CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY COLLECTION

Books of enduring scholarly value

In the spirit of Cambridge University Press's continued commitment to innovation and enterprise, the Cambridge Library Collection will launch in July 2009, making an initial group of 475 out-of-print books available again. Another 1,000 will follow by the end of 2009 and 3,000 titles a year will be added as the program continues.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, these books are carefully selected by experts in each subject area because of their scholarly importance or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines to capture the contents of each book. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high-quality standard for which the press is recognized around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely.

The Cambridge Library Collection will revive books of enduring scholarly value across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, science and technology.

Language Teaching

Editor:
Graeme Porte
University of Granada
Spain

...is the essential research resource for language professionals providing a rich and expert overview of research in the field of second-language teaching and learning. It offers survey articles on specific topics, languages and countries, and invites original research articles reporting on replication studies and meta-analyses. The journal also includes regional surveys of doctoral dissertations, topic-based research timelines and articles based on plenary conference speeches. Research-in-progress reports, themed book review articles and a list of publications received complement the content of each issue. A thorough peer-reviewing procedure applies to both the commissioned and the unsolicited articles. In the all-time favourite Annual Review of Research, Richard Johnstone provides expert commentary on a selection of the most significant work on second-language teaching and learning published in the preceding year.

Studies in Second Language Acquisition

Editors:

Albert Valdman, Indiana University, USA

Susan Gass, Michigan State University, USA

Studies in Second Language Acquisition is a refereed journal of international scope devoted to the scientific discussion of issues in second and foreign language acquisition of any language. Each volume contains four issues, one of which is generally devoted to a current topic in the field. The other three issues contain articles dealing with theoretical topics, some of which have broad pedagogical implications, and reports of quantitative and qualitative empirical research. Other rubrics include replication studies, State-of-the-Art articles, Notes and Discussion, review articles, book reviews, and book notices.

Language Variation and Change

...is the only journal dedicated exclusively to the study of linguistic variation and the capacity to deal with systematic and inherent variation in synchronic and diachronic linguistics. Sociolinguistics involves analysing the interaction of language, culture and society; the more specific study of variation is concerned with the impact of this interaction on the structures and processes of traditional linguistics. Language Variation and Change concentrates on the details of linguistic structure in actual speech production and processing (or writing), including contemporary or historical sources.

Language Variation and Change is the official journal of the annual New Ways of Analyzing Variation (NWAY) conference.

Journal of Germanic Linguistics

Published for the Society for Germanic Linguistics and the Forum for Germanic Language Studies by Cambridge University Press

Instructions for Contributors

The Journal of Germanic Linguistics (JGL), the journal of the Society for Germanic Linguistics (SGL), carries original articles, reviews, and notes on synchronic and diachronic issues pertaining to Germanic languages and dialects from the earliest phases to the present, including English (to 1500) and the extraterritorial varieties. Contributions are invited on the phonological, morphological, syntactic, and semantic analysis of these languages and dialects, as well as their historical development, both linguistic and textual. Especially welcome are contributions which address questions of interest to a broad range of scholars concerned with general issues in formal theory, sociolinguistics, and psycholinguistics. The JGL places no restrictions on the subject or method of contributions submitted, quality as judged by anonymous peer review being the sole criterion of acceptance. Membership in the SGL is not required for publication; contributions from non-SGL members and from all countries are invited. The language of publication is normally English, though high-quality manuscripts in German will be considered. The JGL is published quarterly, in March, June, September, and December.

Editorial Addresses

Manuscripts for submission should be sent to the Chair of the Editorial Committee, Prof. Robert W. Murray, Department of Linguistics, University of Calgary, 2500 University Drive NW, Calgary, Alberta, Canada T2N 1N4; e-mail: rwmurray@ucalgary.ca.

Books for review and review manuscripts should be sent to Prof. B. Richard Page, Department of Germanic and Slavic Languages and Literatures, The Pennsylvania State University, 311 Burrowes Building, University Park, PA 16802, USA; e-mail: brp3@psu.edu.

Applications for SGL membership should be sent to Prof. Robert B. Howell, Department of German, University of Wisconsin—Madison, 818 Van Hise Hall, 1220 Linden Drive, Madison, WI 53706, USA; e-mail: rbhowell@facstaff.wisc.edu.

MANUSCRIPTS

1. Manuscripts of articles should be submitted electronically in PDF format to the Chair of Editorial Committee. They are refereed by at least two competent scholars in a double-blind evaluation process. Authors should not identify themselves in the text. Identification should be provided in a separate file or on a separate sheet giving the title, name of author(s), affiliation, preferred mailing address, telephone number(s), fax number, and e-mail address. Authors will be informed of a decision within two to four months.
2. When submitting a manuscript, authors should also send by electronic mail an abstract of about 100 words to the Chair of the Editorial Committee. This abstract should also be typed (double spaced) and included with the submitted manuscript.
3. Contributors should make every effort to prepare their manuscripts cleanly and neatly. Manuscripts should be typed double spaced throughout (including abstracts, block quotations, and references) using an 8.5 × 11-inch (or DIN A4) page setting, with no less than 1-inch margins on all four sides.
4. All manuscripts should carefully follow the style sheet of the Linguistic Society of America (as used in Language), except that the JGL uses double quotation marks to introduce quotes that are run into the text. Single quotation marks are used only for glosses and for quotes within quotes. The LSA Style Sheet is printed annually in the December issue of the LSA Bulletin and in abbreviated form on the inside back cover of Language; it is also available online through the LSA website at www.lsadc.org. Manuscripts not conforming to this style may have to be revised by their authors, especially with regard to references and notes.
5. For accepted manuscripts it will be necessary to submit a final electronic version in a commonly used word-processing program.
6. Receipt of manuscripts will be promptly acknowledged. Fax submissions will not be accepted. Manuscripts will not be returned unless postage and a self-addressed envelope are supplied.
7. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. A Copyright Transfer Agreement, with certain specified rights reserved by the author, must be signed and returned to the Chair of the Editorial Committee by senior authors of accepted manuscripts, prior to publication. This is necessary for the wide distribution of research findings, and the protection of both author and the Society under copyright law.
