Bioethics in a Liberal Society

MAX CHARLESWORTH

Max Charlesworth argues that in a liberal society where there is no public consensus on a set of core values, a plurality of ethical stances should be accepted. Issues discussed include the ending of human life, new reproductive technologies and the ethical allocation of limited health resources.

Established in 1960, to provide a medium for study of the philosophy of art and the principles of aesthetic judgement in the context of the arts, The British Journal of Aesthetics is one of the leading journals of its kind on the international scene.

The Journal covers theoretical discussion of the principles and criteria of criticism but does not include practical criticism of any of the arts. In addition to general aesthetics, experience of both fine and applied arts is examined from the point of view of the psychologist, the sociologist, the historian, the teacher, and the general critic.

The British Journal of Aesthetics is published quarterly in January, April, July, and October, and contains articles and reviews in each issue.

Recent & forthcoming articles include

Jorge V. Arregui and Pablo Arnau
Shaftesbury: Father or Critic of Modern Aesthetics?

Frances Berenson

Information for Authors

Prospective authors should send their contributions, typed and double-spaced on quarto or A4 paper, to the Editor, Royal Institute of Philosophy, 14 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0AG. They should retain a second copy for the purpose of checking proofs. Articles submitted should conform to Hart's Rules for Compositors and Readers (Oxford University Press, 1967). The Editor may alter manuscripts wherever necessary to make them conform to the stylistic and bibliographical conventions of the journal. Single quotation marks should be used except where there is a quotation within another. The titles of books and journals should be underlined (i.e. to be printed in italics), as should foreign words. Titles of articles should be in single quotation marks.

Notes and references will be printed as footnotes and should be typed (double-spacing) on a separate sheet, numbered consecutively. They should be referred to in the text by superscripts. Citations should be as follows:

¹ H. B. Acton, The Philosophy of Punishment (London: Macmillan, 1969), 192–198.

² R. S. Downie and Elizabeth Telfer, 'Autonomy', Philosophy 46, No. 178 (October 1971), 295.

³ Op. cit. note 1, 101–112.

⁴ W. C. Wimsatt, 'Some Problems with the Concept of Feedback', Boston Studies in the Philosophy of Science, VIII, R. C. Buck and R. S. Cohen (eds.) (Dordrecht: D. Reidel, 1971), 242.

The return of contributions cannot be guaranteed unless they are accompanied by stamps, or in the case of contributions from abroad, by international coupons, to cover postage. A self-addressed envelope should also be enclosed.

Only corrections of printer's errors can be allowed in proofs. Authors are therefore asked to send any alterations or additions to the Editor as soon as possible after receiving his letter of acceptance.

Authors of articles, discussion papers and review articles will receive twenty-five offprints free of charge. Additional offprints can be ordered when proofs are returned by arrangement with the Institute.

Books for review should be sent to the Editor at the Institute and not to Cambridge University Press. Publishers are asked to note that non-philosophical works are not reviewed in Philosophy.

Authors' corrected proofs should be sent to the Editor, Royal Institute of Philosophy, 14 Gordon Square, London WC1H 0AG.
