Culture Makers

Urban Performance and Literature in the 1920s

AMY KORITZ

"Amy Koritz's engaging book brings together drama, dance, and fiction of the 1920s in paired case studies of 'high' and 'low' culture. Koritz provides an eloquent and refreshing collection of detailed, insightful case studies that illuminate the way in which artists, intellectuals, and cultural commentators used culture-making to pose 'symbolic resolutions' to key social and cultural tensions of modernity."—David M. Scobey, author of Empire City: The Making and Meaning of the New York Landscape

Dancing Lives

Five Female Dancers from the Ballet d'Action to Merce Cunningham

KAREN ELIOT

Closely examines the lives and careers of Giovanna Baccelli, Adèle Dumilâtre, Tamara Karsavina, Moira Shearer, and Catherine Kerr.

"Illuminates the hidden dimensions of their emotional and psychological lives in [Eliot's] focus on developments in ballet and modern dance since the eighteenth century. In writing that is clear, accessible, and gently affectionate, this dance historian and former member of the Merce Cunningham Dance Company makes the persuasive argument that a close and careful look at the full lives of past dancers affords a unique view of world history, cultural evolutions, and historical dance events."—Janice Ross, author of Anna Halprin: Experience as Dance
