INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTRIBUTORS

The American Political Science Review aims to publish scholarly research and writing of exceptional merit. Contributions must demonstrate the highest standards of excellence in conceptualization, exposition, methodology, and craftsmanship. Because the Review reaches a diverse audience of scholars and practitioners, contributors must demonstrate how their analysis or exposition illuminates a significant research problem, or answers an important research question, of general interest in political science.

The author's name and affiliation should not appear on the copies submitted, but only on a separate covering sheet. In general, the Review considers manuscripts of up to 30 pages in length. Moreover, the Review does not consider manuscripts submitted to other publications.

Manuscripts should be prepared following the guidelines of the Style Manual for Political Science, a publication of the American Political Science Association's Committee on Publications. It is available from the Association's office. Otherwise, authors should follow the Chicago Style Manual and the example of recent issues of the Review. Graphs and tables should be presented on separate pages, with their location in the manuscript indicated, e.g., the notification "Table 1 about here," at the proper places.
