J.-F. DESJEUX
Editorial Direction for Le Symposium Lavoisier

The Nutrition Society has as its object the advancement of the scientific study of nutrition and its application to the maintenance of human and animal health.

Application for membership is invited from anyone whose work has contributed to the scientific knowledge of nutrition, whether such work has been in the laboratory, the field or the clinic, and whether experimental, clinical, agricultural or statistical in nature. There is also a student membership scheme with reduced subscriptions.

Particulars of The Nutrition Society and application forms for membership may be had from the Honorary Secretary, Dr. J. C. Mathers, The Nutrition Society, 10 Cambridge Court, 210 Shepherds Bush Road, London W6 7NJ.

The Proceedings of The Nutrition Society, published by Cambridge University Press, in part record meetings of the Symposium type, at which experts in a particular field are invited by Council to make contributions on specific parts of it and at which general discussion follows these invited contributions. The meetings also include sessions at which original communications are presented by members and others. Abstracts of communications accepted at the meetings are published in the Proceedings. The Proceedings are published three times a year.

The British Journal of Nutrition is published monthly by Cambridge University Press for The Nutrition Society, which owns it and controls its publication. It is devoted to reports of original work in all branches of nutrition, the term 'original work' not implying that the papers must invariably be based on new facts. The British Journal of Nutrition does not print reviews of the literature or polemical articles, but the Editorial Board is willing to consider original articles critically re-examining published information and the conclusions drawn from it.

Nutrition Research Reviews, published annually by Cambridge University Press, presents authoritative and critical reviews of research that advance new concepts and encourage fresh thinking on a variety of nutritional problems. The journal's main objective is to encourage the exchange of fundamental ideas on nutritional well-being.
