert Kaufman, associate professor of political science at Yale University, will be at the center for advanced study in the behavioral sciences, Stanford, California, for the year 1959-60.

William W. Kaufmann of Rand Corporation is the recipient of the Ford Research professorship in the department of political science at Yale University for the year 1959-60.

Stanley Kelley, Jr. of Princeton University is a member of the editorial board, Public Opinion Quarterly.

Willmoore Kendall, associate professor of political science at Yale University, will be on leave of absence for two years, 1959-61, to engage in research in Europe, on a Reim Foundation grant.

Leo P. Kibby, chairman, area of social sciences, San Jose State College, has been named acting head of the department and Frederic A. Weed, associate professor of political science, has been made his administrative assistant.

Evron M. Kirkpatrick, executive director of the American Political Science Association, has been appointed as professorial lecturer on political methodology in the department of government of Georgetown University.

Walter H. C. Laves, chairman of the department of government at Indiana University, has returned from Southeast Asia where he spent two months making an evaluation of the Indiana University-Thammasat University Public Administration Program in Bangkok, Thailand. He visited institutes of public administration in Manila, Pnom Phen, Djakarta, New Delhi, and Cairo. While in Djakarta, he completed arrangements for a contract between Indonesia and Indiana University, sponsored by the International Cooperation Administration, for cooperation in the institute of public administration. In Bangkok, he was invited by the Foreign Minister of Thailand to address senior officials in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, and lectured before all students of public administration at Thammasat University. He studied U. S. cultural and technical cooperation programs in the Philippines, Thailand, Cambodia, Indonesia, India, and Egypt in connection with a research project at Indiana University.

Don Leiffer, chairman of the political science department of San Diego State College, is on a year's leave of absence to serve as research secretary to Governor Brown of California.

William S. Livingston will be absent for the academic year 1959-60 on a research grant to study political processes in England. He will be replaced at the University of Texas in the second semester by Allen M. Potter of the University of Manchester.

Dean E. Mann, assistant professor of government, University of Arizona, spent the month of October in Germany as the guest of the city of Ulm, surveying state and local government as part of an American team invited for that purpose.

Alpheus Thomas Mason of Princeton University was visiting professor of politics at the University of Colorado in the summer of 1959. He has been awarded a grant by the Rockefeller Foundation for a study of the office and powers of the chief justice of the United States.

Stuart A. MacCorkle has extended his leave of absence from the University of Texas through January 1960 to continue his work as advisor to the University of Seoul, Korea, where he has been engaged in the organization of the school of public administration.

R. W. McCulloch of Western State College of Colorado will be on sabbatical leave during 1959-60. Part of his time will be devoted to lecturing in the school of public administration, at the University of Southern California.

Dean E. McHenry of U.C.L.A. has accepted an appointment as academic assistant to the president of the University of California. He has been granted a special year's leave of absence from the department of political science.

Ernest E. Means of Florida State University is taking a two-year leave of absence to serve as executive director of the Judicial Council of Florida.

Lloyd D. Musolf, associate professor of political science, resigned from Vassar to accept a position at Michigan State University. He will serve with the International Cooperation Administration in Vietnam for two years.

Charles R. Nixon of the University of California (Los Angeles) is taking a two-year leave of absence from the department of political science to join the field staff of the project on Economic Development and Political Change in Africa South of the Sahara being undertaken by the Center for International Studies at M.I.T.

Alfred G. Obern, visiting associate professor at the University of Southern California, is being sent by that school to Brazil to assist in establishing a program in public administration at the University of Rio Grande do Sul.

William Whatley Pierson, formerly dean of the graduate school at the University of North Carolina as well as professor of political science, has been awarded one of the William Rand Kenan professorships at that institution.

Robert A. Rupen, associate professor of political science at the University of North Carolina, spent a month in the late summer in Outer Mongolia on invitation of the government of that country. This was his second visit there as observer and consultant; he had responded to a similar invitation in 1958.

Milton I. Sacks has been granted a leave of absence from Brandeis University to visit Haverford College as assistant professor of government.

John Schmidhauser of the State University of Iowa is spending the year at the University of Chicago Law School under a research fellowship in law and the behavioral sciences.

Charles Schleicher of the University of Oregon was visiting professor of political science at the University of Hawaii during the summer session.

Karl M. Schmidt, Jr., is in charge of an experimental teaching project for community leaders, Government in Action!, conducted jointly by the Maxwell School and University College, Syracuse University, with a grant from the Fund for Adult Education through the Carrie Chapman Catt Foundation.

Lester Seligman will direct the work of the newly established politics study center at the University of Oregon under a grant from the Falk Foundation.

Nai-Cheng Shen, of National Taiwan University and Tunghai University of Taiwan, has been named visiting professor of political science at the University of Vermont during the year 1959-60. His appointment is under a joint Fulbright-Smith-Mundt grant.

Ruth C. Silva, of the Pennsylvania State University, is devoting half her time during the fall semester to writing (a study of reapportionment), under the auspices of the New York State Constitutional Revision Commission.

John F. Sly of Princeton University served as consultant on taxation and finance to pre-legislative conferences in Indiana and Hawaii; also as consultant to California groups on a proposed Golden Gate Transportation Authority.

W. J. Stankiewicz of the University of British Columbia served last summer with the Government of Ontario and taught during the summer session at the University of Toronto.

H. Arthur Steiner of the University of California (Los Angeles) has been granted a one-semester sabbatical leave to accept a Fulbright research grant in India (Delhi University) from 1 August 1959 to 1 February 1960.

Eduard Taborsky will be absent from the University of Texas during the second semester of the next academic year on a Guggenheim Fellowship to pursue his research on Czechoslovakian problems.

Peter Tang, lecturer in Far Eastern politics at Georgetown University, will be on leave of absence during the Fall semester, 1959 to do research in Formosa.

Nelson Taylor of Vassar College taught a graduate course in government this past summer at the C.C.N.Y.

William G. Torpey of The George Washington University, formerly full time manpower consultant with President Eisenhower's Committee on Scientists and Engineers, has transferred to the Executive Office of the President, Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, in the same capacity, incident to the termination of the President's Committee.

Robert C. Tucker, associate professor of government at Indiana University, taught at Harvard University during the summer session.

Edgar Turlington, professorial lecturer in international law, will be on leave of absence from the government department, Georgetown University next year, to be secretary to the Committee on World Peace Through Law, of the American Bar Association.

Jorge B. Vivas has been appointed assistant-director and chief of the reference service of the Argentine Library of Congress. He will also be editor of the Bulletin of the Argentine Library of Congress.

A. J. Wann, associate professor at the University of Illinois Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, will be on sabbatical leave of absence from September, 1959, to March, 1960, to travel in Italy, Austria, Germany, the Union of South Africa, and South West Africa, studying methods of regulating the conduct of labor and industrial relations.

Wilfred D. Webb has been on leave of absence from the University of Texas for the first semester of the current academic year, and visiting professor of public administration at Duke University.

Norman Wengert is on leave of absence from the department of government and politics of the University of Maryland for the academic year to serve as deputy director for studies of the United States Outdoor Recreation Resources Review Commission.

Leon O. Wolcott, formerly of the University of New Mexico, is serving as advisor on policy and administration to the Prime Minister of Iran under an ICA contract.

Charles E. Young of U.C.L.A. will lecture on legislative process during the spring semester at the University of California.