Notes and News

With the aim of providing a valuable and continuing service to our members, we are anxious to expand the coverage of Notes and News. In addition to announcements of conferences and reports on those already held, we would like up-to-date information about activities of Institutions engaged in African Studies and also details of original research in progress, both by Institutions and individuals. Anything, in fact, which will help to bring into focus the enormous amount of work being done in many fields and in many disciplines. This free publicity service is operated by the Institute in the interests of international African Studies, but priority will, naturally, be given to announcements from Institutions and individuals who are members of the Institute. Because the I.A.I. is an international organization, we feel we are in a particularly favourable position to provide a useful clearing house, through Africa, for vital information on African Studies throughout the world. We ask for your co-operation.

English–Kikuyu Dictionary

A. R. Barlow

Edited by T. G. Benson

---

Early this century, Arthur Ruffell Barlow, a young layman of the Church of Scotland Mission in Kenya, started to collect information about the Kikuyu and their language, but had not finished the English–Kikuyu Dictionary when he died in 1965. The remainder was completed, with the help of Kikuyu scholars, and the whole work edited by Mr. T. G. Benson. This painstaking experiment in the rendering of English concepts into a rich African language will provide a treasury of the Kikuyu language for future scholars. £6.50
